Boston Trial Lawyer Is Selected To Handle M'Carthy-Army Probe

Gen. Vandenberg's Condition Critical, Air Force Says

WASHINGTON, April 1 (AP)—The condition of Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, former chief of staff of the Air Force, was described tonight as "critical."

The Air Force hhad announced at midday that Vandenberg's condition "has taken a turn for the worse and is failing rapidly."

Vandenberg was admitted to Walter Reed Army Hospital last Oct. 3. He had undergone an abdominal operation in 1952.

The Air Force said Vandenberg's son, Lt. Hoyt Vandenberg Jr., had been returned from overseas. The general's daughter, Mrs. Robert R. Miller, arrived here late this afternoon from her home in Colorado Springs, Colo.

The Air Force has declined to state the nature of the general's illness.

Samuel P. Sears Is Named Counsel

Samuel P. Sears, a Boston trial lawyer who has praised Sen. McCarthy, was picked today as special counsel to handle the long-heralded Senate inquiry into the row between McCarthy and top army officials.

Sen. Mundt (R-SD), acting chairman of the McCarthy Senate subcommittee which will conduct the investigation, announced that Sears was named by unanimous vote of three Republicans and three Democrats on the committee.

Mundt, who will preside at the inquiry because McCarthy has stepped temporarily out of the chairmanship, said he hoped to start the public, televised hearings within 10 days.

Expressed Interest In Past

Sen. Saltonstall (R-Mass) disclosed that Sears had made himself available for the job after it had been turned down as too controversial by the president of the American Bar Assn. Saltonstall, who is chairman of the Armed Services Committee, said he had received a telegram from Sears expressing interest in the post, and had turned it over to Mundt.

All three Democrats on the subcommittee, Sen. McClellan (Ark), Jackson (Wash), and Symington (Mo), expressed surprise at this, saying they had no knowledge when they voted on the appointment that Sears had expressed any interest in getting it. However, they raised no immediate complaint.

Praised McCarthy's Work

After the appointment was announced, dispatches from Boston said Sears praised McCarthy's work two years ago. Newspaper files showed that when McCarthy was re-elected in 1952, Sears said the Wisconsin Republican "has done a great job and he will continue to do so as he drives the 'Pinks and commies' out of government."

Sens. Mundt and McClelland said they questioned whether any statement of that kind Sears made in the past would disqualify him for the inquiry.

But Sen. Jackson (D-Wash), another subcommittee member, said he was reserving judgment, until he gets more facts, on whether Sears' appointment should be reconsidered.

Commenting on the Sears remark of 1952, McClellan said:

"I'd say amen to that. I wouldn,t want any man occupying that position as counsel who didn't feel the pinks and commies should be driven out."

Films Reveal Fury Of First H-Bomb Blast

Now imagine, foaming out of this inferno, a radioactive cloud stem surging 25 miles upward, its "mushroom cap" spreading 100 deadly miles wide, the whole formation suggesting a jagged, unholy travesty of a cross.

This is a hydrogen explosion—far and away the most destructive force ever unleashed by man.

You can see it yourself in movie and still pictures released today by the Federal Civil Defense Administration in accordance with President Eisenhower's declaration to the United Nations last December:

"Clearly, if the people of the world are to conduct an intelligent search for peace, they must be armed with the significant (atomic) facts of today's existence."

Shown in these pictures is the world's first full scale hydrogen explosion—known by the code name "Mike" and set off, in ominous inauguration of an awesome new era, at the Marshall Islands proving ground in the far Pacific in November, 1952.

Equals 5 Million Tons TNT

"Mike" had the destructive power of five million tons of TNT.

Strictly speaking that November 1952 blast was not that of a bomb. It was understood to have been an experimental device so cumbersome that it could be only set up and exploded in place—not carried to a target in a plane. Since then, hower, officials have spoken of the actual development of hydrogen "weapons" which imply something which actually can be used against an enemy.

Following up that first big test, American scientists and military men have set off two more H-blasts in those remote Pacific waters. Each was far more powerful than "Mike." One, touched off March 1, is reported semiffocially to have detonated with almost three times the force of "Mike."

A 28-minute color movie of the "Mike" explosion, shown to newsmen yesterday, didn't by any means show the whole story. Besides, the presentation of the subject wasn't too good and the photography could have been improved.

Test Island Wiped Out

But the impact of the tremendous blast, coupled with the stark statistics of the destruction it wrought, was sobering to say the least. The film shows:

1. The test island of Elugelab—a half mile long, a quarter-mile wide—blown off the face of the earth. In its place, covered by the placid blue Pacific waters, was a crater one mile across—big enough to hold 14 Pentagon buildings. The crater sloped down to a depth of 175 feet. A 17-story building would be covered completely.

2. Complete annihilation within a 3-mile radius; severe to moderate damage as far as 7 miles from the bomb; light damage as far as 10 miles away in each direction.

3. A nuclear explosive fireball wide enough to engulf a quarter of Manhattan island in heat of such incredibly fierce intensity that it would vaporize into radioactive particles anything it touched.

4. A mushroom cloud boiling up to 40,000 feet—the height of 32 Empire State buildings—within two minutes. In 10 more minutes it writhed upward 25 miles—well into the stratosphere.

Navy Fliers Span Nation In Under Four Hours

Lt. Comdr. Francis X. Brady (center), 33, set a new transcontinental speed record yesterday by piloting a Navy jet from San Diego to New York in 3 hours, 45 minutes and 30 seconds. Close behind him in landing at Floyd Bennett Naval Air Station, Brooklyn, was a jet flown by Lt. (jg) John C. Barrow (left), 27, who made the flight in 3 hours and 47 minutes. Lt. Wallace (Bud) Rich (right), 28, was third in the trio to break the record. His time was 3 hours, 48 minutes. The old mark was 4 hours, 8 minutes and 5 seconds. (Story at bottom of page)

Alaska-Hawaii Measure May Lose In House

Attempts To Revise Legislation Batted Down; Vote Is 57-28

WASHINGTON, April 1 (AP)—The Senate today passed a bill to grant statehood to Hawaii and Alaska but the measure may languish in the House. Republican leaders there are receptive to Hawaii but not to Alaska.

The Senate passed the combined bill 57-28 after batting down moves to:

1. Grant the two territories commonwealth status, like Puerto Rico's, instead of full-fledged statehood.

2. Require a referendum in each territory to let the voters choose between commonwealth status and statehood.

The first move was defeated 60-24, the second 59-26. Both were sponsored by opponents of statehood for either territory, led by Sen. Smathers (D-Fla).

Party Lines Split

On final passage, 23 Democrats joined 33 Republicans and 1 independent against 19 Democrats and 9 Republicans. Among the opponents were some Republicans who favored admitting Hawaaii to the union but not Alaska.

Hawaii is normally considered Republican and Alaska Democratic.

GOP leaders in the House were reported determined to prevent Alaska from achieving statehood now, even if it means a delay in admitting Hawaii.

The House passed a Hawaii-only statehood bill last year, as it had on two previous occasions, and that is all that President Eisenhower has asked for. Eisenhower told a news conference in February he did not believe Alaska was ready yet.

Both Or Nothing

It was both or nothing when the Senate reached the voting stage after a month of intermittent debate. Sen. Anderson (D-NM), who helped lead the fight to combine the two measures in the Senate, was asked if he thought Eisenhower held the key to the final outcome.

"All he's got to do," Anderson replied, "is take his foot off Alaska, and this bill will pass."

Sen. Cordon (R-Ore), who managed the bill on the Senate floor, said he would seek the President's support for the twin bill, adding:

"I didn't do all this work for nothing."

Excise Tax Slash, Butter Prop Drop Bring Price Cuts

WASHINGTON, April 1 (AP)—The price of butter dropped abruptly today, and storemen began marking down a host of other items ranging from costume jewelry to mink coats.

Just what effect this would have on buying, it was too soon to tell. But there was no immediate rush of customers to take advantage of price cuts resulting from lower price supports to dairy farmers and lower excise taxes.

Both the price support drop ordered by Secretary of Agriculture Benson—and the excise tax reauctions—voted by Congress to the tune of 999 million dollars—went into effect today.

Butter Drops 5-10 Cents

Butter prices reacted quickest. Almost everywhere in the country they dropped from five to 10 cents a pound—in some places even more.

In Kansas City the price dropped generally from 75 to 67 cents a pound, with some brands selling as low as 59. In Louisville, Ky., it went as low as 55 cents. One Baltimore food chain predicted 53-cent butter—a drop of 14 cents—in a day or two.

One of the few cities to report immediate consumer reaction was Richmond, where butter sales were reported picking up "moderately" at prices between 63 and 69 cents—an overnight cut of 10 cents.

Milk Prices Decline

Milk prices fell, too, in some places. They were down a cent or two a quart throughout Ohio, for instance. Cheese prices have been edging down slowly, and many retailers—in the Middle West especially—reported more sales as a result.

Dairy farmers generally were jittery over the outcome of Benson's cut in price supports—from 90 to 75 per cent of parity. Many were uncertain whether they faced a sizable slash in their income or whether—as Benson has forecast—sales will be higher and their long-term position more secure.

Blast In Indian Rail Car Kills 31 Persons

NEW DELHI, India, April 1 (AP)—A mysterious explosion of 1,500 sticks of gelignite being carried in a third class railway coach killed 31 persons and injured 32 others near Gorakphur in northeast India today.

A Central Railway Board spokesman who gave out the casualty figures denied earlier reports that a bomb had caused the blast.

Members of Parliament demanded to know why the gelignite—a gelatin form of dynamite—had been placed in a passenger compartment. The spokesman said he had no explanation.

Reds Apparently Block Armistice Violation Checks

SEOUL, Friday, April 2 (AP)—Despite a "gentleman's agreement" not to talk about it, support was found here today for Secretary of State Dulles' charge that the Communists are blocking adequate, on-the-spot checks in North Korea of reported armistice violations.

The record shows growing conflict since last September within the four-nation Neutral Nations Supervisory Commission bossing this job.

Sweden, Switzerland and Communist Poland and Czechoslovakia man the NNSC and also the 10 inspection teams set up to check all reports of violations.

Poland, Czechs Back Reds

Without a single exception the records show Poland and Czechoslovakia have sided with the Communists. Swedish and Swiss members on the other hand, sometimes uphold Red claims.

In a Far Eastern policy speech Monday in New York, Dulles said the U. N. Command had reported 40 Communist violations of the armistice and added:

"That only tells part of the story, for the basic violation is that the Swedish and Swiss members of the supervisory commission are denied an adequate opportunity to supervise the north and to detect Communist violations."

"Gentlemen's Agreement"

When asked about Dulles' statement, a spokesman for Swedish members of the neutral nations' truce inspection teams told this correspondent "There is a gentleman's agreement among members of the supervisory commissions to grant no individual interviews concerning the problems of the commission."

Previously, however, some members of the teams complained privately that their movements were strictly limited by the Reds in North Korea.

Rear Adm. Hesser Dies

WASHINGTON, April 1 (AP)—Rear Adm. Frederic W. Hesser, 49, Asst. chief of the Navy's Bureau of Supplies and Accounts, died today at Bethesda, Md., Naval Hospital. He has been a patient there for several weeks with a heart ailment.

Air Academy Bill Signed By President

WASHINGTON, April 1 (AP) — An Air Force academy, similar to the Navy's at Annapolis and the Army's at West Point, will be set up under a bill signed today by President Eisenhower.

Members of Congress and top officials of the Air Force saw the President put his name on the bill. It authorizes the spending of 126 million dollars for the new academy.

Just where it will be located hasn't been decided.

Ike, Mamie To Spend Weekend At Thurmont

WASHINGTON, April 1 (AP)—President and Mrs. Eisenhower probably will spend the weekend at Camp David, their mountain retreat at Thurmont, Md., 60 miles north of here.

Announcing this today, the White House said the President will make a final decision tomorrow.

ILA's Offer To Call Off Walkout Turned Down

NEW YORK, April 1 (AP) — The old International Longshoremen's Assn. (ind.) tonight demanded a waterfront amnesty as its price for ending the longest dock strike in New York's history. The union was promptly turned down.

The ILA promised to recommend an end to the crippling 28-day strike if a bistate Waterfront Commission restores working privileges to about 65 blackballed ILA men.

The commission's executive director, Lawrence E. Walsh, lost no time in flatly rejecting such a deal. Said Walsh in a statement:

"The Waterfront Commission will give no consideration to the conditions so brazenly advanced. . . . The action of the commission will not be affected in the slightest by any threat to strike or to continue a strike. . . . The commission will make no compromise with lawlessness."

Work Permits Taken Away

The work passes of the ILA men were taken away since the strike began, presumably for violence or other misbehavior.

However, the ILA charged some work permits were lifted for no reason at all.

If the passes are returned, ILA Executive Vice President Patrick J. Connolly said, the union would be "willing to recommend" a return to work.

Connolly talked to reporters after an emergency meeting to discuss a government order that the ILA end its strike at once, or risk slow death as a labor union.

He called the government mandate "legal blackmail."

NLRB Orders New Election

The tough ultimatum came from the National Labor Relations Board as it ordered a new election to select a bargaining agent for New York's 24,000 longshoremen.

The NLRB said the ILA will be ruled off the new ballot unless it ends its multimillion dollar strike "forthwith." The ILA, fighting for life, must win the new election to bargain with shippers. If it loses to a rival AFL union, its days probably will be numbered.

It was this very demand for bargaining rights which sparked the current ILA strike—longest in the port's history. The walkout began March 5.

Teacher Forces Children To Crawl Across Hot Asphalt

RUSKIN, Fla., April 1 (AP) — Hillsborough County school authorities today suspended a rural school teacher after irate parents charged he punished 14 children by making them crawl across a hot asphalt basketball court in the middle of the day.

The parents charged at a protest meeting at the Ruskin Elementary School that Carroll Eugene Fogal, 27-year-old mathematics teacher, made their children crawl on the hot asphalt court because they "broke out of line" at the school lunchroom.

They accused him of instructing four school patrol members to have 14 students from the fifth through the seventh grades take the punishment.

Britain Rejects Soviet NATO Bid

LONDON, April 1 (AP)—Britain today rebuffed Russia's bid to join the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. She also brushed aside Kremlin claims that Red China will attend the Geneva conference on a par with the Big Four.

Echoing U. S. opposition, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden declared Britain cannot agree to replace NATO "for the sake of new arrangements in conditions as they are today."

"NATO was the answer to Soviet policy and not the cause of it," Eden told the House of Commons, adding that the organization was formed to serve as a bulwark against "overwhelming Soviet strength."

"In these circumstances," he said, "Soviet membership in NATO would not of itself be a sufficient assurance to members of that organization.

Declaring NATO was founded on principles of individual liberty, Eden questioned whether Russia was ready to "practice these requirements of membership."

Jack Lait, 71, Editor Of N. Y. Mirror, Dies

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., April 1 (AP)—Jack Lait, 71, editor of the New York Daily and Sunday Mirror and reporter and executive of Hearst newspapers for more than half a century, died at his home here today after a lengthy illness.

He entered Cedars of Lebanon Hospital last Dec. 7 after suffering a stroke but returned home later. Previously he had been confined for more than a year with a circulatory ailment.

One of the most prolific writers on United States newspapers, Lait first became prominent as a police reporter in the early 1900s. Later he covered major stories ranging from sports events to political conventions and international peace conferences.

French Beat Off New Red Attacks On Dien Bien Phu

HANOI, Indochina, April 1 (AP)—The French High Command announced tonight that French Union troops defending Dien Bien Phu had beaten off another series of heavy Communist-led attacks against the eastern side of the dust bowl fortress.

Another general mass assault was expected yet tonight against the fortress, whose outer defenses were shrinking but whose heart and main arteries were intact.

Bugle-blowing and screaming thousands of the Communist-led Vietminh had failed to force a break-through into the center of the bastion, and the French spearheaded a half-dozen tank led counterattacks since last midnight.

Savage Fighting

The last 48 hours have been ripped by thousands of shells exchanged by opposing artillery, tons of firebombs and high explosives dropped by the French air force flying American-built planes, and bitter hand-to-hand combat.

There was no immediate announcement of casualties on either side in the latest fighting, but early in the afternoon the French estimated this battle for the strategic plain 175 miles west of Hanoi had cost the Vietminh 2,000 dead.

Many of the enemy dead were strung on barbed wire in front of the French positions where automatic arms cut down Ho Chi Minh's soldiers as they rushed forward in mass charges.

Reinforcement Problem

(The French News Agency reported to Paris that Col. Christian de Castries, the garrison commander, had appealed for reinforcements, but had sent word he believed the French could hold on despite the fact he is greatly outnumbered.

(The French, the agency said, were accomplishing "the impossible" in sending both men and munitions into the beleaguered fort. Vietminh antiaircraft fire, the report said, was making it increasingly difficult to parachute men and supplies at low enough altitude so that they were not carried by the winds outside the drop areas.

LONDON, April 1 (AP)—Hamilton Kennedy, collaborator-composer of about 200 songs—among them "Underneath the Spreading Chestnut Tree"—died today in Middlesex Hospital. He was 42.

Ferguson Denies Air Buildup Lag

WASHINGTON, April 1 (AP) — Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich) said today the Eisenhower administration is nearly a year ahead of its air power goals, with 80 per cent of the Air Force combat wings now jet-equipped.

Ferguson took the Senate floor late in the day for an angry, point-by-point rebuttal of sharp criticism of the military "new look" by Sen. Symington (D-Mo) earlier this week.

Symington and other Democrats contended that the Republican administration had caused a two-year delay in building up air power by cutting Air Force funds five billion dollars last year.

Ferguson heatedly denied this today and said Symington, former secretary of the Air Force during the Truman administration, had used "misleading and incorrect" figures and false assumptions.

Navy Jet Pilots First To Span U. S. In Less Than Four Hours

NEW YORK, April 1 (AP) — The United States was spanned by man in less than four hours for the first time today by three Navy jet pilots on flights from San Diego to New York.

A new mark of 3 hours, 45 minutes and 30 seconds was set by Lt. Cmdr. Francis X. Brady, 33, of Virginia Beach, Va., flying one of three Grummann F-9-F Cougars.

The old mark was 4 hours, 8 minutes and 5 seconds, from Los Angeles to New York, a distance of 2,457 miles. The San Diego-New York flight is 2,438 miles.

Lt. (jg) John C. Barrow, 27, also of Virginia Beach, made his hop today in 3 hours, 47 minutes, and Lt. Wallace (Bud) Rich, 28, of Palo Alto, Calif., did it in 3 hours, 48 minutes.

The three Navy men, all attached to Navy Flight Squadron 21 at Norfolk, Va., took off at one hour intervals, Brady first, followed by Rich and then Barrow.

They made the flight non-stop, but were refueled by tanker plane near the Hutchinson, Kan., Naval Air Station. They landed at Floyd Bennett Naval Air Station, Brooklyn.

"It was a perfect flight and the weather was excellent," Brady commented.

The Navy said the flight was part of routine training with no intention of trying for a speed record. No timer from the National Aeronautics Assn. was on hand to record the marks for the record book.

When Brady landed, a Navy spokesman said:

Government Gives Inside Dope On How To Use Broom

WASHINGTON, April 1 (AP)—A good sweeper, the Veterans Administration said today, begins with his feet a foot apart, takes a rhythmic grip on the broom handle, and follows through with a long, easy, 6-foot stroke.

With such a scientific approach, the VA said, there's no reason why he can't sweep 20,000 square feet a day, an area roughly equal to 60 average sized living rooms.

If there are obstructions—that's what the VA calls furniture—the broom wielder will be slowed to a rate of 45 living rooms a day.

This information is included in a series of four cartoon books by which the VA hopes to give its employes the latest lowdown on how to sweep, dust, mop and wax its 9,600 hospital buildings.

Fascinating reading it is, too, keeping up with the four star characters: Moppy, Dusty, Sweepy and Waxey.

Take Sweepy, which has this subtitle: "A Message of Sweeping Importance to a Member of The VA Housekeeping Service."

It begins with: "This is Sweepy, not Sleepy. His studies have educated him in the importance of the CLEAN SWEEP."

There are 26 pages of instruction, interspersed with such pep talks as: "Sweepy will have none of this dirty floor. HE makes his brush dance over the floor."

A complicated diagram shows how to sweep a room. You begin in one corner, work across, then work back again, always using those long, rhythmical strokes that make a room tidy quickly.

Zsa Zsa Divorces Sanders; Weeps, Says She Loves Him

SANTA MONICA, Calif., April 1 (AP)—It took Zsa Zsa Gabor six minutes and a bucketful of tears to get a divorce from George Sanders, the suave movie heavy she says she still loves.

She testified that Sanders is "a born bachelor. He didn't want to be married although I know he loved me very much, too."

The divorce probably could have set a new local record for speed had not Zsa Zsa taken so much time with the tears.

She even cried when photographers asked her to pose before court convened. Several times her tears held up Atty. Jerry Giesler's questioning. She sobbed as she said that for her, Sanders was an expensive luxury.

"I gave up a $25,000 a year income when I married him," she testified. That was alimony from hotelman Conrad Hilton, her second of three husbands. Her first was Turhan Belge, Turkish diplomat.

Even her chic, black outfit was in tune with the tears.

"I am a little bit in mourning," she told a reporter. "You know how much I really love George, dollink."

She said that Sanders so loved his independence that he kept a separate apartment all through their four years of marriage.

"It made me so nervous and upset that if I hadn't been working, I would hve died," she sobbed.

The couple married April 2, 1949. There is no community property.

Sanders, who had filed the original divorce action, was not in court and did not contest the action.

Strictly speaking that November 1952 blast was not that of a bomb. It was understood to have been an experimental device so cumbersome that it could be only set up and exploded in place—not carried to a target in a plane. Since then, hower, officials have spoken of the actual development of hydrogen "weapons" which imply something which actually can be used against an enemy.

Following up that first big test, American scientists and military men have set off two more H-blasts in those remote Pacific waters. Each was far more powerful than "Mike." One, touched off March 1, is reported semiffocially to have detonated with almost three times the force of "Mike."

A 28-minute color movie of the "Mike" explosion, shown to newsmen yesterday, didn't by any means show the whole story. Besides, the presentation of the subject wasn't too good and the photography could have been improved.

Test Island Wiped Out

But the impact of the tremendous blast, coupled with the stark statistics of the destruction it wrought, was sobering to say the least. The film shows:

1. The test island of Elugelab—a half mile long, a quarter-mile wide—blown off the face of the earth. In its place, covered by the placid blue Pacific waters, was a crater one mile across—big enough to hold 14 Pentagon buildings. The crater sloped down to a depth of 175 feet. A 17-story building would be covered completely.

2. Complete annihilation within a 3-mile radius; severe to moderate damage as far as 7 miles from the bomb; light damage as far as 10 miles away in each direction.

3. A nuclear explosive fireball wide enough to engulf a quarter of Manhattan island in heat of such incredibly fierce intensity that it would vaporize into radioactive particles anything it touched.

4. A mushroom cloud boiling up to 40,000 feet—the height of 32 Empire State buildings—within two minutes. In 10 more minutes it writhed upward 25 miles—well into the stratosphere.

Navy Fliers Span Nation In Under Four Hours

Lt. Comdr. Francis X. Brady (center), 33, set a new transcontinental speed record yesterday by piloting a Navy jet from San Diego to New York in 3 hours, 45 minutes and 30 seconds. Close behind him in landing at Floyd Bennett Naval Air Station, Brooklyn, was a jet flown by Lt. (jg) John C. Barrow (left), 27, who made the flight in 3 hours and 47 minutes. Lt. Wallace (Bud) Rich (right), 28, was third in the trio to break the record. His time was 3 hours, 48 minutes. The old mark was 4 hours, 8 minutes and 5 seconds. (Story at bottom of page)

Reds Apparently Block Armistice Violation Checks

SEOUL, Friday, April 2 (AP)—Despite a "gentleman's agreement" not to talk about it, support was found here today for Secretary of State Dulles' charge that the Communists are blocking adequate, on-the-spot checks in North Korea of reported armistice violations.

The record shows growing conflict since last September within the four-nation Neutral Nations Supervisory Commission bossing this job.

Sweden, Switzerland and Communist Poland and Czechoslovakia man the NNSC and also the 10 inspection teams set up to check all reports of violations.

Poland, Czechs Back Reds

Without a single exception the records show Poland and Czechoslovakia have sided with the Communists. Swedish and Swiss members on the other hand, sometimes uphold Red claims.

In a Far Eastern policy speech Monday in New York, Dulles said the U. N. Command had reported 40 Communist violations of the armistice and added:

"That only tells part of the story, for the basic violation is that the Swedish and Swiss members of the supervisory commission are denied an adequate opportunity to supervise the north and to detect Communist violations."

"Gentlemen's Agreement"

When asked about Dulles' statement, a spokesman for Swedish members of the neutral nations' truce inspection teams told this correspondent "There is a gentleman's agreement among members of the supervisory commissions to grant no individual interviews concerning the problems of the commission."

Previously, however, some members of the teams complained privately that their movements were strictly limited by the Reds in North Korea.

Rear Adm. Hesser Dies

WASHINGTON, April 1 (AP)—Rear Adm. Frederic W. Hesser, 49, Asst. chief of the Navy's Bureau of Supplies and Accounts, died today at Bethesda, Md., Naval Hospital. He has been a patient there for several weeks with a heart ailment.

Navy Jet Pilots First To Span U. S. In Less Than Four Hours

NEW YORK, April 1 (AP) — The United States was spanned by man in less than four hours for the first time today by three Navy jet pilots on flights from San Diego to New York.

A new mark of 3 hours, 45 minutes and 30 seconds was set by Lt. Cmdr. Francis X. Brady, 33, of Virginia Beach, Va., flying one of three Grummann F-9-F Cougars.

The old mark was 4 hours, 8 minutes and 5 seconds, from Los Angeles to New York, a distance of 2,457 miles. The San Diego-New York flight is 2,438 miles.

Lt. (jg) John C. Barrow, 27, also of Virginia Beach, made his hop today in 3 hours, 47 minutes, and Lt. Wallace (Bud) Rich, 28, of Palo Alto, Calif., did it in 3 hours, 48 minutes.

The three Navy men, all attached to Navy Flight Squadron 21 at Norfolk, Va., took off at one hour intervals, Brady first, followed by Rich and then Barrow.

They made the flight non-stop, but were refueled by tanker plane near the Hutchinson, Kan., Naval Air Station. They landed at Floyd Bennett Naval Air Station, Brooklyn.

"It was a perfect flight and the weather was excellent," Brady commented.

The Navy said the flight was part of routine training with no intention of trying for a speed record. No timer from the National Aeronautics Assn. was on hand to record the marks for the record book.

When Brady landed, a Navy spokesman said:

ILA's Offer To Call Off Walkout Turned Down

NEW YORK, April 1 (AP) — The old International Longshoremen's Assn. (ind.) tonight demanded a waterfront amnesty as its price for ending the longest dock strike in New York's history. The union was promptly turned down.

The ILA promised to recommend an end to the crippling 28-day strike if a bistate Waterfront Commission restores working privileges to about 65 blackballed ILA men.

The commission's executive director, Lawrence E. Walsh, lost no time in flatly rejecting such a deal. Said Walsh in a statement:

"The Waterfront Commission will give no consideration to the conditions so brazenly advanced. . . . The action of the commission will not be affected in the slightest by any threat to strike or to continue a strike. . . . The commission will make no compromise with lawlessness."

Work Permits Taken Away

The work passes of the ILA men were taken away since the strike began, presumably for violence or other misbehavior.

However, the ILA charged some work permits were lifted for no reason at all.

If the passes are returned, ILA Executive Vice President Patrick J. Connolly said, the union would be "willing to recommend" a return to work.

Connolly talked to reporters after an emergency meeting to discuss a government order that the ILA end its strike at once, or risk slow death as a labor union.

He called the government mandate "legal blackmail."

NLRB Orders New Election

The tough ultimatum came from the National Labor Relations Board as it ordered a new election to select a bargaining agent for New York's 24,000 longshoremen.

The NLRB said the ILA will be ruled off the new ballot unless it ends its multimillion dollar strike "forthwith." The ILA, fighting for life, must win the new election to bargain with shippers. If it loses to a rival AFL union, its days probably will be numbered.

It was this very demand for bargaining rights which sparked the current ILA strike—longest in the port's history. The walkout began March 5.

Teacher Forces Children To Crawl Across Hot Asphalt

RUSKIN, Fla., April 1 (AP) — Hillsborough County school authorities today suspended a rural school teacher after irate parents charged he punished 14 children by making them crawl across a hot asphalt basketball court in the middle of the day.

The parents charged at a protest meeting at the Ruskin Elementary School that Carroll Eugene Fogal, 27-year-old mathematics teacher, made their children crawl on the hot asphalt court because they "broke out of line" at the school lunchroom.

They accused him of instructing four school patrol members to have 14 students from the fifth through the seventh grades take the punishment.

Britain Rejects Soviet NATO Bid

LONDON, April 1 (AP)—Britain today rebuffed Russia's bid to join the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. She also brushed aside Kremlin claims that Red China will attend the Geneva conference on a par with the Big Four.

Echoing U. S. opposition, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden declared Britain cannot agree to replace NATO "for the sake of new arrangements in conditions as they are today."

"NATO was the answer to Soviet policy and not the cause of it," Eden told the House of Commons, adding that the organization was formed to serve as a bulwark against "overwhelming Soviet strength."

"In these circumstances," he said, "Soviet membership in NATO would not of itself be a sufficient assurance to members of that organization.

Declaring NATO was founded on principles of individual liberty, Eden questioned whether Russia was ready to "practice these requirements of membership."

Jack Lait, 71, Editor Of N. Y. Mirror, Dies

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., April 1 (AP)—Jack Lait, 71, editor of the New York Daily and Sunday Mirror and reporter and executive of Hearst newspapers for more than half a century, died at his home here today after a lengthy illness.

He entered Cedars of Lebanon Hospital last Dec. 7 after suffering a stroke but returned home later. Previously he had been confined for more than a year with a circulatory ailment.

One of the most prolific writers on United States newspapers, Lait first became prominent as a police reporter in the early 1900s. Later he covered major stories ranging from sports events to political conventions and international peace conferences.

French Beat Off New Red Attacks On Dien Bien Phu

HANOI, Indochina, April 1 (AP)—The French High Command announced tonight that French Union troops defending Dien Bien Phu had beaten off another series of heavy Communist-led attacks against the eastern side of the dust bowl fortress.

Another general mass assault was expected yet tonight against the fortress, whose outer defenses were shrinking but whose heart and main arteries were intact.

Bugle-blowing and screaming thousands of the Communist-led Vietminh had failed to force a break-through into the center of the bastion, and the French spearheaded a half-dozen tank led counterattacks since last midnight.

Savage Fighting

The last 48 hours have been ripped by thousands of shells exchanged by opposing artillery, tons of firebombs and high explosives dropped by the French air force flying American-built planes, and bitter hand-to-hand combat.

There was no immediate announcement of casualties on either side in the latest fighting, but early in the afternoon the French estimated this battle for the strategic plain 175 miles west of Hanoi had cost the Vietminh 2,000 dead.

Many of the enemy dead were strung on barbed wire in front of the French positions where automatic arms cut down Ho Chi Minh's soldiers as they rushed forward in mass charges.

Reinforcement Problem

(The French News Agency reported to Paris that Col. Christian de Castries, the garrison commander, had appealed for reinforcements, but had sent word he believed the French could hold on despite the fact he is greatly outnumbered.

(The French, the agency said, were accomplishing "the impossible" in sending both men and munitions into the beleaguered fort. Vietminh antiaircraft fire, the report said, was making it increasingly difficult to parachute men and supplies at low enough altitude so that they were not carried by the winds outside the drop areas.

Composer Dies

LONDON, April 1 (AP)—Hamilton Kennedy, collaborator-composer of about 200 songs—among them "Underneath the Spreading Chestnut Tree"—died today in Middlesex Hospital. He was 42.

Alaska-Hawaii Measure May Lose In House

Attempts To Revise Legislation Batted Down; Vote Is 57-28

WASHINGTON, April 1 (AP)—The Senate today passed a bill to grant statehood to Hawaii and Alaska but the measure may languish in the House. Republican leaders there are receptive to Hawaii but not to Alaska.

The Senate passed the combined bill 57-28 after batting down moves to:

1. Grant the two territories commonwealth status, like Puerto Rico's, instead of full-fledged statehood.

2. Require a referendum in each territory to let the voters choose between commonwealth status and statehood.

The first move was defeated 60-24, the second 59-26. Both were sponsored by opponents of statehood for either territory, led by Sen. Smathers (D-Fla).

Party Lines Split

On final passage, 23 Democrats joined 33 Republicans and 1 independent against 19 Democrats and 9 Republicans. Among the opponents were some Republicans who favored admitting Hawaaii to the union but not Alaska.

Hawaii is normally considered Republican and Alaska Democratic.

GOP leaders in the House were reported determined to prevent Alaska from achieving statehood now, even if it means a delay in admitting Hawaii.

The House passed a Hawaii-only statehood bill last year, as it had on two previous occasions, and that is all that President Eisenhower has asked for. Eisenhower told a news conference in February he did not believe Alaska was ready yet.

Both Or Nothing

It was both or nothing when the Senate reached the voting stage after a month of intermittent debate. Sen. Anderson (D-NM), who helped lead the fight to combine the two measures in the Senate, was asked if he thought Eisenhower held the key to the final outcome.

"All he's got to do," Anderson replied, "is take his foot off Alaska, and this bill will pass."

Sen. Cordon (R-Ore), who managed the bill on the Senate floor, said he would seek the President's support for the twin bill, adding:

"I didn't do all this work for nothing."

Ferguson Denies Air Buildup Lag

WASHINGTON, April 1 (AP) — Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich) said today the Eisenhower administration is nearly a year ahead of its air power goals, with 80 per cent of the Air Force combat wings now jet-equipped.

Ferguson took the Senate floor late in the day for an angry, point-by-point rebuttal of sharp criticism of the military "new look" by Sen. Symington (D-Mo) earlier this week.

Symington and other Democrats contended that the Republican administration had caused a two-year delay in building up air power by cutting Air Force funds five billion dollars last year.

Ferguson heatedly denied this today and said Symington, former secretary of the Air Force during the Truman administration, had used "misleading and incorrect" figures and false assumptions.

Government Gives Inside Dope On How To Use Broom

WASHINGTON, April 1 (AP)—A good sweeper, the Veterans Administration said today, begins with his feet a foot apart, takes a rhythmic grip on the broom handle, and follows through with a long, easy, 6-foot stroke.

With such a scientific approach, the VA said, there's no reason why he can't sweep 20,000 square feet a day, an area roughly equal to 60 average sized living rooms.

If there are obstructions—that's what the VA calls furniture—the broom wielder will be slowed to a rate of 45 living rooms a day.

This information is included in a series of four cartoon books by which the VA hopes to give its employes the latest lowdown on how to sweep, dust, mop and wax its 9,600 hospital buildings.

Fascinating reading it is, too, keeping up with the four star characters: Moppy, Dusty, Sweepy and Waxey.

Take Sweepy, which has this subtitle: "A Message of Sweeping Importance to a Member of The VA Housekeeping Service."

It begins with: "This is Sweepy, not Sleepy. His studies have educated him in the importance of the CLEAN SWEEP."

There are 26 pages of instruction, interspersed with such pep talks as: "Sweepy will have none of this dirty floor. HE makes his brush dance over the floor."

A complicated diagram shows how to sweep a room. You begin in one corner, work across, then work back again, always using those long, rhythmical strokes that make a room tidy quickly.

Zsa Zsa Divorces Sanders; Weeps, Says She Loves Him

SANTA MONICA, Calif., April 1 (AP)—It took Zsa Zsa Gabor six minutes and a bucketful of tears to get a divorce from George Sanders, the suave movie heavy she says she still loves.

She testified that Sanders is "a born bachelor. He didn't want to be married although I know he loved me very much, too."

The divorce probably could have set a new local record for speed had not Zsa Zsa taken so much time with the tears.

She even cried when photographers asked her to pose before court convened. Several times her tears held up Atty. Jerry Giesler's questioning. She sobbed as she said that for her, Sanders was an expensive luxury.

"I gave up a $25,000 a year income when I married him," she testified. That was alimony from hotelman Conrad Hilton, her second of three husbands. Her first was Turhan Belge, Turkish diplomat.

Even her chic, black outfit was in tune with the tears.

"I am a little bit in mourning," she told a reporter. "You know how much I really love George, dollink."

She said that Sanders so loved his independence that he kept a separate apartment all through their four years of marriage.

"It made me so nervous and upset that if I hadn't been working, I would hve died," she sobbed.

The couple married April 2, 1949. There is no community property.

Sanders, who had filed the original divorce action, was not in court and did not contest the action.

U. S. Agencies Seek Tighter Security Law

Sabotage Threat Worries Brownell

WASHINGTON, April 1 (AP) — Broader and tighter measures against civilian saboteurs and military security risks were urged on Congress today by the two government agencies most vitally concerned:

1. Atty. Gen. Brownell asked that the internal security laws be modernized to cover the possibilities of sabotage through radioactive, biological or chemical means.

2. Asst. Secretary of Defense John A. Hannah told the Senate Armed Serviees Committee that a Pentagon committee is drafting a new plan for promptly ridding the military services of "security risks." He asked meantime for a change in the rules on drafting doctors and dentists whose loyalty is open to question.

Brownell said he had submitted a proposed bill to Vice President Nixon and House Speaker Martin "because of the possibilities" of new kinds of scientific sabotage.

"It is a part of the program developed by the Justice Department and the National Security Council to modernize our laws affecting national security," he said, adding that it was not prompted by any specific threat.

To meet the potential danger of sabotage by radioactive, biological or chemical materials, Brownell proposed that the definitions of "war materials or premises" requiring protection be broadened to include, air, water, air conditioning systems, air fields, air lanes, forage, forest products and standing timber.

Under his proposed revisions, the sabotage laws would be made to apply to anyone who "contaminates or infects" war materials, as well as those who wilfully injure or destroy such materials by other means.

Striking Bakers Modify Demands

BALTIMORE, April 1 (AP)—Striking AFL bakers modified their wage demands slightly today in an effort to end a 15-day-old walkout against A. & P. Food Stores, Inc., but the company held to its original offer and negotiations were recessed indefinitely.

E. H. Erhlich, one of three federal mediators who have been meeting daily this week with the company and representatives of the AFL Bakers and Confectioners Union, said no date had been set for resuming talks.

The strike has closed 113 A. & P. stores in Washington, Baltimore, Maryland, Delaware and parts of Pennsylvania, Virginia and West Virginia.

The bakers, who earn between $1.50 and $1.65 an hour, originally asked for a 15-cent hourly raise but later scaled it down to 12½ cents. The company has offered 10 cents more an hour.

Erhlich said the union today proposed a 15-month contract, retroactive to Jan. 1 and running until March 31, 1955, with a wage increase of 10 cents an hour for the first three months of this year and an additional 2½ cents for the remaining 12 months of the contract.

Anne Arundel State Senate Fight Certain

ANNAPOLIS, April 1 (AP)—Anne Arundel County's perennial Democratic enemies squared off against each other today, promising a hammer and tongs battle for the state senate.

Sen. Louis N. Phipps, Annapolis auto dealer, made fireworks certain. He announced he would seek re-election instead of running for Congress.

Wilbur R. Dulin, former two-term senator, already had filed for his old seat in the General Assembly.

Phipps' announcement eliminated chances for a repeat of his 1952 scrap with Del. Richard E. Lankford of Annapolis for the 5th District congressional nomination. Lankford, who won the primary but then lost to Republican Rep. Frank Small Jr., filed again last November.

Arabs Ask U. N. Council Take Up Israeli Raid

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. April 1 (AP)—The Arabs tonight demanded an urgent meeting of the U. N. Security Council to take up the Israeli raid on the Jordan village of Nahalin where nine Arabs were killed last Friday.

The demand was made in a letter from the Lebanese delegation to Soviet Delegate Andrei Y. Vishinsky, president of the Council for April. It was signed by Edward A. Rizk, alternate delegate of Lebanon.

Ike Nominates Lawson U. S. Envoy To Israel

WASHINGTON, April 1 (AP) — President Eisenhower today nominated Edward B. Lawson, a career foreign service officer, to be ambassador to Israel.

Selection of Lawson, now minister to Iceland, came at the height of a new dispute between Israel and the Arabian nations.

Ike, "Babe" Team Up To Open Drive For Cancer Funds

WASHINGTON, April 1 (AP) — President Eisenhower and Babe Didrikson Zaharias teamed up tonight to open the 1954 drive for 20 million dollars to fight cancer, and then talked about getting together for a golf match some day.

The famed golfing Babe, who had cancer herself last year, witnessed a White House ceremony in which the President passed radioactive cobalt over a Geiger counter that generated an impulse which was transmitted by wire to Times Square in New York.

In Manhattan, the impulse illuminated a 70-foot red sword of hope, symbol of the American Cancer Society.

Churchill Defends U. S. Troops In Britain

LONDON, April 1 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill said today the stationing of American Air Force units in Britain has given "greater safety and assurance to the free world."

Laborite William Warbey had asked in the House of Commons what would happen to American air bases and supply lines in Britain if the United States became involved in a war in which Britain was neutral. Churchill said the question was too hypothetical to answer.

"Is it hypothetical that the Americans, in their present retaliatory air policy, might drop a bomb somewhere in the Far East which will involve them in a war with Russia and as a result this country might be exposed to mortal peril because of bases in this country which will be the object of hostile attacks?" Warbey asked.

Churchill said he was quite sure all this was considered by the former Labor government when it took the "very daring and exceptional step" of inviting American Air Force units to set up bases in Britain in 1948.

Agreement Is Reached On Site For Hospital

HAGERSTOWN, April 1 (AP)—State officials and Washington County Commissioners generally agreed today on location of a new chronic disease hospital and that excavation should begin by early fall.

It was decided the 3 million dollar, 300-bed hospital which will serve Western Maryland, will be built on the Washington County Home farm, about 100 yards from the present county home.

There was some talk of tearing down the county home which houses 63 patients, but those taking part in the discussions agreed to leave the home standing at least until the chronic disease hospital is completed.

One suggestion was that the home could be remodeled and used to house some of the hospital staff. There is no provision or money in present plans for housing the staff.

Israel Accuses Egyptians Of Firing On Border Patrol

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector, April 1 (AP)—Israel sounded protests today against another Arab neighbor — Egypt. She accused the Egyptians of shooting across the border at an Israeli patrol and charged they were holding an Israeli soldier illegally.

The new protests came as tension remained high along all of Israel's border areas.

In the latest round, an Israeli army spokesman said a patrol was fired on in the Negeb Desert when it approached a group of Egyptian Arabs harvesting crops belonging to an Israeli settlement.

As a result, a complaint was lodged with the Israeli-Egyptian Mixed Armistice Commission. There were no casualties.

The spokesman added that Israel views with "grave concern" Egypt's delay in carrying out the commission's order that it return its Israeli captive.

The commission censured Egypt yesterday for violating the armistice when an Israeli soldier was wounded March 25 and another abducted across the demarcation lines. It gave Egypt until noon today to return the captive.

Egypt contends the soldier was picked up on their side of the line and said they would appeal the decision.

(In Cairo, Col. Mahmoud Ryad, an Egyptian member of the commission, said his governmment had prevailed upon the commission to reconsider the incident.)

The Egyptian armistice agreement has a unique clause, not contained in the Israel agreements with other Arab states. It provides for appeals from commission decisions to a special committee.

The Israelis have objected to Egypt's appeal on grounds that only matters of principle could be appealed, not routine decisions.

House Votes Tentatively To Make Home-Buying Easier

WASHINGTON, April 1 (AP)—The House voted tentatively today to let President Eisenhower make home buying easier than the President himself had proposed.

On a standing 102-93 vote, subject to roll call later, the House adopted an amendment to the President's big housing-slum clearance bill which would permit a down payment of as little as $1,000 on a $12,000 FHA-insured home.

The amendment, offered by Rep. Brownson (R-Ind), would permit correspondingly low down payments on higher priced homes up to $10,000.

It was the first vote on a wide-ranging bill carrying out Eisenhower's proposals for easier terms for buying or improving homes.

Under the bill as brought to the House, the minimum down payment on a home valued by FHA at $12,000 could be reduced from $2,400 to $1,400; at $15,000 from $3,000 to $2,150; and at $20,000, from $4,000 to $3,400.

Under the Brownson amendment, down payments could be lowered still further to $1,000 for a $12,000 house, $1,750 for a $15,000 house, and $3,000 for a $20,000 house.

Churchill Defends U. S. Troops In Britain

LONDON, April 1 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill said today the stationing of American Air Force units in Britain has given "greater safety and assurance to the free world."

Laborite William Warbey had asked in the House of Commons what would happen to American air bases and supply lines in Britain if the United States became involved in a war in which Britain was neutral. Churchill said the question was too hypothetical to answer.

"Is it hypothetical that the Americans, in their present retaliatory air policy, might drop a bomb somewhere in the Far East which will involve them in a war with Russia and as a result this country might be exposed to mortal peril because of bases in this country which will be the object of hostile attacks?" Warbey asked.

Churchill said he was quite sure all this was considered by the former Labor government when it took the "very daring and exceptional step" of inviting American Air Force units to set up bases in Britain in 1948.

Striking Bakers Modify Demands

BALTIMORE, April 1 (AP)—Striking AFL bakers modified their wage demands slightly today in an effort to end a 15-day-old walkout against A. & P. Food Stores, Inc., but the company held to its original offer and negotiations were recessed indefinitely.

E. H. Erhlich, one of three federal mediators who have been meeting daily this week with the company and representatives of the AFL Bakers and Confectioners Union, said no date had been set for resuming talks.

The strike has closed 113 A. & P. stores in Washington, Baltimore, Maryland, Delaware and parts of Pennsylvania, Virginia and West Virginia.

The bakers, who earn between $1.50 and $1.65 an hour, originally asked for a 15-cent hourly raise but later scaled it down to 12½ cents. The company has offered 10 cents more an hour.

Erhlich said the union today proposed a 15-month contract, retroactive to Jan. 1 and running until March 31, 1955, with a wage increase of 10 cents an hour for the first three months of this year and an additional 2½ cents for the remaining 12 months of the contract.

Anne Arundel State Senate Fight Certain

ANNAPOLIS, April 1 (AP)—Anne Arundel County's perennial Democratic enemies squared off against each other today, promising a hammer and tongs battle for the state senate.

Sen. Louis N. Phipps, Annapolis auto dealer, made fireworks certain. He announced he would seek re-election instead of running for Congress.

Wilbur R. Dulin, former two-term senator, already had filed for his old seat in the General Assembly.

Phipps' announcement eliminated chances for a repeat of his 1952 scrap with Del. Richard E. Lankford of Annapolis for the 5th District congressional nomination. Lankford, who won the primary but then lost to Republican Rep. Frank Small Jr., filed again last November.

Arabs Ask U. N. Council Take Up Israeli Raid

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. April 1 (AP)—The Arabs tonight demanded an urgent meeting of the U. N. Security Council to take up the Israeli raid on the Jordan village of Nahalin where nine Arabs were killed last Friday.

The demand was made in a letter from the Lebanese delegation to Soviet Delegate Andrei Y. Vishinsky, president of the Council for April. It was signed by Edward A. Rizk, alternate delegate of Lebanon.

Ike Nominates Lawson U. S. Envoy To Israel

WASHINGTON, April 1 (AP) — President Eisenhower today nominated Edward B. Lawson, a career foreign service officer, to be ambassador to Israel.

Selection of Lawson, now minister to Iceland, came at the height of a new dispute between Israel and the Arabian nations.

Agreement Is Reached On Site For Hospital

HAGERSTOWN, April 1 (AP)—State officials and Washington County Commissioners generally agreed today on location of a new chronic disease hospital and that excavation should begin by early fall.

It was decided the 3 million dollar, 300-bed hospital which will serve Western Maryland, will be built on the Washington County Home farm, about 100 yards from the present county home.

There was some talk of tearing down the county home which houses 63 patients, but those taking part in the discussions agreed to leave the home standing at least until the chronic disease hospital is completed.

One suggestion was that the home could be remodeled and used to house some of the hospital staff. There is no provision or money in present plans for housing the staff.

Israel Accuses Egyptians Of Firing On Border Patrol

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector, April 1 (AP)—Israel sounded protests today against another Arab neighbor — Egypt. She accused the Egyptians of shooting across the border at an Israeli patrol and charged they were holding an Israeli soldier illegally.

The new protests came as tension remained high along all of Israel's border areas.

In the latest round, an Israeli army spokesman said a patrol was fired on in the Negeb Desert when it approached a group of Egyptian Arabs harvesting crops belonging to an Israeli settlement.

As a result, a complaint was lodged with the Israeli-Egyptian Mixed Armistice Commission. There were no casualties.

The spokesman added that Israel views with "grave concern" Egypt's delay in carrying out the commission's order that it return its Israeli captive.

The commission censured Egypt yesterday for violating the armistice when an Israeli soldier was wounded March 25 and another abducted across the demarcation lines. It gave Egypt until noon today to return the captive.

Egypt contends the soldier was picked up on their side of the line and said they would appeal the decision.

(In Cairo, Col. Mahmoud Ryad, an Egyptian member of the commission, said his governmment had prevailed upon the commission to reconsider the incident.)

The Egyptian armistice agreement has a unique clause, not contained in the Israel agreements with other Arab states. It provides for appeals from commission decisions to a special committee.

The Israelis have objected to Egypt's appeal on grounds that only matters of principle could be appealed, not routine decisions.

House Votes Tentatively To Make Home-Buying Easier

WASHINGTON, April 1 (AP)—The House voted tentatively today to let President Eisenhower make home buying easier than the President himself had proposed.

On a standing 102-93 vote, subject to roll call later, the House adopted an amendment to the President's big housing-slum clearance bill which would permit a down payment of as little as $1,000 on a $12,000 FHA-insured home.

The amendment, offered by Rep. Brownson (R-Ind), would permit correspondingly low down payments on higher priced homes up to $10,000.

It was the first vote on a wide-ranging bill carrying out Eisenhower's proposals for easier terms for buying or improving homes.

Under the bill as brought to the House, the minimum down payment on a home valued by FHA at $12,000 could be reduced from $2,400 to $1,400; at $15,000 from $3,000 to $2,150; and at $20,000, from $4,000 to $3,400.

Under the Brownson amendment, down payments could be lowered still further to $1,000 for a $12,000 house, $1,750 for a $15,000 house, and $3,000 for a $20,000 house.

Army Overcoat Money Not Needed, Not Used, Congress Probers Say

WASHINGTON, April 1 (AP) — A congressional group charged yesterday that the Army, with "inexcusable disregard" for tax money, had wheedled 103 million dollars from Congress in four years for "overcoats which it did not need and did not buy."

Now, four years later, the Government Operations subcommittee said, the Army does not know how the money was spent but indications are "very little was returned to the Treasury."

The subcommittee said it was "so disturbed by the findings" of its investigation that it called on the comptroller general and the Pentagon to make sure its accounting system shows whether appropriated funds are being spent the way Congress orders.

The Army, the subcommittee said, concluded a 45 million dollar contract for the new coat, complete with leggings, on June 30, 1946, the last day of the fiscal year, adding the money came from a "World War II revolving fund which would have reverted to the Treasury had it not been used when it was."

At that time, the report added, the Army had a "5-year supply of the World War II overcoats on hand."

The subcommittee said that Army officials simultaneously asked Congress for more than 29 million dollars for the new coat, without mentioning the previous contract, and this led to a total of 103 million dollars which was appropriated.

The overcoat subsequently was taken out of production. After Korean hostilities began, the Army paid 102 million dollars for 3,806,504 new coats, but subcommittee officials said the funds came from other appropriations.

The subcommittee said the Army explained it could not determine how much of the overcoat funds lumped into a general amount for clothing.

Polish Catholic Church Remains Institution Despite Its Domination By Reds

Editor's Note — Frederick Kuh, veteran correspondent of the Chicago Sun-Times, recently spent two weeks in Poland. He traveled freely about the country, seeing many things that diplomats stationed in Warsaw have been unable to observe. This account of the difficulties besetting the Roman Catholic Church in Poland is condensed by the AP from Kuh's articles in the Chicago Sun-Times. Copyright 1954.

By FREDERICK KUH

Poland's Communist government dominates the church more strongly than ever. Yet the Roman Catholic Church remains an institution to which many Poles—9 of 10 are Catholics—turn when they wish to express silent opposition to the regime.

During the weekend of last Sept. 26, some 23 members of the Episcopate were brought to Warsaw. The government informed them that Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski had been deposed as primate of Poland. A militant anti-Communist for 30 years, Cardinal Wyszynski is said to have refused the government's request that he indorse the 12-year sentence imposed on Catholic Bishop Kaczmarek.

The 23 or so members of the hierarchy were asked to sign a statement. Although shocked by this ultimatum, the higher clergy agreed to sponsor the declaration, urging the people to cooperate with the government in the interests of both church and state. Wyszynski was confined in a cloister and the citizens uttered a silent protest by going to church in increased numbers and praying.

The church hierarchy had become prisoner of the state almost four years ago. On April 14, 1950, the Episcopate and the government signed an agreement regulating their relations. The most important article recognized the Pope as supreme head of the church in matters of faith, morality and church jurisdiction "while in all matters the Episcopate will be guided by Polish state interests." Vague wording gave the government an instrument with which it could at will curtail church power.

The government prosecuted a number of Catholic priests, sentenced several to death and condemned others to harsh prison terms. They were accused of trying to bring back the old regime and of having otherwise acted in a manner "contrary to the interests of the state."

Last Dec. 17 the governing committee of the Episcopate, on demand of the Red cabinet, swore an oath of allegiance to the government. It committed the Catholic church in Poland to support the Communist state in internal and foreign policy.

The church's leaders are believed to have surrendered for two reasons—to assure that high offices of the church continue to be held by loyal Catholics, and to assure that the seminaries—schools for training priests—remain open under church control.

The government has not tried to interfere with attendance at churches, which is extremely large, nor with ritual. But charitable work was taken out of the hands of the church. So were orphanages. The government also deprived the hierarchy of its publications. These were delivered to the so-called patriotic wing of the church, consisting mainly of Catholic laity. These "progressives" represent a very small percentage of Catholics.

Some of the devout have been expressing dissatisfaction with the Polish clergy's decision to swear allegiance to the Communist state. There has been a certain popular disillusionment, weakening the church's power.

The fact should be recorded that a number of Catholic clergymen genuinely support the government because they share its fear of revived German power. Other Polish priests hhave acquiesced and sworn allegiance to the state because not all men are born martyrs.

On visits to approximately a dozen churches in several Polish cities, I saw many Polish GIs, noncoms and officers in uniform, kneeling, standing or sitting in pews. At the Church of Our Savior in Warsaw, the big congregation included miners, army officers and preponderantly young people. In the churches I visited I estimated about three-fourths of the worshipers consisted of youth.

The Church of the Vizitek, named after a sect of nuns, is the capital's most fashionable place of worship. Survivors of the upper middle class and aristocracy go there, as do foreign diplomats. The congregation included ladies in expensive furs and men in well-tailored coats with fur collars. In Crakow's Notre Dame Cathedral I saw a miner kneeling, recognizable by his colliery cap. Near him was a young mother with two infants. The church was thronged with worshipers bowed in prayer.

At the Church of Our Savior in Warsaw, the big congregation included miners, army officers and preponderantly young people. In the churches I visited I estimated about three-fourths of the worshipers consisted of youth.

The Church of the Vizitek, named after a sect of nuns, is the capital's most fashionable place of worship. Survivors of the upper middle class and aristocracy go there, as do foreign diplomats. The congregation included ladies in expensive furs and men in well-tailored coats with fur collars. In Crakow's Notre Dame Cathedral I saw a miner kneeling, recognizable by his colliery cap. Near him was a young mother with two infants. The church was thronged with worshipers bowed in prayer.

Nation's Gun Lovers Gloat Over Greatest Collection

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, April 1 (AP) — The nation's gun lovers are in town, shooting the breeze about what they think is the greatest collection of antique firearms ever assembled under one roof.

It's part of the National Rifle Assn. annual meeting, and anyone who drops in on the $1,500,000 exhibit will learn that:

1. A true gun lover can pay—and has—as much as $10,000 for an old pistol.

2. A hunter can pay—and has—as much as $1,700 for a new rifle.

3. There's no limit to man's devilish ingenuity. A Frenchman invented a weapon that was part gun, part dagger, part brass knucks—and wholly reprehensible.

In the first booth of the exhibit Richard Short, a parttime gun dealer, and the Lone Star flag of Texas stood guard over the $10,000 antique.

"The only known cased Walker Colt," Short said, and the small group admiring it maintained a moment of respectful silence.

The gun, a six-shooter of .44 caliber, was sold to a Danish sea captain in 1850, and what makes it valuable is that it's the only one known that came complete with powder flask and a bullet mold in a fancy wooden case.

Moved on down the aisle and met up with Herb Glass of Bullville, N. Y., one of the dozen men in this country who make a living out of peddling old guns. Glass is the hero of the gun dealers right now, for it was he sold Sherrin the $10,000 revolver. "A bargain, too," Glass said. "As a matter of fact, I'd give him $10,000 for it right now."

Glass said it's strange about old guns. Their price depends on their rarity, their condition and the demand for that particular model.

But a gun can be rare, and still be comparatively cheap. Glass picked up the French gun—it's called an Apache pistol—with which an unsqueamish operator can knock a man out with the knucks and then carve him up or drill him full of holes at leisure.

"Only worth around $125," Glass said. One drawback—the dagger.

"Don't know why," Glass said, "but in this country we have an adversion to knives."

Radioactive Snow Falls In Montana

BILLINGS, Mont., April 1 (AP) — A consulting geologist working with a Geiger counter said yesterday radioactive snow has fallen south of Billings.

Chuck Hauptman of Billings, said radiation was measured at about three milliroentgens per hour—about 200 times the amount of ordinary "background" radiation picked up by instruments.

Hauptman said the element of danger in the snow was "practically nil."

Hauptman and a colleague, Donald Todd, said the radioactivity of the snow resulted from a March 1 hydrogen bomb test in the south Pacific.

However, weather forecasters said last Friday's explosion was more likely responsible. They said that at the 100-200 m.p.h. speed attained by upper wind currents, the radioactivity could have moved from the test area north to Alaska, down through Canada and easily reached Billings Sunday.

Three inches of snow fell in this area Saturday and Sunday.

In Cambridge, Mass., scientists at Massachusetts Institute of Technology reported slight signs of radioactivity in the air since March 10. A spokesman said the measurements, noted only in rain, show the "radiation is insignificant as far as health and safety is concerned."

Winterthur Is Open For Tours

Winterthur Museum, Winterthur, Delaware, is now open to the public daily, except Sundays and Mondays, and a few holidays, including May 30. But because of the nature, size and facilities of the museum, visitors are admitted by appointment only and trained guards conduct the groups. Tours begin promptly at 10 a. m. and last until about 4:30 p. m., with an interval for lunch at noon.

Except during May, full-day tours and half-day tours are readily available upon written request. During the month of May only, advance reservations are unnecessary. However, special attention will be given to large groups if arrangements are made in advance. May tours may be arranged by writing the H. F. du Pont Winterthur Museum, Winterthur, Delaware.

Built in 1839 by James Antoine Bidermann, Winterthur was named for his ancestral home in Switzerland. Bidermann had married the great-aunt of Henry Francis du Pont, in 1814, and the house has remained in the family since then. In 1927 du Pont began to build the museum by installing in the family home in the original form, parts of houses collected from New Hampshire to North Carolina, to show Americans, "how Americans really lived, as well as America's rich tradition of craftsmanship in architecture and the household arts."

As he collected and built, the museum remained his home until 1951, although since 1937 the public has been admitted by card.

The museum, in about 100 period rooms, covers the domestic scene from 1640 to 1840. Here are 200 years of domestic architecture, furniture, metalwork, textiles, ceramics, paintings and prints, chosen with regard for their quality and fitness of location. Not only is the principal furniture of the rooms contemporary with the backgrounds, but the carpets and upholstery and window hangings match in date or are earlier. All the curtains are hand-sewn to follow original designs gleaned from old paintings, engravings or sketches. Every known material once used in American homes, whether Italian velvet, Spanish brocatelle, French brocade and damask, English printed cotton or American needlework and linsey-woolsey, is adapted to its former use.

Queen Anne, Chippendale, Federal and Empire periods may be seen in the Baltimore drawing room, Chinese parlor, du Pont dining room, Empire parlor, Marlboro room, Montmorenci staircase and hall, Phyfe room, Port Royal parlor and entrance hall, Readbourne room, Stamper-Blackwell parlor and porch.

The Azalea Gardens of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Francis du Pont are open May 1 to May 29 inclusive from 10 a. m., until 4 p. m., except Sundays and Mondays. The vast naturalized woodland plantings at Winterthur are of many different shades of Kurume, Kaempferi, Magnifica, and other azaleas propagated at Winterthur since 1917. The colors range from white and palest orange to flaming crimson and dark red.

Potomac Valley Kennel Club will have its regular meeting at 8 p. m., April 6 in the Herman room. Dr. C. N. Foose Jr., will speak on "Canine Health."

Bedford Road firemen will sponsor a square dance tomorrow night at the fire hall, from 9 until 12.

Winterthur Is Open For Tours

Winterthur Museum, Winterthur, Delaware, is now open to the public daily, except Sundays and Mondays, and a few holidays, including May 30. But because of the nature, size and facilities of the museum, visitors are admitted by appointment only and trained guards conduct the groups. Tours begin promptly at 10 a. m. and last until about 4:30 p. m., with an interval for lunch at noon.

Except during May, full-day tours and half-day tours are readily available upon written request. During the month of May only, advance reservations are unnecessary. However, special attention will be given to large groups if arrangements are made in advance. May tours may be arranged by writing the H. F. du Pont Winterthur Museum, Winterthur, Delaware.

Built in 1839 by James Antoine Bidermann, Winterthur was named for his ancestral home in Switzerland. Bidermann had married the great-aunt of Henry Francis du Pont, in 1814, and the house has remained in the family since then. In 1927 du Pont began to build the museum by installing in the family home in the original form, parts of houses collected from New Hampshire to North Carolina, to show Americans, "how Americans really lived, as well as America's rich tradition of craftsmanship in architecture and the household arts."

As he collected and built, the museum remained his home until 1951, although since 1937 the public has been admitted by card.

The museum, in about 100 period rooms, covers the domestic scene from 1640 to 1840. Here are 200 years of domestic architecture, furniture, metalwork, textiles, ceramics, paintings and prints, chosen with regard for their quality and fitness of location. Not only is the principal furniture of the rooms contemporary with the backgrounds, but the carpets and upholstery and window hangings match in date or are earlier. All the curtains are hand-sewn to follow original designs gleaned from old paintings, engravings or sketches. Every known material once used in American homes, whether Italian velvet, Spanish brocatelle, French brocade and damask, English printed cotton or American needlework and linsey-woolsey, is adapted to its former use.

Queen Anne, Chippendale, Federal and Empire periods may be seen in the Baltimore drawing room, Chinese parlor, du Pont dining room, Empire parlor, Marlboro room, Montmorenci staircase and hall, Phyfe room, Port Royal parlor and entrance hall, Readbourne room, Stamper-Blackwell parlor and porch.

The Azalea Gardens of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Francis du Pont are open May 1 to May 29 inclusive from 10 a. m., until 4 p. m., except Sundays and Mondays. The vast naturalized woodland plantings at Winterthur are of many different shades of Kurume, Kaempferi, Magnifica, and other azaleas propagated at Winterthur since 1917. The colors range from white and palest orange to flaming crimson and dark red.

Potomac Valley Kennel Club will have its regular meeting at 8 p. m., April 6 in the Herman room. Dr. C. N. Foose Jr., will speak on "Canine Health."

Bedford Road firemen will sponsor a square dance tomorrow night at the fire hall, from 9 until 12.

Pearl Harbor Prober Insists Kimmel 'Guilty'

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla., April 1 (AP)—Col. H. A. Toulmin Jr., who headed the Army Pearl Harbor Board, said yesterday Adm. Husband E. Kimmel "cannot escape the guilt" for our heavy fleet losses in the Japanese attack on Dec. 7, 1941.

Toulmin, in an interview with the Fort Lauderdale Daily News, contradicted the statements of retired Rear Adm. Robert A. Theobald that the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt was to blame for the Hawaiian disaster.

In a book "The Final Secrets of Pearl Harbor," Theobald accused Roosevelt of forcing Japan into war with the United States and of holding the Pacific fleet in Pearl Harbor to lure the Japanese into a surprise attack.

Theobald said the top military command knew two months ahead of time that Japan would attack Pearl Harbor but did not relay this informaton to the military commanders in Hawaii. He said this was on Roosevelt's order.

Toulmin, author of the Pearl Harbor report later adopted by Congress, declared that Theobald's statements had "No foundation in fact."

He said Kimmel received what amounted to a "war warning" as early as Nov. 27—a dispatch notifying him that negotiations with Japan had ceased and an aggressive move was expected, but he took no action.

"Honolulu newspapers," Toulmin added, "carried full reports of conditions demanding an alert a full two weeks before Dec. 7."

"Kimmel's testimony before us (Army Pearl Harbor Board) and the rest of the record show him guilty irrespective of Washington knowledge," Toulmin said.

"Captured documents revealed that Japanese submarines entered Pearl Harbor in daylight at will and circulated in and out without detection for a period of two weeks before Pearl Harbor.

"Kimmel knew the Japanese fleet had gone into radio silence and was on the move. In spite of this, he left his fleet helpless in the harbor, contrary to all military traditions justifying an alert course.

Jack Dempsey's Daughter, College Student To Wed

LOS ANGELES, April 1 (AP)—Jack Dempsey's daughter Barbara, 17, a high school senior, and Jack McMillan, 20, a Los Angeles City College student, obtained a marriage license today.

The ceremony will be Monday in Our Lady of Loretta Catholic church here. Both intend to continue their schooling.

It will be the second marriage in the Dempsey family within a year. Six months ago the heavyweight boxing champ's oldest daughter, Joan, was married in Beverly Hills. Both girls were born to Jack Dempsey and Hannah Williams, former New York stage star.

Apprehension Felt On Farms As Props Drop

MADISON, Wis., April 1 (AP)—There was apprehension today on 155,000 Wisconsin farms as the U.S. Department of Agriculture's order cutting federal support of dairy prices from 90 to 75 per cent of parity went into effect.

The farm people of the nation's leading dairy state didn't know just what to expect.

They feared the worst—a possible cut in their income that might amount, according to some experts, to as much as 95 million dollars annually in their income. And they hoped for the best—a very nominal leveling off of all farm prices that in the long run would benefit them, as promised by Secretary of Agriculture Benson.

The Swiss cheese market was at a standstill at Monroe, where more than 40 million pounds are produced annually. Ordinarily dealers would have been buying January Swiss at this time, but the market was completely dead awaiting developments. Spokesmen for the industry said dealers were waiting until tomorrow to see what happened in the cheddar market.

Elsewhere, there was little outward effect of the order apparent today. Some one draped milk cans with black crepe paper at a Columbus, Wis., dairy co-operative's milk receiving depot. And nearby was a sign which read "Betrayed by Benson"—an obvious reference to Secretary of Agriculture Benson.

Butter and cheese prices have been slipping steadily for a week in anticipation of the support price drop. The reductions ranged from eight to 10 cents per pound for butter, five to eight cents on cheese. Retailers reported cheese buying had been stimulated tremendously as a result. A Marshfield dealer said the butter slash had "slowed down oleomargarine sales to a walk."

Dairying is big business in Wisconsin. It is a business that brings about 500 million dollars annually in gross income to the 155,000 of the state's 220,000 farmers. This is about one-half of the state's agricultural income.

In 1953 the state produced 15,989,000,000 pounds of milk. That is nearly 14 per cent of the nation's total of 120 billion pounds. The state led in production of cheddar cheese and dry milk products and was second in butter. It topped all states in total milk production.

The government will drop its support on manufactured milk products only, which for all practical purposes in Wisconsin, mainly will affect cheese, butter and dry milk solids.

However, the price supports on these products will reflect on all other milk and milk products.

If a producer can't sell all his butter at the price that prevailed before the federal support cut, he has to sell it to the government for 8¼ cents less after today.

Therefore, he can't pay the farmers who bring the milk to make that butter as much as he did previously. He has to cut his price to make up that 8¼ cents.

The same holds true for the producers of cheese and dry milk products.

As a result, the price for milk to farmers must drop. The question is—how much will it drop?

The Wisconsin Creameries' Assn., according to its president, Charles M. De Golier Deerfield, believes the price to Wisconsin farmers will drop on an average of 35 cents per 100 pounds on 3.5 butterfat milk.

State Road Contracts Pass 21 Million Mark

12-Year Program Starting To Roll

By HUELL WARREN

BALTIMORE, April 1 (AP) — The State Roads Commission said today it has topped the $21,332,000 mark in awarding contracts, or at least advertising for bids, on early jobs in Maryland's 12-year, 568-million dollar highway overhaul program.

This represented $9,470,000 worth of work reaching the contract-letting stage since the first of the year.

The rate of progress was well below the level necessary if the commission is to reach its goal of putting 60 million dollars worth of road work under contract in 1954.

Commission personnel were optimistic, however.

"It's beginning to roll along nicely," said David M. Nichols, a commission member, as he studied a chart showing the progress made thus far.

He explained the 9-million dollar figure for the first three months of 1954 was piled up without any of the major projects which the commission hopes to get under contract this year.

In June and July, for example, it hopes to advertise for bids on all the remaining 35½ miles of the new Eastern Shore Expressway from Centreville to Warwick, and that will add almost 10 million to the figures in one push.

The projects so far awarded or advertised include at least one in each of the state's 23 counties and call for the building, re-building, or improving of 270 miles of highways.

Work actually has started on some of them and the dirt should start moving on the others in the next few weeks as soon as the weather opens up completely.

As far as the Roads Commission is concerned, however, the main part of its work on them has now been completed. It has finished the detailed and time-consuming blueprints from which the builders will work and has bought up the property necessary for rights of way.

From that point on most of the work is done by the contractor, with the commission's job limited largely to inspection of the work as it progresses to see it is done right.

While the preparatory work has been going on, the commission and its planning engineers have taken steps to get another 19½ million worth of projects started through the mill.

At the end of 1953 it had designated 148 projects worth a little more than 92 million dollars for the engineers and right-of-way men to work on.

Now the total is 173 projects and 111¾ million.

So the commission now has taken the initial steps on more than half of the 242 million dollars worth of work it is scheduled to get started in the first four years of the 12-year program.

A county-by-county tabulation of the jobs already put under contract or already advertised for bids shows:

Queen Elizabeth Says Farewell To Australia

PERTH, Australia, April 1 (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II—first British ruler ever to visit Australia — wound up her 57-day tour of this "Down Under" land today.

Amid a blaring farewell of sirens and ships' whistles, the royal liner Gothic steamed from Remantle Harbor as the Queen and her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, waved from the top deck.

Thousands of onlookers shouted farewell from the crowded docks, but their voices were drowned out by the roar of Royal Air Force planes which dipped over the Gothic.

Three Killed In Car Crash At Baltimore

BALTIMORE, April 1 (AP) — Two Philadelphia men and one from Baltimore were killed today when a car in which they were riding rammed the back of a parked tractor-trailer truck.

Another Philadelphian was hurt and charged in connection with the crash, which occurred on U.S. Route 1 in East Baltimore about 2 a.m.

The dead, all Negroes, were listed as Joseph R. McKinsey, 28, and Herman cook, 25, both of Philadelphia, and Leon Harris, 23, of Baltimore.

Police said they were riding in a car driven by George Thompson, 33, of Philadelphia, another Negro, who suffered a fractured right arm. He was charged by police with manslaughter, speeding and reckless driving.

The truck driver, Clarence W. Ferguson, of Ridgeway, Va., was not hurt, police said.

Baltimore Port Records Broken

BALTIMORE, April 1 (AP)—Baltimore had the biggest passenger day in its history on the waterfront today and it was also announced ship arrivals for March broke an all-time record.

The Baltimore Maritime Exchange said 580 ships called here last month as compared to 338 in March in last year and 445 in May of last year, the previous monthly record.

Estimates on the amount of diverted cargo handled here since March 5 when New York was tied up with a jurisdictional strike run to about 190,000 tons.

The passenger business centered about the Moore-McCormack liner Brazil taking on 300 passengers and the Holland-American liner Ryndam embarking another 900. Both were due to leave here tonight.

Meanwhile, pier operators got busy to comply with orders from the Coast Guard to clear up possible fire hazards. Damaged fire valves were being repaired and fire lanes, previously clogged with cargo, were cleared.

Capt. Edward W. Holtz, captain of the port, said extra fire guards and patrols were put on duty.

Piracci Is Convicted On Conspiracy Count

BALTIMORE, April 1 (AP) — Contractor Dominic Piracci, convicted early today on one conspiracy count, faces still another.

On Monday he is due to come up on an indictment charging a conspiracy to obstruct justice through alteration of books of the Piracci Construction Co.

A jury of eight men and four women convicted him about 12:30 a.m. today of a charge of conspiring to defraud Baltimore of $43,000 in the building of a parking garage. His firm also was convicted. His attorneys announced an appeal would be made and sentence was deferred.

The jury was out about eight hours.

Piracci was the third individual to come to trial of nine indicted in connection with Baltimore's off-street parking program. Two garage operators also have been convicted on the same fraud-conspiracy charges.

The ancient Greek city state of Sparta issued iron coinage to prevent commercial interests from corrupting its warlike traditions, says the National Geographic Society. The heavy, clumsy money discouraged business transactions.

Demos Hear Byrd Man Instead Of Mahoney

OCEAN CITY, Md., April 1 (AP)—The Young Democrats of Worcester County meet tonight with H. C. Byrd's candidate for attorney general as their featured speaker instead of George P. Mahoney whom they originally invited.

A spokesman for the group said today they learned only yesterday that Mahoney did not intend to come to their banquet-meeting.

C. Ferdinand Sybert, a member of the Byrd ticket, agreed to come when it was learned Mahoney, who is opposing Byrd in the Democratic primary contest for governor, would not be at the meeting.

The county group is a new organization, formed only a few months ago. About 130 tickets have been sold for the dinner at the Paddock Restaurant here.

LITTLE GIRL RESCUED — Little two-year-old Sandra Murray holds tightly to the arm of a fireman as he and another unidentified fireman carry her from her burning home at Chester, Pa. Firemen also rescued Sandra's brothers, Keith, 4, and James, 6 months, from the smoke-filled room at upper left. They said the children's mother was at a store when fire broke out. She collapsed and was treated for shock at the same hospital where the children were treated for smoke inhalation.

Trio Robs Baltimore Branch Bank Of $30,000

BALTIMORE, April 1 (AP)—Three young men with guns robbed a southeast Baltimore branch bank of $30,000 at the peak of late morning business today within minutes after an armored car had left $23,000 at the bank.

About an hour after the holdup, police picked up three men in East Baltimore and took them to headquarters where they were questioned and later released.

Mrs. Sarah Gerahan, an employe of the Provident Savings Bank branch office, had just taken money left by a Brinks armored car to a downstairs counting room when the armed trio burst in the bank.

"Where's all the money the Brinks people delivered?" one gunman was heard to say.

Ten customers, including a little girl, were ordered at gunpoint to line up against a wall. One bandit stood at the door and another approached Miss Genevieve Becker who was at her post behind the counter.

"This is a stickup," he said. Also behind the counter were two other employes, Mrs. Janet Fowler and Howard Barkley.

The third bandit went to Barkley and demanded money.

Bank officials said the thief emptied thousands of dollars from two drawers behind the counter into a shopping bag.

State Road Contracts Pass 21 Million Mark

12-Year Program Starting To Roll

By HUELL WARREN

BALTIMORE, April 1 (AP) — The State Roads Commission said today it has topped the $21,332,000 mark in awarding contracts, or at least advertising for bids, on early jobs in Maryland's 12-year, 568-million dollar highway overhaul program.

This represented $9,470,000 worth of work reaching the contract-letting stage since the first of the year.

The rate of progress was well below the level necessary if the commission is to reach its goal of putting 60 million dollars worth of road work under contract in 1954.

Commission personnel were optimistic, however.

"It's beginning to roll along nicely," said David M. Nichols, a commission member, as he studied a chart showing the progress made thus far.

He explained the 9-million dollar figure for the first three months of 1954 was piled up without any of the major projects which the commission hopes to get under contract this year.

In June and July, for example, it hopes to advertise for bids on all the remaining 35½ miles of the new Eastern Shore Expressway from Centreville to Warwick, and that will add almost 10 million to the figures in one push.

The projects so far awarded or advertised include at least one in each of the state's 23 counties and call for the building, re-building, or improving of 270 miles of highways.

Work actually has started on some of them and the dirt should start moving on the others in the next few weeks as soon as the weather opens up completely.

As far as the Roads Commission is concerned, however, the main part of its work on them has now been completed. It has finished the detailed and time-consuming blueprints from which the builders will work and has bought up the property necessary for rights of way.

From that point on most of the work is done by the contractor, with the commission's job limited largely to inspection of the work as it progresses to see it is done right.

While the preparatory work has been going on, the commission and its planning engineers have taken steps to get another 19½ million worth of projects started through the mill.

At the end of 1953 it had designated 148 projects worth a little more than 92 million dollars for the engineers and right-of-way men to work on.

Now the total is 173 projects and 111¾ million.

So the commission now has taken the initial steps on more than half of the 242 million dollars worth of work it is scheduled to get started in the first four years of the 12-year program.

A county-by-county tabulation of the jobs already put under contract or already advertised for bids shows:

Queen Elizabeth Says Farewell To Australia

PERTH, Australia, April 1 (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II—first British ruler ever to visit Australia — wound up her 57-day tour of this "Down Under" land today.

Amid a blaring farewell of sirens and ships' whistles, the royal liner Gothic steamed from Remantle Harbor as the Queen and her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, waved from the top deck.

Thousands of onlookers shouted farewell from the crowded docks, but their voices were drowned out by the roar of Royal Air Force planes which dipped over the Gothic.

Three Killed In Car Crash At Baltimore

BALTIMORE, April 1 (AP) — Two Philadelphia men and one from Baltimore were killed today when a car in which they were riding rammed the back of a parked tractor-trailer truck.

Another Philadelphian was hurt and charged in connection with the crash, which occurred on U.S. Route 1 in East Baltimore about 2 a.m.

The dead, all Negroes, were listed as Joseph R. McKinsey, 28, and Herman cook, 25, both of Philadelphia, and Leon Harris, 23, of Baltimore.

Police said they were riding in a car driven by George Thompson, 33, of Philadelphia, another Negro, who suffered a fractured right arm. He was charged by police with manslaughter, speeding and reckless driving.

The truck driver, Clarence W. Ferguson, of Ridgeway, Va., was not hurt, police said.

Baltimore Port Records Broken

BALTIMORE, April 1 (AP)—Baltimore had the biggest passenger day in its history on the waterfront today and it was also announced ship arrivals for March broke an all-time record.

The Baltimore Maritime Exchange said 580 ships called here last month as compared to 338 in March in last year and 445 in May of last year, the previous monthly record.

Estimates on the amount of diverted cargo handled here since March 5 when New York was tied up with a jurisdictional strike run to about 190,000 tons.

The passenger business centered about the Moore-McCormack liner Brazil taking on 300 passengers and the Holland-American liner Ryndam embarking another 900. Both were due to leave here tonight.

Meanwhile, pier operators got busy to comply with orders from the Coast Guard to clear up possible fire hazards. Damaged fire valves were being repaired and fire lanes, previously clogged with cargo, were cleared.

Capt. Edward W. Holtz, captain of the port, said extra fire guards and patrols were put on duty.

Piracci Is Convicted On Conspiracy Count

BALTIMORE, April 1 (AP) — Contractor Dominic Piracci, convicted early today on one conspiracy count, faces still another.

On Monday he is due to come up on an indictment charging a conspiracy to obstruct justice through alteration of books of the Piracci Construction Co.

A jury of eight men and four women convicted him about 12:30 a.m. today of a charge of conspiring to defraud Baltimore of $43,000 in the building of a parking garage. His firm also was convicted. His attorneys announced an appeal would be made and sentence was deferred.

The jury was out about eight hours.

Piracci was the third individual to come to trial of nine indicted in connection with Baltimore's off-street parking program. Two garage operators also have been convicted on the same fraud-conspiracy charges.

Chicago Office Of Clergyman Becomes Sort Of Clearing House For Household Troubles

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

NEW YORK, April 1 (AP)—People, it seems, need a shoulder to cry on.

If they haven't got one at home, they'll go a long ways to find a substitute.

This fact of life today is dramatized constantly for Dr. Richard E. Lentz, a brotherly, openhearted clergyman whose Chicago office has become a sort of clearing house for human hurts.

Distressed people, all the way from Brooklyn to Seattle and points in between, send him their troubles.

"We try to give all of them a little help and courage," he said.

As director of the Department of Family Life of the National Council of Churches, the 54-year-old Dr. Lentz runs a multiphased program to reduce the heartbreak in American households.

There's plenty of it, as measured by the increasing flow of anguished letters from private individuals seeking guidance.

"Modern negative conditions (to a stable home life) in nearly all communities have created a readiness to seek help," Dr. Lentz said.

Not surprisingly, most of those asking advice are women.

"For most women," Dr. Lentz said, "success in marriage is a measure of their success as persons. To men, success or failure in marriage is less important because they generally can find equivalent pride and satisfaction in their work or elsewhere."

The problems range wide over the field of human miseries:

Abused and neglected wives; religious conflicts; rebellious children; domineering in-laws; loneliness; clashes over finances; guilt at past sins and background.

One of the most frequent laments comes from wives with unfaithful husbands.

Dr. Lentz, a minister of the International Convention of Disciples of Christ and a specialist in pastoral counseling, carefully avoids trying to diagnose intimate problems in detail by letter, advising writers this requires talking to both parties.

But his replies, based on long experience in the field, are not just vague notes of sympathy. He offers concrete suggestions, and positive guideposts and principles for meeting the jolts of living.

One typical reply, of about 500 words, to a wife whose husband had become involved with another woman, included such specific points as:

"Someday, I hope public opinion will be sufficiently strong to disapprove such home-breakers. However, she must be supplying to your husband some quality . . . he thinks he is not receiving from you. . . .

"My first impression from your letter is that she treats him like a lover, while you treat him like a disobedient child—in which case fault-finding will never bring him back.

"It is true that many times such unfaithfulness as your husband seems to display is temporary. In such cases, if the wife is willing to forgive and forget, the marriage can be saved.

"That is possible, however, only where there is a broad and deep foundation of love for each other extending back a number of years."

In such cases as this and most others, Dr. Lentz refers letter writers to their local pastor, or some other minister in whom they have confidence, or suggests other counseling service.

"You can't solve problems with a letter," he said, "but we try to put them in touch with someone who can give them the help they need."

Dr. Lentz said the "major difficulty" indicated by letters he gets "is marriage without adequate preparation," often by youths in their 'teens "before they really knew what marriage was about."

"Marriage is the only institution we still leave to amateurs," he said, "and this is a mistake."

He estimated 95 per cent of young couple have not been prepared for marriage problems, either by parents, schools or church.

Most of his letters, he said, come from people in two "crises periods"—in their 20s and 40s.

The first disillusionment, he said, is when the courtship ends and the couple "first begins acting natural." The second crisis, in middle life, is when the wife begins to "feel middle age," and the husband thinks he "needs someone younger and more exciting."

Dr. Lentz said "few couples can be objective enough to locate the source of their own problems," but most can get help from wise counseling.

The "cotton state" is the nickname given to Alabama.

"My first impression from your letter is that she treats him like a lover, while you treat him like a disobedient child—in which case fault-finding will never bring him back.

"It is true that many times such unfaithfulness as your husband seems to display is temporary. In such cases, if the wife is willing to forgive and forget, the marriage can be saved.

"That is possible, however, only where there is a broad and deep foundation of love for each other extending back a number of years."

In such cases as this and most others, Dr. Lentz refers letter writers to their local pastor, or some other minister in whom they have confidence, or suggests other counseling service.

"You can't solve problems with a letter," he said, "but we try to put them in touch with someone who can give them the help they need."

Dr. Lentz said the "major difficulty" indicated by letters he gets "is marriage without adequate preparation," often by youths in their 'teens "before they really knew what marriage was about."

"Marriage is the only institution we still leave to amateurs," he said, "and this is a mistake."

He estimated 95 per cent of young couple have not been prepared for marriage problems, either by parents, schools or church.

Most of his letters, he said, come from people in two "crises periods"—in their 20s and 40s.

The first disillusionment, he said, is when the courtship ends and the couple "first begins acting natural." The second crisis, in middle life, is when the wife begins to "feel middle age," and the husband thinks he "needs someone younger and more exciting."

Dr. Lentz said "few couples can be objective enough to locate the source of their own problems," but most can get help from wise counseling.

Atoms: A-Bomb Splits 'Em H-Bomb Puts 'Em Together

WASHINGTON, April 1 (AP)—What's the difference between a hydrogen bomb and the "old-fashioned" atomic bomb?

It's easier to understand if you remember that actually they're both A-bombs. The basic difference is that the "old" type, first exploded in 1945, makes use of splitting atoms, while the newer one fuses or puts atoms together in new combinations.

Either way there's a tremendous release of energy—but much more so with the hydrogen bomb.

It's more accurate to call the older weapon a fission bomb, rather than just an "atomic" bomb, and the new type a fusion bomb instead of a "hydrogen" bomb.

What the fission bomb does, essentially, is split atoms of uranium, a very heavy material. The fusion bomb, on the other hand, gets its deadly effect by converting atoms of hydrogen, which is extremely light, into atoms of helium.

One more thing: It takes a fission bomb to set off, or "trigger," a fusion bomb. It became known as early as last September that American scientists were working on a relatively easy and inexpensive way of making fusion bombs out of the many fission bombs already in existence. The recent tests in the Pacific, together with official interpretations of them, indicate the scientists have had a large measure of success.

Tax Cut Won't Drop Washing Machine Price

WASHINGTON, April 1 (AP)—Don't look for a tax saving if you plan to buy a washing machine—a clothes washing machine, that is.

They're not subject to the federal excise tax and so they aren't affected by the tax cuts which went into effect today on refrigerators, stoves, dishwashers and many other household appliances.

Washing machine prices may well be reduced by some dealers, however, in special sales growing out of the tax cuts.

County Farmers Advised To Dry Soil Samples

Allegany County farmers who want to have soil samples tested by the Soil Testing Laboratory at the University of Maryland are being offered some advice by Frank L. Bentz Jr., extension soils specialist at College Park.

The samples must be tested in compliance with the liming practice included in the 1954 Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Program.

Farmers are especially urged to send only air dry samples. If possible the farmer should screen the samples. Wet samples must be set aside in the office of County Agent R. F. McHenry until they dry. Waxed sample boxes are available at the county agent's office.

European Newspapers Mark April Fool's Day

LONDON, April 1 (AP)—On this April Fool's Day in Europe newspapers had their customary good time with their readers. Some examples:

Brussels newspapers carried stories saying ex-Premier Mohammed Mossadegh had arrived in Belgium after escaping jail in Tehran, and President Mohamed Naguib had hit town for consultations about Egypt's new constitution.

Girls at Montecatini in Italy dressed themselves in their prettiest frocks after reading that Gregory Peck would be on hand in their town to start filming a new movie.

Oslo newspapers urged readers to pour a gallon of boiling water down the drain in a vast collective effort to create a warm current in Oslo Fjord and melt ice masses which have blocked shipping for the past eight weeks.

Md. Employment Figures Show Drop Of 2,000

BALTIMORE, April 1 (AP)—About 2,000 fewer were employed on nonfarm jobs in Maryland at the middle of February than in mid-January, the State Department of Employment Security reported today.

The full effect of the business "recession," or whatever you call it, is not reflected in these bare figures.

Both in 1952 and 1953, for example, there was a gain in the number of jobs from January to Febraury—3,100 of them in 1953 and 4,700 in 1952.

So there were an estimated 8,400 fewer workers on jobs as of February 15 this year than at the same point in 1953.

Where did these jobs disappear?

In manufacturing — 11,300 of them.

(You have to figure the gain of 2,900 non-manufacturing jobs against this to get the net loss of 8,400.)

Manufacturing employment was down 4.3 per cent.

Primary metals 1,100 (3).

Fabricated metals 1,600 (8.8).

Ship and boat building 2,300 (18.4)

Transportation equipment 1,000 (2.7).

Apparel and fabrics 900 (3.5).

The only manufacturing industry showing a solid gain in number of jobs over last year was the making of electrical machinery, which added 900 jobs (7.1 per cent).

In non-manufacturing business, the loss of 3,700 jobs on interstate railroads was the worst factor in the February figures. February itself accounted for 1,400 of these lost jobs. Layoffs by the Baltimore and Ohio and the other lines in Maryland reached their peak at this time and the picture has brightened a little since then.

Work in the construction business was just a shade less plentiful in February than it had been a year earlier. The number of jobs in February was 1,900 greater than in January, however. Many observers feel this indicates an earlier end than usual to the winter shutdown season and a bigger building boom than ever in the offing.

The 2,900 net jobs gained in the non-manufacturing industry were spread throughout the list of the service and sales businesses.

Committee Submits Conservation Plans

Fourteen persons interested in various phases of soil conservation met yesterday to submit some recommendations for inclusion in the 1955 National Agricultural Conservation Program handbook.

The group constituted the Allegany County Agricultural Resources Conservation Committee. One of their recommendations was that the program include some emergency practices which might be applicable in case drought should strike the area again.

Attending the meeting were Albert O'Neal, James H. Weimer and Joseph W. Silber, members of the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee; District Forester William H. Johnson, Assistant District Forester Harry Hartman, Kenneth M. Stone, Martin M. Gordon and Stuart Delbrook, of the Soil Conservation office here; Wilbert R. Paul, Floyd Buser and Ernest R. Slider, members of the Soil Conservation District Supervisors; Assistant County Agent Joseph M. Steger, Richard R. Carson of Boonsboro, field representative of the ASC, and Miss Elizabeth Hoover, manager of the County ASC office.

Some 25 million acres of American soil now are under irrigation.

NEW YORK—(INS)—The U. S. government continues its 178 year old war against the American Indian. Since Custer's death there has been comparatively little blood shed, but hostilities have not ceased. We are at present waging a war of nerves against descendants of the tribesmen from whom we bought or stole the land.

Congress is now considering a series of bills which, if enacted, will remove federal trusteeship and services from 70,000 Indians in 12 states. The bills would destroy tribal governments, nullify rights assured by treaties, and make of most of the 70,000 a scattered human herd dependent on public charity and subject to the tyranny of discrimination.

The 12 tribes have sent representatives to Washington, along with other Indian spokesmen, to plead against any abrupt termination of federal aid in hospital care, education, agriculture and the like. That aid has been sorely inadequate through the years, but without it not many tribes could continue to exist. Tribe spokesmen have asked for a gradual departure of the federal government from their affairs, not a clean break.

"Indian Affairs," news letter of the American Indian Fund and the Association on American Indian Affairs, Inc., 48 E. 86th St., N.Y.C., reports:

"The federal break . . . would leave Indians helpless before local discrimination and depradation. 'Termination' is proposed, for example, for ill-education, helpless groups of Shoshones and Paiutes in Nevada and Utah, and for the small, depressed Kickapoo tribe in Kansas, all in need of more help, not less.

"It is proposed for the Seminoles of Florida, of whom 90 per cent of the adults (451 of 501 over 18 years of age) are unable to read or write, and almost 40 per cent of whose children of school age receive no schooling. Among the Turtle Mountain Chippewas of North Dakota, who would be similarily abandoned, the annual income per family in 1950 was $500. Clothing and housing are inadequate, and 500 families, about half those living on or near the reservation—need welfare assistance during part of each year."

Current termination legislation affects all Indians in California, the Sac and Fox, Potawatomi and Iowa Indians of Nebraska and Kansas, the Salish and Kootenai and the Flathead tribe of Montana, the Washos of Nevada, New York's Six Nations Iroquois and Seneca, the Confederated Tribes of Grand Ronde and Siletz Reservations in Oregon, the Menomini of Wisconsin, and other names that conjure memories whose roots reach deep into our culture.

Some of the appeals to Congress have come from men of arresting names and bearing, like Luke Sowafroo, chief of the Cayuse Tribe; Tom Joe, chief of the Umatilla tribe; Vestana Cadue; chairman of all that is left of the Kickapoos—170 Indians; and Acting Chiefs Ennis Moon, Tom Wash, Iby Bear, Richard Bear and Liza Moon Neck of the Skull Valley band of the Shoshone tribe of Utah.

Harry J. W. Belvin, principal chief of Oklahoma's Choctaw Nation, which is not now involved with separation legislation, writes, "I think this is another of those moves by Congress to 'get the government out of the Indian business,' another effort to shirk its responsibility to a people who owned the entire continent of North America when the white man first invaded (not discovered) this country."

Betty Mae Jumper, secretary of the Seminole Tribal Committee, pleads "we have no members advanced enough to take care of the administration of tribal property. Only in the past few years have our children attended school . . . . Our reservation lands are not income producing . . . . We have much to learn about sanitation, care of the sick, infant care, disease prevention . . . Don't take our government nurse from us."

Makes it hard to look in a mirror in the morning, doesn't it?

Teacher Flattered By Boy's Love Until He Gave Her Ring

TROY, Ohio, April 1 (AP) —Mrs. Eleanor Sweigart was flattered when one of her pupils in the first grade at Kyle Elementary School told her he loved her.

She says 6-year-old Mark (she doesn't want to embarrass him by giving his last name) often would approach her shyly and say:

"Remember me? I'm the one who is going to marry you."

Or, "You wait for me. I'm getting taller, don't you think?"

And, she said yesterday, when Mark handed her an engagement ring a few days ago, she decided to go along with the gag. Later she took another look at the "toy." It was a real diamond.

She called the boy's mother, who had been worried since she "misplaced" the ring after taking it off to wash some clothes.

Everything's all right now, Mrs. Sweigart said. "Mark has his eye on a 5-year-old blonde."

Golden needles were used by Egyptian surgeon-priests to close wounds.

Upon completion of military service and while completing his education he served as chaplain of the Jewish War Veterans in King's County, N. Y. He was also spiritual director of a congregation in Brooklyn comprised of veterans. He will reside at 316 Cumberland Street.

Man Fined $50 On False Alarm Charges Here

An April Fool prank backfired on a 21-year-old Army veteran yesterday in Police Court.

Joseph Vincent Harvey, 211 Race Street, was fined $50 after he pleaded guilty to disturbing the peace by pulling at least four fire alarm levers in South End.

Questioned by Magistrate Donald W. Mason, the defendant said he had "no excuse and no purpose in mind" for his actions. Harvey admitted that he had been "drinking some."

Police said Harvey pulled an alarm box at Second Street and Virginia Avenue about 12:25 a. m. Shortly afterwards a call came from another box at Second Street and Pennsylvania Avenue.

Officers spotted a youth on Second Street and picked him up for interrogation at headquarters. Harvey was identified as the culprit.

Authorities said Harvey assumed responsibility for two other alarms turned in early Wednesday from the same boxes. On one occasion two pumpers and the aerial ladder truck went to the area.

Abraham Feldstein, city, paid a fine of $15 for failing to file a daily report on the purchase and sale of scrap metal. He blamed "bad business" conditions.

The trial of Tildon S. Burns, 101 East Laing Avenue, who is accused of "unlawfully buying and selling in violation of the pawnbroker's ordinance," was postponed until Saturday.

A second warrant against Burns was issued this morning after the initial legal document was found defective, having no date of the alleged violation and the wrong section of the City Code listed.

Burns' attorney, Frederick Puderbaugh, successfully moved that the first warrant be quashed. Then the defendant was rearrested by Detective Lt. James E. Van.

Area Coal Miners Observe Holiday

Coal mines having contracts with the United Mine Workers of America were closed yesterday in observance of the 56th anniversary of the eight-hour day.

The holiday is termed John Mitchell Day generally, but in the anthracite region it is called John L. Lewis Day.

Fire Company Starts Annual Fund Drive

The drive is to help pay for the unit's new tank-pumper which has been purchased to help better protect the growing Bedford Road community. The tank and pumper, capable of carrying 1,000 gallons of water, is one of the largest in the state, according to Fred Roberts, company president.

Fred Purnell, fire chief, says the new truck will be ready for operation by May 1.

William E. Lawyer was appointed chairman of the fund drive which is expected to meet a goal of $1,500.

Local Brothers Face Draft Evasion Charge In Baltimore

Two Cumberland brothers, listed by Selective Service headquarters as conscientious objectors, will be arraigned today in Baltimore federal court on a charge of refusing to be inducted into the armed forces.

Federal indictments were returned some time ago against the pair, Walton Durane Robey, 27, and Otto Robey, 23, who gave a Massachusetts Avenue address.

Both reported to the Baltimore induction center July 29, 1951 but refused to be processed, claiming conscientious objector's status through their affiliation with the Jehovah Witness sect.

The elder Robey registered here September 15, 1948 and was placed in 1-A classification on December 20 of that year. His brother registered December 17, 1948 and was placed in the 1-A category in January, 1950.

Records show the brothers moved to Miami, Fla., between June, 1950 and January, 1951. While residing there they became members of the religious sect.

In October 1950 Walton Robey requested P. Emmett Fahey, local draft board co-ordinator, for classification as a conscientious objector. The younger Robey asked for the same classification in March 1951. Fahey granted the requests.

Col. Henry C. Stanwood, state SS director, appealed the decision of the local board at a hearing in Baltimore and the brothers were replaced in 1-A classification. The vote of the appeal board was 4-0.

The Robeys were arrested following their refusal to enter military service, and a federal grand jury indictment was returned against both. The FBI investigated the case.

Magistrates' Query Gets Things Buzzing

The question raised by 14 trial magistrates in this county concerning expense money paid out by the County Commissioners to themselves and other county officials literally has the whole town talking.

Whether the magistrates are right in questioning the expenditures by the commissioners or the commissioners are right in paying the expense money we do not attempt to say because we are not acquainted with the facts from both sides.

There can be little doubt, however, that one reason the magistrates raised the question is that the commissioners late last year refused to reimburse them for all expenses incurred in official traveling. The magistrates very probably were irked by the position taken at that time by the commissioners.

The move by the magistrates to inquire of the commissioners by "what authority and under what law" they paid expense money for trips to themselves, their attorney, the county clerk, the supervisor of assessments, assessors and the supervisor of roads, might be viewed as an attempt to "get even."

On the other hand, the inquiry might also be looked upon as a signal opening the political campaign, what with the primary election only a few months away.

Whatever the reason, there should be some satisfaction for the public to know that a watchful eye is being kept on expenditures of public money.

Radford's Optimism

Admiral Arthur Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, is confident "the French are going to win" the struggle at Dien Bien Phu. Americans, with Korea in mind, will hope his optimism is justified.

The Communist forces besieging the French fort have attacked with fanatical disregard for losses that testifies to their will to win. But the outnumbered defenders have fought back just as hard and support has been delivered to them despite the unexpectedly effective Red anti-aircraft fire. For two weeks they have beaten off every assault. Granted that they must fight or surrender, as they cannot retreat, the fact remains that they have fought well.

A successful defense of Dien Bien Phu would be a great boost to French morale, but it would be little more than a foundation upon which victory could be built.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

More On April 26

Just as the war in Korea became a conflict with Red China, so the Indochina War is a conflict with Red China. Therefore, at the Geneva Conference, Red China will speak for these countries; the Peking radio already claims that Red China will speak for the whole of Asia. This, of course, is a geographical exaggeration. Nevertheless, the United States will at Geneva face a formidable antagonist who will demand full recognition as a member of the United Nations as a minimum basis for future discussions.

There will be no other issue at Geneva until the question of recognition is settled, and in this the United States stands utterly alone. To Great Britain, recognition offers hope for the vast China trade, which could mean a restoration of an Asiatic economic empire. Also the British are anxious not to force upon India an irrevocable East or West decision. To France, such a recognition could mean that the Indochina War would be settled by a truce or a peace. To Soviet Russia, it would mean the fulfillment of the conquest of China and the satisfaction of the wishes of the second most important member of the Soviet Universal State. To the United States, it can only mean the end of an adventure in international leadership that failed.

As the situation has developed, Formosa is not at this moment the issue. The leading powers are not considering Formosa's sensibilities or Chiang Kai-shek's future. The issue at Geneva will be how far the United States will go to resist recognition of Red China by the United Nations with a seat on the Security Council.

If the United Nations is adamant, threatening to use the veto or even to withdraw from the United Nations on the ground that no nation can fight its way into it, the conference will break up. If the United States adopts the view that it cannot resist its friends or a majority of the principal powers, the conference will be reduced to cutting the United States down to size in international affairs. Great Britain will then emerge as the leader of the Western European nations and the United States will be isolated.

The pattern is clear, but how to salvage anything is not so clear. Too many errors of judgment led up to this climactic conference, and those errors cannot be erased. They started at the Teheran Conference in 1943, which diverted the United States from an idealistic position based on justice and the rights of man to practical politics, which amounted to giving to Stalin what was withheld from Hitler. Practicality in time of war developed into almost abject compromise and appeasement. At Geneva, the last step may be taken—the recognition of Red China as the successor state to Nationalist China, our ally in World War II.

The new isolationism is not so repugnant to a people who are weary of constant diplomatic defeats at great cost. Never since the days of the "America First" movement have Americans generally been so apathetic about foreign affairs or so antagonistic to foreign countries. No European or Asiatic nation is today popular among the American people, unless it be Turkey. The pendulum is swinging away from nearly 20 years of excessive emphasis on foreign affairs.

The danger, of course, is war, but this our people do not recognize. The Hellbombs go off and they are only curiosities such as fireworks displays were at the beginning of the 20th Century. The failure of "Civil Defense" to arouse our people to the dangers of a war of extermination is only another evidence of their apathy on the entire subject of a prospective war. Nobody is building private Hellbomb cellars against the devastations of the future.

All this, Geneva will in some manner influence. The gathering of states could have been held at the United Nations in New York, but the decision has been to hold this conference, as so many others, outside the United Nations. It is essentially a European conference, although Asiatics will be present, in which the American delegation will have to stand alone, if there is courage left to fight it out. There may not be such courage left, particularly on the principle that a nation must not shoot its way into the United Nations.

Administration Foreign Policy Puts Russia On Notice

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — "No more world wars?" That's the wishful query which the terrifying tests of the H-bomb has propounded but there is nothing in human experience which indicates that nations have ever been scared into peace just because terrible weapons have been invented.

After the close of World War I, the late President Wilson made speehes about the awful bombing and devastation that would come if another world war were fought, and he told his audiences of the new inventions of weapons of horror—the block busters that would kill civilians—but these din't stop World War II from breaking out.

The alternate testing of the H-bomb by Soviet Russia and by the United States is reminiscent of every armament race in history. Each side thinks the other will be frightened into self-restraint and that aggression will never occur again. But it does. And the reason it does is that neither side, when it starts a little war or defends itself against a local aggression, thinks the conflict will develop into anything bigger.

No Assurance Against Use

The most conspicuous fact about today's situation in the world is that neither Soviet Russia nor the United States will want to use the H-bomb but nobody can be sure that either side will not do so if it thinks it must defend itself against the use of such a a weapon by the enemy.

The secretary of defense has said that he cannot imagine the United States developing atomic weapons and not using them. Admiral Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staffs, says that, if there is to be any limitation of armament by agreement, it cannot be on the basis of atomic weapons only and that there must be limitation on ground armies as well and on conventional weapons, too.

This is an important observation because obviously if H-bombs and A-bombs were to be outlawed or by mutual consent withheld from employment, just as was the case with poison gas in World War II, the superior strength of Soviet Russia's ground armies would be decisive in Europe.

The "new look" for America's military establishment has been predicated on the use of atomic weapons. Airpower has been strengthened on the theory that America must be able, if necessary, to carry the bomb from overseas bases and from the decks of naval aircraft carriers. If the big bombs were outlawed, it would mean a complete revision of the military setup of the United States. This, according to the President, is not contemplated.

Acheson Concept Repudiated

But, even assuming that neither side wants to start a big war, the danger is that Soviet Russia might continue to carry on the "cold war" by intensifying the war in Indochina so that it becomes a son has stated publicly his belief that America must be resigned to little wars and particularly to more wars like Korea. But President Eisenhower has, in effect, repudiated the Acheson concept. At the Wednesday press conference, the President was asked if American troops were to be deployed all around the world. He answered that he can conceive of no greater disadvantage to America than to be employing its own ground forces, and any other kind of forces, in great numbers around the world meeting each little situation as it arises.

Mr. Eisenhower added that the United States is trying to make her friends strong enough to take care of local situations by themselves with financial, moral and political aid but with military help only second Korea. What then would American policy be?

Former Secretary of State Achewhere America's vital interests demand it.

This is the most important statement of American policy that could be made at the moment. It is an authoritative pronouncement of how the United States plans to help enforce world peace. But the President was careful to point out that each case has its own degree of risk for the United States and each must be met on its merits, and he would not generalize.

Russia Put On Notice

Such a pronouncement wisely leaves unanswered the question of when America will refuse to be drawn further into a lot of local wars and will consider what can be done to cur. the infection at its source. This is what "massive retaliation," as proclaimed by Secretary Dulles, could mean and, despite criticism here and there from the appeasers or the politicians who feel they must oppose for partisan reasons American military and foreign policy, the decision will stick. Soviet Russia is on notice that she cannot expect to drain American resources and those of the free world by a series of local wars like Korea without running the risk of drastic action being taken against herself as a partner in any future aggressions.

War is a terrible thing, but America is not going to follow the pacifist line and find herself eventually dragged into war anyhow. The surest deterrent to a world war is adequate preparation militarily, a resolute and clear-cut policy announced in advance to the world, and our willingness to go to war, if need be, no matter what the cost, if the enemy takes steps that really threaten our safety. President Eisenhower is a military man. He doesn't want war, but he doesn't think it can be avoided merely by hoping the devil will become a saint.

Baering Down On The News

Arguments at 30 paces are shrinking and coffee and pistols for two are expensive.

He said he was neatly delighted with Berlin, profusely contented at Caracas and figured to pull the hat trick at Geneva.

You understand Dulles is keeping his own score.

How about that Argentinian-Guatemalian screech against colonialism in the Americas? Doesn't that mean any more than the fine hairs on grandma's upper lip?

We would tout Guatemala off on that extra-curricular gimmick. We had a dash of anti-colonialism hereabouts in 1776. We objected to a penny plaster on tea and wound up paying one-twenty for coffee. That's what you call the dregs of victory.

Guatemala's target is perfidious albumen of course. Guatemala has been the prime mover in all anti-business. The priming is done in Moscow.

They are pegging at England all over the world. India, Egypt, Africa and now South America. England meets the barrage of missiles by printing its maps of empire on dart boards.

Older Men And Women Should Be Kept In Fine Fettle

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

After Mrs. Brown took her aged father to a mental institution, I heard her say, "Medical science is responsible for this. The lives of people are being prolonged so that they live on in miserable senility. I hope I go before this stage is reached."

Mrs. Brown has reason to be upset but she is laboring under a common misconception. The young man of 20 has a greater life expectancy today than he would have had 100 years ago. But the same cannot be said of the man of 60. More people are living to age 60 but once this milestone is passed the chances of survival are no greater today than they were a century ago. A small percentage of the 60 plus always have become mentally incompetent, but the increase in mental cases today is due to the fact that the same percentage is affecting a larger number of people. The percentage of oldsters affected in this way is not mounting. In this respect, aging and mental disease do not necessarily go hand in hand.

Can mental illness in oldsters be prevented? Not entirely, but these men and women can be helped to retain their mental faculties in many ways. One master stroke is to maintain stronger family ties, which gives the aging individual the feeling of belonging and having a place in society. At this time of life the importance of good health cannot be over-stressed. I have seen instances in which an ordinary cold or a simple blader infection has made a mentally competent older person go off the deep end. Diet is important and should be individualized to meet current demands. The inactive require fewer calories and those with poor teeth or ill-fitting dentures that cannot be corrected need softer or chopped up foods.

Older men and women also must continue habits of good hygiene like bathing and shampooing; age is no excuse for untidiness. A schedule is preferred for eating and sleeping; should an oldster make radical changes along this line, he must be viewed with suspicion because such behavior may signify oncoming deterioration.

Fresh air, sunshine, and exercise are important at any age and the same can be said of adequate rest. Men and women who remain busy stay out of trouble, and hobbies like sewing, carpentry, or rugmaking ought to be encouraged. Radio and television offer many hours of amusement and sharpen the wits as well. Religion is important because it offers so many emotional satisfactions that cannot be otherwise obtained.

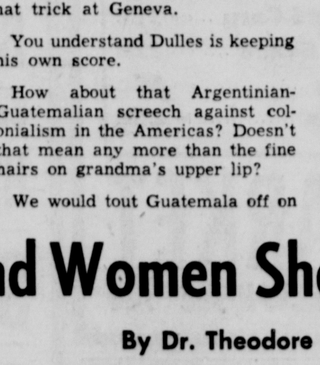
Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

"A small town," opines A. W. Perrine, "is a place where a fellow has to walk around a dog enjoying a nap on the sidewalk." And speaking of dogs, H. Scherman points out that nothing can show more clearly how happy your pup is to see you than that light colored suit you just had dry cleaned the day before!

"What is the thing I'm most anxious to get out of my new car?" grinned a business man in answer to an advertising expert's question. "That's easy! My 17-year-old son!"



Arthur Godfrey described a girl he had auditioned for his show as "the kind you take home to meet your mother — after you've locked father in the garage." "Just by looking at her." he added, "I knew immediately what kind of a past she's going to have."

Congresswoman Rogers May Be Third Woman Senator In History Of U. S.

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Only two women in the entire history of the United States have been regularly elected to the U. S. Senate, but now it looks as if there might be a third.

The two regularly elected senators were Hattie Caraway of Arkansas and Margaret Chase Smith of Maine. Though both were widows of members of Congress, both later were elected entirely on their own and served with distinction. Mrs. Smith, despite covert opposition from Joe McCarthy, is running for re-election this year and is almost certain to win.

Meanwhile, the dean of congressional ladies, Congresswoman Edith Nourse Rogers of Lowell, Mass., has told friends that she has decided to take a momentous step and will run for the Senate from Massachusetts.

Mrs. Rogers is a Republican and the man whom she would oppose in the primary is also a Republican — Sen. Leverett Saltonstall, distinguished Boston blue-blood who has a good record in the Senate but faces tough opposition among the Irish voters of Boston.

Irate Republicans

Word that Mrs. Rogers intends to go ahead with the Senate race has Republican leaders biting their fingernails — for two reasons:

1. Saltonstall is considered one of the more vulnerable Republicans, with a good chance of losing in the November election even if he is renominated in the primary. Mrs. Rogers would give him a tough primary fight, particularly in the Boston area where as chairman of the Veterans Committee she is a much-loved friend of the veteran.

2. GOP leaders know that the surest way to get Mrs. Rogers in the senatorial primary race is to try to pressure her not to run against Saltonstall. In fact, one reason she is considering entering the primary is because she is furious about some of the heavy-handed pressure from GOP leaders of Congress to get her to support the Eisenhower tax bill.

House Republican leaders even threatened to jettison veterans' aid bills sponsored by Mrs. Rogers if she voted to recommit the tax bill; also warned that she might "regret it" in still other ways if she persisted in her opposition to the tax bill.

GOP leaders in Massachusetts have a means of enforcing that "regret" by gerrymandering Mrs. Rogers' district. In fact, a bill was introduced in the Massachusetts Legislature some time ago by which she would lose about 14,000 Republican votes.

This discriminatory measure created such a backlash of criticism, however, that Gov. Christian Herter and other state GOP chiefs decided to pigeonhole it; and, about a week before the House voted the Eisenhower tax bill, Governor Herter told a news reporter that the redistricting measure was "dead" as far as he was concerned. However, it suddenly came back to life after Mrs. Rogers courageously voted to recommit the tax bill.

Two days after that vote, the plucky congresswoman learned that Governor Herter and his legislature leaders had changed their minds again and were pressing for adoption of a new gerrymander plan aimed solely at the Rogers district and obviously a reprisal against her tax vote.

All of which has caused the lady from Massachusetts to get her back up. And, being a heroine to millions of veterans, her political back is something to be reckoned with.

Catholic Dissenter

Father Robert C. Hartnett, editor of the Jesuit publication, "America," is one of various distinguished Catholics who disagree heartily wtih Joe McCarthy. Protestant clergymen have criticized the Catholic hierarchy for not taking a stand against McCarthy and his tactics, but the other day Father Hartnett, invited to speak at the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick in Chicago, declined because McCarthy was to be present.

He said he would not be seen on the same platform. Instead, he accepted an invitation from another group, also in Chicago.

Arriving at the place where the dinner was to be held, Father Hartnett was surprised to see a notice on the door which read:

"Robert C. Hartnett dinner — Joe McCarthy speaker."

The Catholic editor was about to retreat when someone explained that there were two Joe McCarthys and that the speaker at his dinner stood for the exact opposite of Wisconsin Joe.

Merry-Go-Round

Newsmen arched their eyebrows when the attractive secretary of health, Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, calmly lit two cigarets while testifying before the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee. There are two prominent "no smoking" signs in the committee room, but the only lady cabinet member apparently didn't see them. . . . Hard-working GOP Congressman Leo Allen frequently puts in a 12-hour day, shuttling between the House Rules Committee, which he heads, and his other office maintained for Illinois constituents. Allen also is on the Senate-House Leadership Committee, which meets weekly wtih President Eisenhower, and often presides in the House chamber as speaker pro tem in his "spare" time. . . . It requires three secretaries to type up replies to correspondence that daily pours into the office of GOP Congressman John P. Saylor from his populous (367,489) Pennsylvania district. But the conscientious Saylor personally dictates and signs all his mail, sometimes working until 10 p. m.

AEC Invokes Censorship

By Joseph And Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

The hydrogen bomb tests that are worrying the world also render an old issue more acute than ever. How far is our government justified in hiding facts of life and death from our people?

The question must be asked, since the new chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, Adm. Louis Strauss, has quietly inaugurated a new censorship policy. The result of this new policy is to burke serious discussion of the vast problems of national policy that are raised by the terrible weapons being tried out in the Pacific. Presumably, this is also the aim.

Before Strauss took over the AEC chairmanship, this censorship policy was both liberal and sensible. A writer on atomic subjects was permitted to submit what he had written for review by the AEC. Although the AEC might dislike it for one reason or another, the article or book was automatically passed if it met one simple test.

The author had to show that all facts cited were derived from public sources, or had been deduced by analysis of unclassified information. In other words, if the author could prove that he only used facts which were certainly available to the Russian intelligence, he was free to pass those facts on to the American people, together with his conclusions from them.

In the opinion of Adm. Strauss, however, what the Soviet intelligence must certainly know is much too strong meat for the people of this country. Accordingly, he has now adopted the new system of refusing to review any article or book dealing with subjects which are, in his sole judgment, "too sensitive."

Article Refused Review

This means, for all practical purposes, that any subject which Strauss arbitrarily tags as "too sensitive" cannot be written about at all. To illustrate, the writer of a magazine article may have his list of public sources for every fact he refers to. He may not even have talked to anyone with access to classified data of any kind. But if the AEC has not reviewed what he has written, he is still liable to prosecution after publication. In addition, the magazine that accepts the writer's article is liable to an AEC injunction.

Precisely this experience has come, in the last months, to these reporters. With Dr. Ralph Platt, we did a magazine article on the air-atomic balance between the United States and the Soviet Union. This is, of course, the great life and death problem for America. Nonetheless, the article has been refused review by the AEC.

Since the first refusal of review, we have repeatedly offered to prove to Adm. Strauss and his experts that all our information has come from unclassified sources. These offers have been disregarded. Adm. Strauss did not reply that he could prove the contrary, or point to any classified data which we wished to publish. He just said that the whole subject of American and Soviet atomic stockpiles "carries the highest security classification." Review was refused because the subject as a whole was taboo.

Unfortunately for the admiral, he has no right of arbitrary and indirect censorship over publications abroad. Since he wrote the letter above quoted, the venomously anti-American English weekly, "The New Statesman and Nation" has printed an article by the notoriously fellow-traveling British physicist, P.M. S. Blackett.

Among other subjects, Prof. Blackett took up the "too sensitive" problem of atomic stockpiles. He stated that "5,000 would be a fair guess" for the number of American atomic bombs. As for the Soviet, he added, they could now be expected to have "a few hundred" bombs, and to be increasing their stockpiles rapidly.

These two estimates, which have now been given to the world by a British fellow-traveler, coincide rather closely with the estimates of these reporters, which cannot be published in this space by reason of the new Strauss censorship policy. If it is not too personal to say so, we have debated whether we might say that the conclusions we reached from published data did not differ greatly from Blackett's conclusions from published data. But this much we venture, despite the admiral.

It seems silly, but in fact it is worse than silly. When Adm. Strauss proudly announces, as he did the other day, that we now have a hydrogen bomb which can wipe out a city as big as New York, he is in fact practicing a glum deception on the American public. What he says is true, of course. But this truth about the American hydrogen bomb cannot be seen in accurate proportions, unless the truth is also told about the Soviet hydrogen bomb.

The truth about the Soviet hydrogen bomb and atomic stockpiles, the hard facts of the Soviet-American air-atomic balance, are precisely what Adm. Strauss holds to be too sensitive for public discussion. The country is left in intentional ignorance of the most important single problem that faces us. If this kind of thing goes on much longer, the ballot box will soon be outmoded.

SLEEPING SICKNESS

H. P. writes: How is sleeping sickness caught and is it always fatal?

REPLY

The type of sleeping sickness that occurs in Africa is transmitted chiefly by the tsetse fly. We do not have a true sleeping sickness in this country, but the term is used by the laity whenever an individual with encephalitis (brain fever) goes into a state of drowsiness and lethargy. There are many forms of encephalitis and those resulting from bacteria usually are transmitted from one individual to another through direct contact. The viral types of encephalitis occur as a complication in measles, mumps, or flu or are transmitted via mosquitoes. The disease is not always fatal.

SPINAL CYST

C. V. writes: If one operation for pilonidal cyst has not eliminated this annoying condition, would a second operation prove successful?

REPLY

Yes, provided the surgeon is able to remove every remnant of the cyst. This operation is more tricky than serious because if one tiny bit of the cyst tissue is left behind, the condition recurs.

BREATHLESSNESS

C. V. writes: Can the cause of shortness of breath be purely psychological? I have had this condition for many years and the doctors say there is nothing wrong organically. I am 33.

REPLY

Yes. Assuming that your physician has eliminated all the possible physical causes.

Man Fined $50 On False Alarm Charges Here

An April Fool prank backfired on a 21-year-old Army veteran yesterday in Police Court.

Joseph Vincent Harvey, 211 Race Street, was fined $50 after he pleaded guilty to disturbing the peace by pulling at least four fire alarm levers in South End.

Questioned by Magistrate Donald W. Mason, the defendant said he had "no excuse and no purpose in mind" for his actions. Harvey admitted that he had been "drinking some."

Police said Harvey pulled an alarm box at Second Street and Virginia Avenue about 12:25 a. m. Shortly afterwards a call came from another box at Second Street and Pennsylvania Avenue.

Officers spotted a youth on Second Street and picked him up for interrogation at headquarters. Harvey was identified as the culprit.

Authorities said Harvey assumed responsibility for two other alarms turned in early Wednesday from the same boxes. On one occasion two pumpers and the aerial ladder truck went to the area.

Abraham Feldstein, city, paid a fine of $15 for failing to file a daily report on the purchase and sale of scrap metal. He blamed "bad business" conditions.

The trial of Tildon S. Burns, 101 East Laing Avenue, who is accused of "unlawfully buying and selling in violation of the pawnbroker's ordinance," was postponed until Saturday.

A second warrant against Burns was issued this morning after the initial legal document was found defective, having no date of the alleged violation and the wrong section of the City Code listed.

Burns' attorney, Frederick Puderbaugh, successfully moved that the first warrant be quashed. Then the defendant was rearrested by Detective Lt. James E. Van.

Fire Company Starts Annual Fund Drive

The drive is to help pay for the unit's new tank-pumper which has been purchased to help better protect the growing Bedford Road community. The tank and pumper, capable of carrying 1,000 gallons of water, is one of the largest in the state, according to Fred Roberts, company president.

Fred Purnell, fire chief, says the new truck will be ready for operation by May 1.

William E. Lawyer was appointed chairman of the fund drive which is expected to meet a goal of $1,500.

Local Brothers Face Draft Evasion Charge In Baltimore

Two Cumberland brothers, listed by Selective Service headquarters as conscientious objectors, will be arraigned today in Baltimore federal court on a charge of refusing to be inducted into the armed forces.

Federal indictments were returned some time ago against the pair, Walton Durane Robey, 27, and Otto Robey, 23, who gave a Massachusetts Avenue address.

Both reported to the Baltimore induction center July 29, 1951 but refused to be processed, claiming conscientious objector's status through their affiliation with the Jehovah Witness sect.

The elder Robey registered here September 15, 1948 and was placed in 1-A classification on December 20 of that year. His brother registered December 17, 1948 and was placed in the 1-A category in January, 1950.

Records show the brothers moved to Miami, Fla., between June, 1950 and January, 1951. While residing there they became members of the religious sect.

In October 1950 Walton Robey requested P. Emmett Fahey, local draft board co-ordinator, for classification as a conscientious objector. The younger Robey asked for the same classification in March 1951. Fahey granted the requests.

Col. Henry C. Stanwood, state SS director, appealed the decision of the local board at a hearing in Baltimore and the brothers were replaced in 1-A classification. The vote of the appeal board was 4-0.

The Robeys were arrested following their refusal to enter military service, and a federal grand jury indictment was returned against both. The FBI investigated the case.

Serve Corn Meal Pancakes To Teen-Age Stay-At-Homes

Every mother knows that age serves youth, particularly when son's and daughter's teen-age friends make home their Sunday afternoon rendezvous. What to serve for supper is the frequent problem.

Economical corn meal provides a taste-tempting answer that will make home a good place to the youngsters whenever Corn Meal Pancakes are served. They are easy to make, and the boys and girls will eat stacks.

Corn meal gives pancakes a different, satisfying flavor; one that eliminates the need for the additional chore of rounding up a variety of foods to accompany them. They provide a complete meal, eliminating even the need for dessert.

And of course, corn meal pancakes are healthful for energetic teen-agers. Corn is one of the best food energy sources known to man, and its value is enhanced by the sweet milk, eggs and butter that are included in this recipe.

Corn Meal Pancakes

1½ teaspoons salt
4 teaspoons baking powder
1⅓ cups corn meal
2 eggs, well beaten
4 tablespoons melted butter
1⅔ cups sweet milk (room temperature)

(Self-rising corn meal makes delicious pancakes. If used, omit baking powder and salt from this recipe.)

Sift flour, salt and baking powder together. Add corn meal and mix well. Combine beaten eggs, butter and milk, and add gradually to mixture. Beat until smooth. Pour ¼ cup at a time onto a preheated griddle. (Modern griddles do not need to be greased, but it is advisable to rub clean after each baking with a salt bag.) Turn pancakes only once while baking. Yield: 14 medium cakes.

Weekly Market Report Helps Housewives Shop

No one needs tell today's homemaker that it takes one dollar out of every three to feed her family.

But, if someone could just tell her how to stretch her food dollars, she'd be all ears.

The University of Maryland Extension Service is doing just that. They've got a consumer education program underway in Baltimore with the main purpose of helping housewives get the most quantity and quality with the least money when it comes to feeding the family.

Right now, about 1400 families are taking advantage of the Weekly Retail Market Report issued by the Extension Service under the direction of Russell C. Hawes, Consumer Marketing Specialist. This report lists the retail price range of about every food item that can be mentioned from avacados to zwieback.

Also about 300 retailers are posting a bulletin showing fruit and vegetable items in the best supply. When the supply is up the price is usually down. The poster gives last minute information. Retailers who aren't receiving this bulletin might be persuaded to get on the list if housewives ask about it.

Extension also has a service for those who are getting tired of having the same old thing in the same old way. Recipes are available at the Extension office, 815 Fidelity Building, Baltimore, Md. Housewives can get on the recipe mailing list and the retail price support by writing to this address.

Choice For Lenten Menus Are Many

With the Lenten season at hand, chances are you're thinking of foods than can be used in place of meat during these meatless days.

While beef lovers may not find this a happy situation, nutritionist Janet Coblentz, University of Maryland Extension Service, says many tasty and nourishing substitutes for meat are available.

The specialist says it's a good idea to change over from the heavy winter meals to lighter meals with less bulk. Just as we change our clothing weights and the weight of oil for the car, so we might well change our menus to fit the warmer season.

Lent is an admirable time to prepare the family palate for light meals they will eat in the summertime, says Miss Coblentz. But even with lighter meals, the body needs the same food nutrients, and that's something to consider when you plan for these lighter meals.

Let's look at the many things you can serve instead of meat. There's milk in it's many forms, all types of cheese, eggs, dried beans, peas and lentils, and the many types of fish. Miss Coblentz points out that you can look to milk for complete protein during Lent. Milk is one of the foods you can put into any course of your meal, every meal of the day. It adds protein, calcium and riboflavin to every dish in which it's used.

And these dishes are many—soups and chowders, creamed and scalloped dishes, croquetts, omelets, meat and fish loaves, in gravies and sauces. You can use milk to cook cereals and vegetables instead of water, as well as adding it to many baked foods for added flavor and nutrition.

If you're cooking with milk, you need to use a little care, says Miss Coblentz. That's because milk requires a low temperature while cooking.

Glazed Sweet Potatoes

6 peeled, cooked sweet potatoes
⅔ cup brown sugar
4 tablespoons butter

Slice each sweet potato into thirds or fourths length-wise. Arrange slices on broiler pan. Mix brown sugar and butter and spread over slices. Broil under medium heat about 7 to 8 minutes, until glazed and lightly browned. If preferred, sweet potatoes may be simmered with sugar and butter in a saucepan until glazed. Serves 6.

Quick Hot Chocolate

Meatless Menus During Lent

During Lent, many homemakers have a problem of planning meals without meat. This need not be a difficult task.

Why? Because the menu planner has a group of very helpful and healthful foods on her side. These are the dairy foods, economical, nutritious, and versatile. Protein, needed each day for growth and body repair, is found in good quantity in milk, cheese, and cottage cheese. These foods can be used in meals to good advantage as the suggested menus for meatless dinners or suppers given here will show.

Magistrates' Query Gets Things Buzzing

The question raised by 14 trial magistrates in this county concerning expense money paid out by the County Commissioners to themselves and other county officials literally has the whole town talking.

Whether the magistrates are right in questioning the expenditures by the commissioners or the commissioners are right in paying the expense money we do not attempt to say because we are not acquainted with the facts from both sides.

There can be little doubt, however, that one reason the magistrates raised the question is that the commissioners late last year refused to reimburse them for all expenses incurred in official traveling. The magistrates very probably were irked by the position taken at that time by the commissioners.

The move by the magistrates to inquire of the commissioners by "what authority and under what law" they paid expense money for trips to themselves, their attorney, the county clerk, the supervisor of assessments, assessors and the supervisor of roads, might be viewed as an attempt to "get even."

On the other hand, the inquiry might also be looked upon as a signal opening the political campaign, what with the primary election only a few months away.

Whatever the reason, there should be some satisfaction for the public to know that a watchful eye is being kept on expenditures of public money.

Radford's Optimism

Admiral Arthur Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, is confident "the French are going to win" the struggle at Dien Bien Phu. Americans, with Korea in mind, will hope his optimism is justified.

The Communist forces besieging the French fort have attacked with fanatical disregard for losses that testifies to their will to win. But the outnumbered defenders have fought back just as hard and support has been delivered to them despite the unexpectedly effective Red anti-aircraft fire. For two weeks they have beaten off every assault. Granted that they must fight or surrender, as they cannot retreat, the fact remains that they have fought well.

A successful defense of Dien Bien Phu would be a great boost to French morale, but it would be little more than a foundation upon which victory could be built.

These Days

More On April 26

Just as the war in Korea became a conflict with Red China, so the Indochina War is a conflict with Red China. Therefore, at the Geneva Conference, Red China will speak for these countries; the Peking radio already claims that Red China will speak for the whole of Asia. This, of course, is a geographical exaggeration. Nevertheless, the United States will at Geneva face a formidable antagonist who will demand full recognition as a member of the United Nations as a minimum basis for future discussions.

There will be no other issue at Geneva until the question of recognition is settled, and in this the United States stands utterly alone. To Great Britain, recognition offers hope for the vast China trade, which could mean a restoration of an Asiatic economic empire. Also the British are anxious not to force upon India an irrevocable East or West decision. To France, such a recognition could mean that the Indochina War would be settled by a truce or a peace. To Soviet Russia, it would mean the fulfillment of the conquest of China and the satisfaction of the wishes of the second most important member of the Soviet Universal State. To the United States, it can only mean the end of an adventure in international leadership that failed.

As the situation has developed, Formosa is not at this moment the issue. The leading powers are not considering Formosa's sensibilities or Chiang Kai-shek's future. The issue at Geneva will be how far the United States will go to resist recognition of Red China by the United Nations with a seat on the Security Council.

If the United Nations is adamant, threatening to use the veto or even to withdraw from the United Nations on the ground that no nation can fight its way into it, the conference will break up. If the United States adopts the view that it cannot resist its friends or a majority of the principal powers, the conference will be reduced to cutting the United States down to size in international affairs. Great Britain will then emerge as the leader of the Western European nations and the United States will be isolated.

The pattern is clear, but how to salvage anything is not so clear. Too many errors of judgment led up to this climactic conference, and those errors cannot be erased. They started at the Teheran Conference in 1943, which diverted the United States from an idealistic position based on justice and the rights of man to practical politics, which amounted to giving to Stalin what was withheld from Hitler. Practicality in time of war developed into almost abject compromise and appeasement. At Geneva, the last step may be taken—the recognition of Red China as the successor state to Nationalist China, our ally in World War II.

The new isolationism is not so repugnant to a people who are weary of constant diplomatic defeats at great cost. Never since the days of the "America First" movement have Americans generally been so apathetic about foreign affairs or so antagonistic to foreign countries. No European or Asiatic nation is today popular among the American people, unless it be Turkey. The pendulum is swinging away from nearly 20 years of excessive emphasis on foreign affairs.

The danger, of course, is war, but this our people do not recognize. The Hellbombs go off and they are only curiosities such as fireworks displays were at the beginning of the 20th Century. The failure of "Civil Defense" to arouse our people to the dangers of a war of extermination is only another evidence of their apathy on the entire subject of a prospective war. Nobody is building private Hellbomb cellars against the devastations of the future.

All this, Geneva will in some manner influence. The gathering of states could have been held at the United Nations in New York, but the decision has been to hold this conference, as so many others, outside the United Nations. It is essentially a European conference, although Asiatics will be present, in which the American delegation will have to stand alone, if there is courage left to fight it out. There may not be such courage left, particularly on the principle that a nation must not shoot its way into the United Nations.

Congresswoman Rogers May Be Third Woman Senator In History Of U. S.

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Only two women in the entire history of the United States have been regularly elected to the U. S. Senate, but now it looks as if there might be a third.

The two regularly elected senators were Hattie Caraway of Arkansas and Margaret Chase Smith of Maine. Though both were widows of members of Congress, both later were elected entirely on their own and served with distinction. Mrs. Smith, despite covert opposition from Joe McCarthy, is running for re-election this year and is almost certain to win.

Meanwhile, the dean of congressional ladies, Congresswoman Edith Nourse Rogers of Lowell, Mass., has told friends that she has decided to take a momentous step and will run for the Senate from Massachusetts.

Mrs. Rogers is a Republican and the man whom she would oppose in the primary is also a Republican — Sen. Leverett Saltonstall, distinguished Boston blue-blood who has a good record in the Senate but faces tough opposition among the Irish voters of Boston.

Irate Republicans

Word that Mrs. Rogers intends to go ahead with the Senate race has Republican leaders biting their fingernails — for two reasons:

1. Saltonstall is considered one of the more vulnerable Republicans, with a good chance of losing in the November election even if he is renominated in the primary. Mrs. Rogers would give him a tough primary fight, particularly in the Boston area where as chairman of the Veterans Committee she is a much-loved friend of the veteran.

2. GOP leaders know that the surest way to get Mrs. Rogers in the senatorial primary race is to try to pressure her not to run against Saltonstall. In fact, one reason she is considering entering the primary is because she is furious about some of the heavy-handed pressure from GOP leaders of Congress to get her to support the Eisenhower tax bill.

House Republican leaders even threatened to jettison veterans' aid bills sponsored by Mrs. Rogers if she voted to recommit the tax bill; also warned that she might "regret it" in still other ways if she persisted in her opposition to the tax bill.

GOP leaders in Massachusetts have a means of enforcing that "regret" by gerrymandering Mrs. Rogers' district. In fact, a bill was introduced in the Massachusetts Legislature some time ago by which she would lose about 14,000 Republican votes.

This discriminatory measure created such a backlash of criticism, however, that Gov. Christian Herter and other state GOP chiefs decided to pigeonhole it; and, about a week before the House voted the Eisenhower tax bill, Governor Herter told a news reporter that the redistricting measure was "dead" as far as he was concerned. However, it suddenly came back to life after Mrs. Rogers courageously voted to recommit the tax bill.

Two days after that vote, the plucky congresswoman learned that Governor Herter and his legislature leaders had changed their minds again and were pressing for adoption of a new gerrymander plan aimed solely at the Rogers district and obviously a reprisal against her tax vote.

All of which has caused the lady from Massachusetts to get her back up. And, being a heroine to millions of veterans, her political back is something to be reckoned with.

Catholic Dissenter

Father Robert C. Hartnett, editor of the Jesuit publication, "America," is one of various distinguished Catholics who disagree heartily wtih Joe McCarthy. Protestant clergymen have criticized the Catholic hierarchy for not taking a stand against McCarthy and his tactics, but the other day Father Hartnett, invited to speak at the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick in Chicago, declined because McCarthy was to be present.

He said he would not be seen on the same platform. Instead, he accepted an invitation from another group, also in Chicago.

Arriving at the place where the dinner was to be held, Father Hartnett was surprised to see a notice on the door which read:

"Robert C. Hartnett dinner — Joe McCarthy speaker."

The Catholic editor was about to retreat when someone explained that there were two Joe McCarthys and that the speaker at his dinner stood for the exact opposite of Wisconsin Joe.

Merry-Go-Round

Newsmen arched their eyebrows when the attractive secretary of health, Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, calmly lit two cigarets while testifying before the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee. There are two prominent "no smoking" signs in the committee room, but the only lady cabinet member apparently didn't see them. . . . Hard-working GOP Congressman Leo Allen frequently puts in a 12-hour day, shuttling between the House Rules Committee, which he heads, and his other office maintained for Illinois constituents. Allen also is on the Senate-House Leadership Committee, which meets weekly wtih President Eisenhower, and often presides in the House chamber as speaker pro tem in his "spare" time. . . . It requires three secretaries to type up replies to correspondence that daily pours into the office of GOP Congressman John P. Saylor from his populous (367,489) Pennsylvania district. But the conscientious Saylor personally dictates and signs all his mail, sometimes working until 10 p. m.

Administration Foreign Policy Puts Russia On Notice

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — "No more world wars?" That's the wishful query which the terrifying tests of the H-bomb has propounded but there is nothing in human experience which indicates that nations have ever been scared into peace just because terrible weapons have been invented.

After the close of World War I, the late President Wilson made speches about the awful bombing and devastation that would come if another world war were fought, and he told his audiences of the new inventions of weapons of horror—the block busters that would kill civilians—but these din't stop World War II from breaking out.

The alternate testing of the H-bomb by Soviet Russia and by the United States is reminiscent of every armament race in history. Each side thinks the other will be frightened into self-restraint and that aggression will never occur again. But it does. And the reason it does is that neither side, when it starts a little war or defends itself against a local aggression, thinks the conflict will develop into anything bigger.

No Assurance Against Use

The most conspicuous fact about today's situation in the world is that neither Soviet Russia nor the United States will want to use the H-bomb but nobody can be sure that either side will not do so if it thinks it must defend itself against the use of such a a weapon by the enemy.

The secretary of defense has said that he cannot imagine the United States developing atomic weapons and not using them. Admiral Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staffs, says that, if there is to be any limitation of armament by agreement, it cannot be on the basis of atomic weapons only and that there must be limitation on ground armies as well and on conventional weapons, too.

This is an important observation because obviously if H-bombs and A-bombs were to be outlawed or by mutual consent withheld from employment, just as was the case with poison gas in World War II, the superior strength of Soviet Russia's ground armies would be decisive in Europe.

The "new look" for America's military establishment has been predicated on the use of atomic weapons. Airpower has been strengthened on the theory that America must be able, if necessary, to carry the bomb from overseas bases and from the decks of naval aircraft carriers. If the big bombs were outlawed, it would mean a complete revision of the military setup of the United States. This, according to the President, is not contemplated.

Acheson Concept Repudiated

But, even assuming that neither side wants to start a big war, the danger is that Soviet Russia might continue to carry on the "cold war" by intensifying the war in Indochina so that it becomes a son has stated publicly his belief that America must be resigned to little wars and particularly to more wars like Korea. But President Eisenhower has, in effect, repudiated the Acheson concept. At the Wednesday press conference, the President was asked if American troops were to be deployed all around the world. He answered that he can conceive of no greater disadvantage to America than to be employing its own ground forces, and any other kind of forces, in great numbers around the world meeting each little situation as it arises.

Mr. Eisenhower added that the United States is trying to make her friends strong enough to take care of local situations by themselves with financial, moral and political aid but with military help only second Korea. What then would American policy be?

Former Secretary of State Acheson where America's vital interests demand it.

This is the most important statement of American policy that could be made at the moment. It is an authoritative pronouncement of how the United States plans to help enforce world peace. But the President was careful to point out that each case has its own degree of risk for the United States and each must be met on its merits, and he would not generalize.

Russia Put On Notice

Such a pronouncement wisely leaves unanswered the question of when America will refuse to be drawn further into a lot of local wars and will consider what can be done to cure the infection at its source. This is what "massive retaliation," as proclaimed by Secretary Dulles, could mean and, despite criticism here and there from the appeasers or the politicians who feel they must oppose for partisan reasons American military and foreign policy, the decision will stick. Soviet Russia is on notice that she cannot expect to drain American resources and those of the free world by a series of local wars like Korea without running the risk of drastic action being taken against herself as a partner in any future aggressions.

War is a terrible thing, but America is not going to follow the pacifist line and find herself eventually dragged into war anyhow. The surest deterrent to a world war is adequate preparation militarily, a resolute and clear-cut policy announced in advance to the world, and our willingness to go to war, if need be, no matter what the cost, if the enemy takes steps that really threaten our safety. President Eisenhower is a military man. He doesn't want war, but he doesn't think it can be avoided merely by hoping the devil will become a saint.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Arguments at 30 paces are shrinking and coffee and pistols for two are expensive.

You understand Dulles is keeping his own score.

How about that Argentinian-Guatemalian screech against colonialism in the Americas? Doesn't that mean any more than the fine hairs on grandma's upper lip?

We would tout Guatemala off on that extra-curricular gimmick. We had a dash of anti-colonialism hereabouts in 1776. We objected to a penny plaster on tea and wound up paying one-twenty for coffee. That's what you call the dregs of victory.

Guatemala's target is perfidious albumen of course. Guatemala has been the prime mover in all anti-business. The priming is done in Moscow.

They are pegging at England all over the world. India, Egypt, Africa and now South America. England meets the barrage of missiles by printing its maps of empire on dart boards.

AEC Invokes Censorship

By Joseph And Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

The hydrogen bomb tests that are worrying the world also render an old issue more acute than ever. How far is our government justified in hiding facts of life and death from our people?

The question must be asked, since the new chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, Adm. Louis Strauss, has quietly inaugurated a new censorship policy. The result of this new policy is to burke serious discussion of the vast problems of national policy that are raised by the terrible weapons being tried out in the Pacific. Presumably, this is also the aim.

Before Strauss took over the AEC chairmanship, this censorship policy was both liberal and sensible. A writer on atomic subjects was permitted to submit what he had written for review by the AEC. Although the AEC might dislike it for one reason or another, the article or book was automatically passed if it met one simple test.

The author had to show that all facts cited were derived from public sources, or had been deduced by analysis of unclassified information. In other words, if the author could prove that he only used facts which were certainly available to the Russian intelligence, he was free to pass those facts on to the American people, together with his conclusions from them.

In the opinion of Adm. Strauss, however, what the Soviet intelligence must certainly know is much too strong meat for the people of this country. Accordingly, he has now adopted the new system of refusing to review any article or book dealing with subjects which are, in his sole judgment, "too sensitive."

Article Refused Review

This means, for all practical purposes, that any subject which Strauss arbitrarily tags as "too sensitive" cannot be written about at all. To illustrate, the writer of a magazine article may have his list of public sources for every fact he refers to. He may not even have talked to anyone with access to classified data of any kind. But if the AEC has not reviewed what he has written, he is still liable to prosecution after publication. In addition, the magazine that accepts the writer's article is liable to an AEC injunction.

Precisely this experience has come, in the last months, to these reporters. With Dr. Ralph Platt, we did a magazine article on the air-atomic balance between the United States and the Soviet Union. This is, of course, the great life and death problem for America. Nonetheless, the article has been refused review by the AEC.

Since the first refusal of review, we have repeatedly offered to prove to Adm. Strauss and his experts that all our information has come from unclassified sources. These offers have been disregarded. Adm. Strauss did not reply that he could prove the contrary, or point to any classified data which we wished to publish. He just said that the whole subject of American and Soviet atomic stockpiles "carries the highest security classification." Review was refused because the subject as a whole was taboo.

Unfortunately for the admiral, he has no right of arbitrary and indirect censorship over publications abroad. Since he wrote the letter above quoted, the venomously anti-American English weekly, "The New Statesman and Nation" has printed an article by the notoriously fellow-traveling British physicist, P.M. S. Blackett.

Among other subjects, Prof. Blackett took up the "too sensitive" problem of atomic stockpiles. He stated that "5,000 would be a fair guess" for the number of American atomic bombs. As for the Soviet, he added, they could now be expected to have "a few hundred" bombs, and to be increasing their stockpiles rapidly.

These two estimates, which have now been given to the world by a British fellow-traveler, coincide rather closely with the estimates of these reporters, which cannot be published in this space by reason of the new Strauss censorship policy. If it is not too personal to say so, we have debated whether we might say that the conclusions we reached from published data did not differ greatly from Blackett's conclusions from published data. But this much we venture, despite the admiral.

It seems silly, but in fact it is worse than silly. When Adm. Strauss proudly announces, as he did the other day, that we now have a hydrogen bomb which can wipe out a city as big as New York, he is in fact practicing a glum deception on the American public. What he says is true, of course. But this truth about the American hydrogen bomb cannot be seen in accurate proportions, unless the truth is also told about the Soviet hydrogen bomb.

The truth about the Soviet hydrogen bomb and atomic stockpiles, the hard facts of the Soviet-American air-atomic balance, are precisely what Adm. Strauss holds to be too sensitive for public discussion. The country is left in intentional ignorance of the most important single problem that faces us. If this kind of thing goes on much longer, the ballot box will soon be outmoded.

Older Men And Women Should Be Kept In Fine Fettle

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

After Mrs. Brown took her aged father to a mental institution, I heard her say, "Medical science is responsible for this. The lives of people are being prolonged so that they live on in miserable senility. I hope I go before this stage is reached."

Mrs. Brown has reason to be upset but she is laboring under a common misconception. The young man of 20 has a greater life expectancy today than he would have had 100 years ago. But the same cannot be said of the man of 60. More people are living to age 60 but once this milestone is passed the chances of survival are no greater today than they were a century ago. A small percentage of the 60 plus always have become mentally incompetent, but the increase in mental cases today is due to the fact that the same percentage is affecting a larger number of people. The percentage of oldsters affected in this way is not mounting. In this respect, aging and mental disease do not necessarily go hand in hand.

Can mental illness in oldsters be prevented? Not entirely, but these men and women can be helped to retain their mental faculties in many ways. One master stroke is to maintain stronger family ties, which gives the aging individual the feeling of belonging and having a place in society. At this time of life the importance of good health cannot be over-stressed. I have seen instances in which an ordinary cold or a simple blader infection has made a mentally competent older person go off the deep end. Diet is important and should be individualized to meet current demands. The inactive require fewer calories and those with poor teeth or ill-fitting dentures that cannot be corrected need softer or chopped up foods.

Older men and women also must continue habits of good hygiene like bathing and shampooing; age is no excuse for untidiness. A schedule is preferred for eating and sleeping; should an oldster make radical changes along this line, he must be viewed with suspicion because such behavior may signify oncoming deterioration.

Fresh air, sunshine, and exercise are important at any age and the same can be said of adequate rest. Men and women who remain busy stay out of trouble, and hobbies like sewing, carpentry, or rugmaking ought to be encouraged. Radio and television offer many hours of amusement and sharpen the wits as well. Religion is important because it offers so many emotional satisfactions that cannot be otherwise obtained.

TOMORROW: "Gas" pains may be appendicitis.

SLEEPING SICKNESS

H. P. writes: How is sleeping sickness caught and is it always fatal?

REPLY

The type of sleeping sickness that occurs in Africa is transmitted chiefly by the tsetse fly. We do not have a true sleeping sickness in this country, but the term is used by the laity whenever an individual with encephalitis (brain fever) goes into a state of drowsiness and lethargy. There are many forms of encephalitis and those resulting from bacteria usually are transmitted from one individual to another through direct contact. The viral types of encephalitis occur as a complication in measles, mumps, or flu or are transmitted via mosquitoes. The disease is not always fatal.

SPINAL CYST

C. V. writes: If one operation for pilonidal cyst has not eliminated this annoying condition, would a second operation prove successful?

REPLY

Yes, provided the surgeon is able to remove every remnant of the cyst. This operation is more tricky than serious because if one tiny bit of the cyst tissue is left behind, the condition recurs.

BREATHLESSNESS

C. V. writes: Can the cause of shortness of breath be purely psychological? I have had this condition for many years and the doctors say there is nothing wrong organically. I am 33.

REPLY

Yes. Assuming that your physician has eliminated all the possible physical causes.

Plan A Platter For April

April is here.

So set your table to look like spring has waved her wand over it. Arrange a platter of golden salmon croquettes, capped with creamy celery sauce. Tuck a bunch of tender green asparagus at each end of the platter. For salad, either garden greens or refreshing fruit fits the spring mood.

When you make the croquettes with sauce, choose the easy way that guarantees grand results. Use condensed cream of celery soup both in the croquettes and the sauce. This makes it a Lenten special because celery soup is meatless. Or use cream of mushroom soup if meat goes on your menu.

Golden Croquettes with Celery Sauce

1 can (1¼ cups) condensed cream of celery or cream of mushroom soup
¼ cup milk
2 cups drained flaked salmon (1-pound can)
½ cup bread crumbs
1 egg, slightly beaten
2 tablespoons minced parsley
1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
2 tablespoons shortening

Blend soup and milk in a saucepan. Mix ¼ cup of this mixture with salmon, crumbs, egg, parsley, and onion. Shape into 6 croquettes; brown in shortening in heavy skillet. For sauce heat remaining soup mixture, but do not boil; serve as sauce over croquettes. Makes 6 servings.

ORANGE GLAZE

A colorful glaze for a buffet ham is made with 1 cup brown sugar mixed with juice and grated rind of 1 orange. Thirty minutes before the ham is cooked, remove rind, score and cut fat into diamonds. Spread with glaze and return to oven to complete cooking and to set the glaze.

Orange Custard Sauce

2 cups milk
2 eggs, slightly beaten
⅔ cup powdered sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
Dash of nutmeg
1 teaspoon vanilla
¼ teaspoon grated orange rind.

Scald milk in top part of double boiler. Combine eggs, sugar and salt. Stir in about ⅓ of the hot milk, then add this mixture to remaining hot milk, and cook over hot water until mixture thickens and coats spoon. Remove from heat; add nutmeg, vanilla and orange rind. Serve hot with spicy Ginger Cake or fruit. Makes about 2½ cups sauce. Serves 6.

Rhubarb Fluff

1 lb. rhubarb
1 cup sugar
1 tablespoon gelatin
1 tablespoon cold water
1 cup whipping cream, whipped

Cut rhubarb in very small pieces. Cover with sugar and simmer until rhubarb falls apart. Remove from heat; add gelatin which has been softened in the water, and stir until completely dissolved. Chill until mixture begins to congeal; then fold in the whipped cream. Turn into mold and place in refrigerator to congeal. Unmold on serving plate and garnish with whole fresh strawberries. Serves 6.

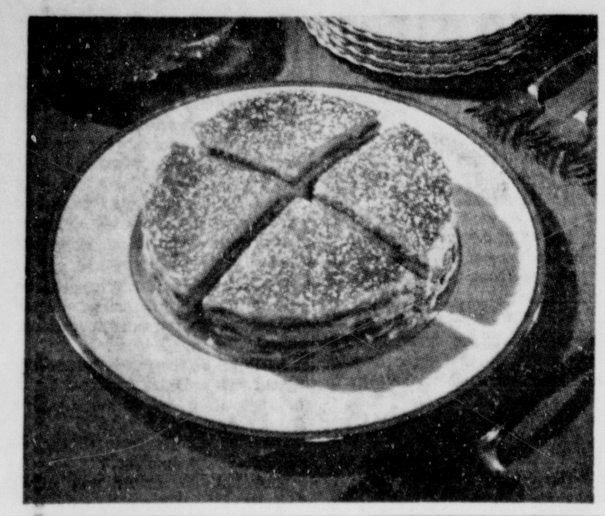
Serve Corn Meal Pancakes To Teen-Age Stay-At-Homes



Every mother knows that age serves youth, particularly when son's and daughter's teen-age friends make home their Sunday afternoon rendezvous. What to serve for supper is the frequent problem.

Economical corn meal provides a taste-tempting answer that will make home a good place to the youngsters whenever Corn Meal Pancakes are served. They are easy to make, and the boys and girls will eat stacks.

Corn meal gives pancakes a different, satisfying flavor; one that eliminates the need for the additional chore of rounding up a variety of foods to accompany them. They provide a complete meal, eliminating even the need for dessert.

And of course, corn meal pancakes are healthful for energetic teen-agers. Corn is one of the best food energy sources known to man, and its value is enhanced by the sweet milk, eggs and butter that are included in this recipe.

Corn Meal Pancakes

⅔ cup sifted flour
1½ teaspoons salt
4 teaspoons baking powder
1⅓ cups corn meal
2 eggs, well beaten
4 tablespoons melted butter
1⅔ cups sweet milk (room temperature)

(Self-rising corn meal makes delicious pancakes. If used, omit baking powder and salt from this recipe.)

Sift flour, salt and baking powder together. Add corn meal and mix well. Combine beaten eggs, butter and milk, and add gradually to mixture. Beat until smooth. Pour ¼ cup at a time onto a preheated griddle. (Modern griddles do not need to be greased, but it is advisable to rub clean after each baking with a salt bag.) Turn pancakes only once while baking. Yield: 14 medium cakes.

Weekly Market Report Helps Housewives Shop

No one needs tell today's homemaker that it takes one dollar out of every three to feed her family.

But, if someone could just tell her how to stretch her food dollars, she'd be all ears.

The University of Maryland Extension Service is doing just that. They've got a consumer education program underway in Baltimore with the main purpose of helping housewives get the most quantity and quality with the least money when it comes to feeding the family.

Right now, about 1400 families are taking advantage of the Weekly Retail Market Report issued by the Extension Service under the direction of Russell C. Hawes, Consumer Marketing Specialist. This report lists the retail price range of about every food item that can be mentioned from avacados to zwieback.

Also about 300 retailers are posting a bulletin showing fruit and vegetable items in the best supply. When the supply is up the price is usually down. The poster gives 'last minute information. Retailers who aren't receiving this bulletin might be persuaded to get on the list if housewives ask about it.

Extension also has a service for those who are getting tired of having the same old thing in the same old way. Recipes are available at the Extension office, 815 Fidelity Building, Baltimore, Md. Housewives can get on the recipe mailing list and the retail price support by writing to this address.

Choice For Lenten Menus Are Many

While beef lovers may not find this a happy situation, nutritionist Janet Coblentz, University of Maryland Extension Service, says many tasty and nourishing substitutes for meat are available.

The specialist says it's a good idea to change over from the heavy winter meals to lighter meals with less bulk. Just as we change our clothing weights and the weight of oil for the car, so we might well change our menus to fit the warmer season.

Lent is an admirable time to prepare the family palate for light meals they will eat in the summertime, says Miss Coblentz. But even with lighter meals, the body needs the same food nutrients, and that's something to consider when you plan for these lighter meals.

Let's look at the many things you can serve instead of meat. There's milk in it's many forms, all types of cheese, eggs, dried beans, peas and lentils, and the many types of fish. Miss Coblentz points out that you can look to milk for complete protein during Lent. Milk is one of the foods you can put into any course of your meal, every meal of the day. It adds protein, calcium and riboflavin to every dish in which it's used.

And these dishes are many—soups and chowders, creamed and scalloped dishes, croquetts, omelets, meat and fish loaves, in gravies and sauces. You can use milk to cook cereals and vegetables instead of water, as well as adding it to many baked foods for added flavor and nutrition.

If you're cooking with milk, you need to use a little care, says Miss Coblentz. That's because milk requires a low temperature while cooking.

Glazed Sweet Potatoes

6 peeled, cooked sweet potatoes
⅔ cup brown sugar
4 tablespoons butter

Slice each sweet potato into thirds or fourths length-wise. Arrange slices on broiler pan. Mix brown sugar and butter and spread over slices. Broil under medium heat about 7 to 8 minutes, until glazed and lightly browned. If preferred, sweet potatoes may be simmered with sugar and butter in a saucepan until glazed. Serves 6.

Quick Hot Chocolate

Meatless Menus During Lent

During Lent, many homemakers have a problem of planning meals without meat. This need not be a difficult task.

Why? Because the menu planner has a group of very helpful and healthful foods on her side. These are the dairy foods, economical, nutritious, and versatile. Protein, needed each day for growth and body repair, is found in good quantity in milk, cheese, and cottage cheese. These foods can be used in meals to good advantage as the suggested menus for meatless dinners or suppers given here will show.

Plan A Platter For April

April is here.

So set your table to look like spring has waved her wand over it. Arrange a platter of golden salmon croquettes, capped with creamy celery sauce. Tuck a bunch of tender green asparagus at each end of the platter. For salad, either garden greens or refreshing fruit fits the spring mood.

When you make the croquettes with sauce, choose the easy way that guarantees grand results. Use condensed cream of celery soup both in the croquettes and the sauce. This makes it a Lenten special because celery soup is meatless. Or use cream of mushroom soup if meat goes on your menu.

Golden Croquettes with Celery Sauce

1 can (1¼ cups) condensed cream of celery or cream of mushroom soup
¼ cup milk
2 cups drained flaked salmon (1-pound can)
½ cup bread crumbs
1 egg, slightly beaten
2 tablespoons minced parsley
1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
2 tablespoons shortening

Blend soup and milk in a saucepan. Mix ¼ cup of this mixture with salmon, crumbs, egg, parsley, and onion. Shape into 6 croquettes; brown in shortening in heavy skillet. For sauce heat remaining soup mixture, but do not boil; serve as sauce over croquettes. Makes 6 servings.

ORANGE GLAZE

A colorful glaze for a buffet ham is made with 1 cup brown sugar mixed with juice and grated rind of 1 orange. Thirty minutes before the ham is cooked, remove rind, score and cut fat into diamonds. Spread with glaze and return to oven to complete cooking and to set the glaze.

Orange Custard Sauce

2 cups milk
2 eggs, slightly beaten
⅔ cup powdered sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
Dash of nutmeg
1 teaspoon vanilla
¼ teaspoon grated orange rind.

Scald milk in top part of double boiler. Combine eggs, sugar and salt. Stir in about ⅓ of the hot milk, then add this mixture to remaining hot milk, and cook over hot water until mixture thickens and coats spoon. Remove from heat; add nutmeg, vanilla and orange rind. Serve hot with spicy Ginger Cake or fruit. Makes about 2½ cups sauce. Serves 6.

Rhubarb Fluff

1 lb. rhubarb
1 cup sugar
1 tablespoon gelatin
1 tablespoon cold water
1 cup whipping cream, whipped

Cut rhubarb in very small pieces. Cover with sugar and simmer until rhubarb falls apart. Remove from heat; add gelatin which has been softened in the water, and stir until completely dissolved. Chill until mixture begins to congeal; then fold in the whipped cream. Turn into mold and place in refrigerator to congeal. Unmold on serving plate and garnish with whole fresh strawberries. Serves 6.

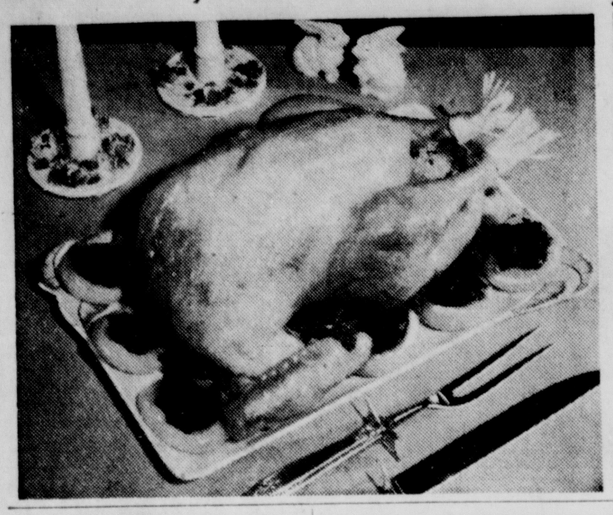
Cranberry Relishes For The Easter Table



Choose a springtime cranberry relish to serve with your roast turkey this Easter. A tulip-red cranberry relish tray can be ready in seconds for your festive table. Be sure you have some cans of jellied or whole cranberry sauce and some canned peaches; then take your pick of these sparkling cranberry combinations.

(1) Fill 8 peach baskets to the brim with this new cranberry ginger relish.

Cranberry Ginger Relish

1 pound can jellied or whole cranberry sauce
½ cup raisins
¾ teaspoon powdered ginger
8 peach halves, drained

Crush cranberry sauce with a fork. Add raisins and ginger. Chill thoroughly. Place a heaping tablespoon of relish in center of each peach half.

(2) Fill 10 peach baskets to the brim with

Crispy Cranberry Relish

1 pound can whole cranberry sauce, drained
2 carrots, grated
½ cup diced celery
¼ teaspoon mace or nutmeg
1 teaspoon lemon juice

Combine ingredients. Chill several hours before using.

(3) Fill 8 to 10 peach relish baskets (just before serving) with

Cranberry Pineapple Ice

1 pound can whole cranberry sauce
1 cup crushed pineapple, 1 small can
1 large tart apple, grated

Crush cranberry sauce with a fork. Add pineapple and apple. Mix well. Pour mixture into freezing tray and place in freezing compartment of refrigerator (set control to lowest temperature). Freeze to a mush. Serve in peach halves as a relish for the Easter turkey. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

An average serving of fish—three ounces—provides about the same amount of protein as a serving of meat.

Modern Way To Broil Lamb Chops

For finest results in broiling lamb chops cook at a moderate temperature and time broiling closely. Moderate broiling not only produces the most appetizing chops, but saves work for the homemaker because it eliminates smoking and constant watching of the meat.

Here are the steps to follow for broiling chops the modern way. Chops cut 1-inch thick should broil for a total of 12 to 14 minutes; chops cut 1½ inches should broil for 18 to 20 minutes; cut 2-inches thick, 22 to 24 minutes.

(1) Turn oven regulator to broil."
(2) Arrange chops on broiler rack 2 to 3 inches from the heat—the thicker the farther the distance from the heat. Or follow directions with your range for a moderate temperature.
(3) Broil until brown, approximately half the allotted broiling time.
(4) Season with salt and pepper.
(5) Turn chops with tongs or with tines of fork inserted in fat.
(6) Broil on second side.
(7) Season and serve immediately.

Gravy Takes To Spices

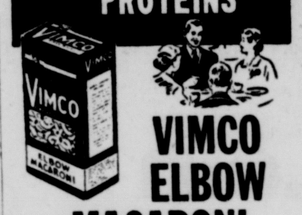
A can of beef gravy will do a lot for "plain-Jane" browned beef patties or for sliced roast beef. Each can of gravy contains 1¼ cups, a good amount of sauce for 4 or 6 servings. And you can spice up the gravy with special seasonings of your own choice. For instance, try a dish of oregano or thyme added to the gravy as it heats. Or sprinkle in a little poultry seasoning or ground cloves—or allspice. Any of these gravy sauces will give the luxury taste to everyday meats.

For best flavor, cook frozen fish promptly after thawing. You'll need to add a few minutes longer to the cooking time you allow it to thaw while cooking.

Ham-Spaghetti Is After-Easter Dish

A can or two of spaghetti teams right up with the last of the Easter ham for a noble casserole. Cut the cooked ham into long strips about 1-inch wide — so there's ½ cup or more of meat. Line sides of casserole with the ham; pour in 1 or 2 cans of the spaghetti in tomato-cheese sauce. Use garlic croutons for the topping. To make croutons, blend a little minced garlic with some melted butter or margarine; stir bread cubes in the butter until all is absorbed. Sprinkle croutons on top of spaghetti. Bake in hot oven (400°F.) about 15 minutes or until spaghetti is good and hot, and croutons are lightly browned. Serve the spaghetti with buttered aspargus and relishes of carrot sticks. For dessert, rhubarb sauce and ginger cookies.

PLENTY OF PROTEINS



VIMCO ELBOW MACARONI

baked with milk and cheese assures the entire family plenty of proteins. Serve it often for dinner as well as for lunch. It's inexpensive too.

What a woman!
Makes wonderful margarine.

June Ellen thinks bread—and—Mrs. Filbert's is the greatest! Even likes it for dessert, with sugar on top.

"It does my heart good to see how little girls love my margarine. See your own little girl eat it up."
Mrs. M. V. Filbert, Pres.

Fresh. Fresh. And so sweet! Folks say Mrs. Filbert's tastes better than any other spread—margarine or anything else. "It's because I always put that sweet, fresh flavor first," says Mrs. Filbert. It's her own recipe. So tender it spreads in one satiny glide even ice cold . . . won't tear a hole in the freshest bread. 15,000 units of Vitamin A in every pound. Cranberry Relishes For The Easter Table

Choose a springtime cranberry relish to serve with your roast turkey this Easter. A tulip-red cranberry relish tray can be ready in seconds for your festive table. Be sure you have some cans of jellied or whole cranberry sauce and some canned peaches; then take your pick of these sparkling cranberry combinations.

(1) Fill 8 peach baskets to the brim with this new cranberry ginger relish.

Cranberry Ginger Relish

1 pound can jellied or whole cranberry sauce
½ cup raisins
¾ teaspoon powdered ginger
8 peach halves, drained

Crush cranberry sauce with a fork. Add raisins and ginger. Chill thoroughly. Place a heaping tablespoon of relish in center of each peach half.

(2) Fill 10 peach baskets to the brim with

Crispy Cranberry Relish

1 pound can whole cranberry sauce, drained
2 carrots, grated
½ cup diced celery
¼ teaspoon mace or nutmeg
1 teaspoon lemon juice

Combine ingredients. Chill several hours before using.

(3) Fill 8 to 10 peach relish baskets (just before serving) with

Cranberry Pineapple Ice

1 pound can whole cranberry sauce
1 cup crushed pineapple, 1 small can
1 large tart apple, grated

Crush cranberry sauce with a fork. Add pineapple and apple. Mix well. Pour mixture into freezing tray and place in freezing compartment of refrigerator (set control to lowest temperature). Freeze to a mush. Serve in peach halves as a relish for the Easter turkey. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

An average serving of fish—three ounces—provides about the same amount of protein as a serving of meat.

Modern Way To Broil Lamb Chops

For finest results in broiling lamb chops cook at a moderate temperature and time broiling closely. Moderate broiling not only produces the most appetizing chops, but saves work for the homemaker because it eliminates smoking and constant watching of the meat.

Here are the steps to follow for broiling chops the modern way. Chops cut 1-inch thick should broil for a total of 12 to 14 minutes; chops cut 1½ inches should broil for 18 to 20 minutes; cut 2-inches thick, 22 to 24 minutes.

(1) Turn oven regulator to broil."
(2) Arrange chops on broiler rack 2 to 3 inches from the heat—the thicker the farther the distance from the heat. Or follow directions with your range for a moderate temperature.
(3) Broil until brown, approximately half the allotted broiling time.
(4) Season with salt and pepper.
(5) Turn chops with tongs or with tines of fork inserted in fat.
(6) Broil on second side.
(7) Season and serve immediately.

Gravy Takes To Spices

A can of beef gravy will do a lot for "plain-Jane" browned beef patties or for sliced roast beef. Each can of gravy contains 1¼ cups, a good amount of sauce for 4 or 6 servings. And you can spice up the gravy with special seasonings of your own choice. For instance, try a dish of oregano or thyme added to the gravy as it heats. Or sprinkle in a little poultry seasoning or ground cloves—or allspice. Any of these gravy sauces will give the luxury taste to everyday meats.

For best flavor, cook frozen fish promptly after thawing. You'll need to add a few minutes longer to the cooking time you allow it to thaw while cooking.

Ham-Spaghetti Is After-Easter Dish

A can or two of spaghetti teams right up with the last of the Easter ham for a noble casserole. Cut the cooked ham into long strips about 1-inch wide — so there's ½ cup or more of meat. Line sides of casserole with the ham; pour in 1 or 2 cans of the spaghetti in tomato-cheese sauce. Use garlic croutons for the topping. To make croutons, blend a little minced garlic with some melted butter or margarine; stir bread cubes in the butter until all is absorbed. Sprinkle croutons on top of spaghetti. Bake in hot oven (400°F.) about 15 minutes or until spaghetti is good and hot, and croutons are lightly browned. Serve the spaghetti with buttered aspargus and relishes of carrot sticks. For dessert, rhubarb sauce and ginger cookies.

Freshest. Sweetest.

What a woman!
Makes wonderful margarine.

June Ellen thinks bread—and—Mrs. Filbert's is the greatest! Even likes it for dessert, with sugar on top.

"It does my heart good to see how little girls love my margarine. See your own little girl eat it up." Mrs. M. V. Filbert, Pres.

Fresh. Fresh. And so sweet! Folks say Mrs. Filbert's tastes better than any other spread—margarine or anything else. "It's because I always put that sweet, fresh flavor first," says Mrs. Filbert. It's her own recipe. So tender it spreads in one satiny glide even ice cold . . . won't tear a hole in the freshest bread. 15,000 units of Vitamin A in every pound. Coupons good for premiums on every package. And oh that fresh taste! Eat some Mrs. Filbert's today.

Survey Accuracy Is Questioned By Catholic Editor

NEW YORK, April 1 (AP) — A Roman Catholic editor-priest today questioned the accuracy of a recent magazine survey indicating that 4,144,366 Catholics were converted to protestantism in the last 10 years.

Conductors of the survey promptly defended it as sound.

The criticism came from the Rev. Thomas J. M. Burke, religion editor of the Catholic weekly, "America." He said the survey by the Protestant interdenominational magazine, "Christian Herald," ignored scientific standards.

In an article, the priest challenged the survey's use of the figure 181,000 as the total of American Protestant ministers to which to project average numbers of conversions found in the sampling.

Father Burke said the "Yearbook of American Churches," compiled by National Council of Churches, lists 183,899 pastors for 1953. Minus Catholic and Jewish clergymen, he said, the total would be only 165,369.

"This is 20,429 shy of 181,000 already," he writes. He adds that statistics show there were even fewer pastors at the start of the 10-year period in question.

Kenneth L. Wilson, managing editor of the Christian Herald, said the 181,000 is a "reasonable figure," since the National Council's yearbook includes only 196 of the nation's more than 250 denominations.

"A large body of ministers and churches are not included in the 'yearbook' figure," he said. "The 181,000 is not far off, and in fact, is probably on the conservative side."

He said that if even 150,000 were used as the total, the number of conversions shown would have been about 3½ million. He said the magazine put the total somewhere between 2 and 5 million in allowing for possible error in the statistical tabulation showing 4,144,366.

Father Burke said the 2,219 replies received in the survey were "apparently not" gathered by scientifically established methods since the 25,000 questionnaires "were all sent to cities."

He said there was no indication that other type areas, and pastorates, were represented.

Wilson said replies came from both city and suburban areas, as well as more rural areas into which some pastors had moved. He asserted a "definite attempt was made to be quite fair in directing the questionnaires into representatively Catholic and Protestant areas."

He said the magazine noted the percentage of replies was "10 to 20 times greater" than that relied on by leading political and business pollsters.

Rev. Burke said Catholics have never denied "that large numbers of Catholics" were lost to the church during their lifetimes, and that it is quite possible this involved "hundreds of thousands" in the 10-year period.

So far as Catholics are concerned, he said, the survey "reminds us that this leakage is a very serious problem" and that Catholics who become Protestants are probably only a minor part of it.

"The most tragic thing," he said, "is the complete loss of religious faith, the complete forgetting of God. . . ."

Youth Is Convicted Of Raping Secretary

WASHINGTON, April 1 (AP) — Girardo V. De Lorenzo, 19-year-old electricians's helper, was convicted today of raping a 27-year-old Justice Department secretary at knife point in her apartment.

Sentencing was deferred by Judge Burnita S. Matthews pending a probation report. The jury did not recommend the death penalty, and maximum sentence is from 10 to 30 years imprisonment.

Counsel for De Lorenzo said they would seek a new trial. De Lorenzo testified he went to the apartment on invitation. His 17-year-old wife, who is expecting a child, broke into sobs when the jury's verdict was announced.

Survey Accuracy Is Questioned By Catholic Editor

NEW YORK, April 1 (AP) — A Roman Catholic editor-priest today questioned the accuracy of a recent magazine survey indicating that 4,144,366 Catholics were converted to protestantism in the last 10 years.

Conductors of the survey promptly defended it as sound.

The criticism came from the Rev. Thomas J. M. Burke, religion editor of the Catholic weekly, "America." He said the survey by the Protestant interdenominational magazine, "Christian Herald," ignored scientific standards.

In an article, the priest challenged the survey's use of the figure 181,000 as the total of American Protestant ministers to which to project average numbers of conversions found in the sampling.

Father Burke said the "Yearbook of American Churches," compiled by National Council of Churches, lists 183,899 pastors for 1953. Minus Catholic and Jewish clergymen, he said, the total would be only 165,369.

"This is 20,429 shy of 181,000 already," he writes. He adds that statistics show there were even fewer pastors at the start of the 10-year period in question.

Kenneth L. Wilson, managing editor of the Christian Herald, said the 181,000 is a "reasonable figure," since the National Council's yearbook includes only 196 of the nation's more than 250 denominations.

"A large body of ministers and churches are not included in the 'yearbook' figure," he said. "The 181,000 is not far off, and in fact, is probably on the conservative side."

He said that if even 150,000 were used as the total, the number of conversions shown would have been about 3½ million. He said the magazine put the total somewhere between 2 and 5 million in allowing for possible error in the statistical tabulation showing 4,144,366.

Father Burke said the 2,219 replies received in the survey were "apparently not" gathered by scientifically established methods since the 25,000 questionnaires "were all sent to cities."

He said there was no indication that other type areas, and pastorates, were represented.

Wilson said replies came from both city and suburban areas, as well as more rural areas into which some pastors had moved. He asserted a "definite attempt was made to be quite fair in directing the questionnaires into representatively Catholic and Protestant areas."

He said the magazine noted the percentage of replies was "10 to 20 times greater" than that relied on by leading political and business pollsters.

Rev. Burke said Catholics have never denied "that large numbers of Catholics" were lost to the church during their lifetimes, and that it is quite possible this involved "hundreds of thousands" in the 10-year period.

So far as Catholics are concerned, he said, the survey "reminds us that this leakage is a very serious problem" and that Catholics who become Protestants are probably only a minor part of it.

"The most tragic thing," he said, "is the complete loss of religious faith, the complete forgetting of God. . . ."

Youth Is Convicted Of Raping Secretary

WASHINGTON, April 1 (AP) — Girardo V. De Lorenzo, 19-year-old electricians's helper, was convicted today of raping a 27-year-old Justice Department secretary at knife point in her apartment.

Sentencing was deferred by Judge Burnita S. Matthews pending a probation report. The jury did not recommend the death penalty, and maximum sentence is from 10 to 30 years imprisonment.

Counsel for De Lorenzo said they would seek a new trial. De Lorenzo testified he went to the apartment on invitation. His 17-year-old wife, who is expecting a child, broke into sobs when the jury's verdict was announced.

School Improvement Needs In Grant County Outlined

Favorable Vote April 12 On Continuation Of Special Levy Will Assure Development

PETERSBURG — Dillon C. Parks, president of the Grant County Board of Education, made known to the Citizens Advisory Committee the fact that there will be no increase in taxes by continuing the extra levy for school purposes.

This levy will provide additional classrooms, improve wiring and classroom lighting in the two high schools, allow for the purchase of badly needed equipment and improve the conditions of the schools in Grant Co. The recommendations of the Citizens' Committee were accepted by the Board and set up in the call for a special election to be held Friday, April 12.

The report, as approved by the Board of Education, shows that approximately 50 percent of the money will be spent for additional rooms, 30 percent for plumbing, electrical and other general improvements and the other 20 percent for instructional equipment.

The plans, if the levy is approved by a vote of the people, call for enlarging the auditorium-gymnasium at Bayard High School during the year 1954-55.

The classroom space needed when the two upper grades of the Johnson Run School are moved to Petersburg Grade School will be constructed from a part of the proceeds, during the second year.

A room for the use of the band and that can also be used as two additional classrooms will be added to the Memorial Field House of Petersburg High School in 1956-57.

Two schools, Dorcas and Mt. Storm, are without an adequate water supply during dry seasons and to relieve these conditions is a part of the plan for expenditure for the first year.

The antiquated lighting system in the A building of Petersburg High School, which was installed when the school was built (as St. Johns Lutheran Academy) in 1920, will be replaced.

The lighting fixtures which were installed at the Bayard High School when it was built will also be replaced.

In the years since the first four rooms were built for Petersburg Grade School, the building has had one addition of four rooms, one of five rooms and an auditorium-gymnasium, and one of two classrooms, a kitchen and two toilets. The furnace in this building has had sections added to take care of part of the extra load but engineers state that the amount of radiation in the total building is now too much for the size of the boiler.

The fire marshall, in his report, has been asking that the boiler room be separated from the rest of the building. There has been one bad fire in this building and to avert future disasters, plans have been made to provide a furnace room on the outside of the present structure with a boiler large enough to adequately heat the present rooms, plus a reserve for a future addition.

Teachers of chemistry, physics, biology and general science in both high schools of the county are handicapped because these departments have very little equipment to use in teaching. The committee set up its recommendations, that part of the money be spent for the badly needed equipment in this department.

Representatives from all one and two room schools have met and made their requests for improvements. The Board has allocated a share of the funds for their needs.

The Maysville School has requested some collapsible equipment for their multi-purpose room in order that the dining room can be more quickly converted to a room for health and physical education. This request has been approved.

Class room equipment and a stoker for the furnace will be purchased for Bayard High School.

Patrons of Forman Grade School have been assured some new furniture and landscaping while Town Hill School has been promised painting of the building, concrete walk and new furniture.

All these planned improvements are contingent on the vote for continuation of the extra levy for three years. This vote will be taken Friday, April 12.

W. Va. Develops New Formula For Railway Tax

Allocation Formerly Challenged In Court

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 31 (AP)—The State Board of Public Works approved today a new formula to determine what part of a railroad's system may be alloted to West Virginia for tax purposes.

The allocation formula replaces a method used for several years but which twice was successfully challenged in court by the Western Maryland railroad—one of the five major rail carriers in the state.

State Tax Commissioner Milton J. Ferguson said the new formula generally has two benefits: it is fair to both the state and the railroads, and "We think it will stand up in court."

The approved formula generally reduces from eight to four the number of factors used in determining the state's allocation of inter-state rail systems.

Ferguson said assessment revenues based on the new formula would vary from the previous method used, but declined to say what changes it would produce in the assessment of various railroads.

Other major rail carriers in the state are Baltimore and Ohio, Chesapeake and Ohio, Norfolk and Western and the Virginian.

The four major factors of the new formula, compared with the eight previously used, are:

1. Reproduction costs of tracks and equipment, replacing two factors — road miles operated and track miles operated. This factor is to be based upon 1946 costs.
2. Gross operating revenue, replacing both gross and net operating revenues.
3. Car and locomotive miles, replacing train miles and car miles.
4. Traffic units, a combination of the previously separated ton miles and passenger miles.

Westernport Council Approves More Street Plans

WESTERNPORT—The drawings for the elevations and establishing of curb lines were discussed Wednesday evening at the meeting of Mayor Okey E. Michael and Town Commissioners with property owners on Railroad and Gay Streets.

The drawings, prepared by Philip Hartig Jr., a surveyor of Frostburg, were explained by William LaFon, street commissioner.

Mayor Michael stated no plans for the near future included the paving of these streets but hoped within two years to start some street paving on some of the unpaved streets.

Ten of the taxpayers of the streets who attended were in agreement with the plan of the city officials. They included Joseph Cataur, L. Simonelli, J. O. Bartlett, Frank Bartlett, John Smallwood, Leonard Lease, Alex Joseph, Harry Hackett, Benjamen Mamolen and Mrs. Margaret Kight.

The town will provide pipe necessary to be extended to the playground in the vicinity of Maryland Avenue run for a drinking fountain. The work will be done by the persons interested in the playground.

The town will rent forms to property owners desiring them to construct their curbs with a charge of $3 a day for the first three days and $1 a day for each additional day. The town employes will deliver and pick up the forms for that fee.

Mayor Michael stated that Mrs. Clara Sigler, Church Street, complained about water coming from the hillside running on her property.

Harry Richards, water commissioner reported after investigation of a complaint of Mrs. Ida Skidmore about water running onto her place from the property of Kenneth Clary, Spruce Street, that it was not caused from running from Clary's Place but was surface water coming from the hillside above. It was not from the town's streets, he reported.

A contract from the Keller Heating and Plumbing to install new gas heating equipment to replace the present coal furnace for $969.33 was discussed and tabled.

At the conclusion of the council meeting Mayor Michael announced that it was Commissioner Harry Richards birthday and refreshments were served in his honor.

Students Hear Health Talks

FROSTBURG — Three area doctors addressed the eighth and ninth grades of Beall High School recently on health problems of youths.

Dr. Ralph Frantz, county health doctor, spoke on general medical practices; Dr. Albert C. Cook, spoke on dental hygiene, and Dr. Walter E. Jeffries talked on the care of the eyes.

The program was sponsored by the health committee of the school, consisting of Edward Finzel, chairman, Mrs. Mildred Fritz, Miss Gertrude Williams, Thomas Blair, Joseph Martirano and John Armstrong.

The eighth and ninth grades were chosen in order to emphasize at the early adolescent age of the need for proper medical care.

Screening tests of 1,455 boys and girls which have been carried on at Beall since 1946 show that the seriousness of the prevalence of defective teeth, eyes and hearing, as well as general health problems, need to be brought to the attention of both the children and parents.

John Catlett Named Kiwanian Of The Month

Gives Talk To Club On Social Problems

KEYSER—John Catlett, Mozelle Street, a member of Keyser Kiwanis Club, was the Kiwanian of the month at the Wednesday dinner-meeting of the club in the First Methodist Church dining hall. Catlett, presently employed by the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, Cumberland, spoke to the members through long experience as a professionally trained social worker, and gave several examples of the work of the social worker in the line of duty.

He spoke of the advantages and the values to the city of Keyser and Mineral County that could be obtained through a broader social service program conducted here and suggested ideas that could bring into actual operation a working plan here.

He suggested such things as:

Reduce the case load size of workers of the Department of Public Assistance to permit them to have an opportunity to help their clients with the emotional problems which often cause them to need financial assistance, thereby reducing relief rolls.

School social workers should be qualified persons capable of dealing with emotional problems presented by students in the public school system which are beyond the capacity of the ordinary guidance teacher.

Then there is the matter of juvenile court activities. In the larger communities the juvenile court worker is on the staff of the judge, yet the worker is not necessarily interested in the legal problems as much as in social and emotional problems that cause a child to be brought before the court.

Catlett was educated in the matters that pertain to social service and was associated in the active work of facing and meeting the problems in several communities in Pennsylvania and in Virginia. In Norfolk he had to handle a number of cases where there is a broad range of activities, where it is a full time job. He referred to a number of the cases, showing how they are handled in larger communities.

Jerry Essex, Bemis, Randolph County, W. Va., member of Circle K Club, at Potomac State College, was a visitor at the club meeting and Earl Snyder, member of the Beckley, W. Va., Club, here visiting his sister, who is a patient in Potomac Valley Hospital, was also a guest.

The survey is not to determine the presence of gas or oil but the presence of the structure that could be favorable for gas or oil.

The crew is composed of several men who have arrived here with their families. The present plans call for two to three months to be spent in this area. The crew will drill approximately 25 to 30 holes per week in that time.

School Improvement Needs In Grant County Outlined

Favorable Vote April 12 On Continuation Of Special Levy Will Assure Development

PETERSBURG — Dillon C. Parks, president of the Grant County Board of Education, made known to the Citizens Advisory Committee the fact that there will be no increase in taxes by continuing the extra levy for school purposes.

This levy will provide additional classrooms, improve wiring and classroom lighting in the two high schools, allow for the purchase of badly needed equipment and improve the conditions of the schools in Grant Co. The recommendations of the Citizens' Committee were accepted by the Board and set up in the call for a special election to be held Friday, April 12.

The report, as approved by the Board of Education, shows that approximately 50 percent of the money will be spent for additional rooms, 30 percent for plumbing, electrical and other general improvements and the other 20 percent for instructional equipment.

The plans, if the levy is approved by a vote of the people, call for enlarging the auditorium-gymnasium at Bayard High School during the year 1954-55.

The classroom space needed when the two upper grades of the Johnson Run School are moved to Petersburg Grade School will be constructed from a part of the proceeds, during the second year.

A room for the use of the band and that can also be used as two additional classrooms will be added to the Memorial Field House of Petersburg High School in 1956-57.

Two schools, Dorcas and Mt. Storm, are without an adequate water supply during dry seasons and to relieve these conditions is a part of the plan for expenditure for the first year.

The antiquated lighting system in the A building of Petersburg High School, which was installed when the school was built (as St. Johns Lutheran Academy) in 1920, will be replaced.

The lighting fixtures which were installed at the Bayard High School when it was built will also be replaced.

In the years since the first four rooms were built for Petersburg Grade School, the building has had one addition of four rooms, one of five rooms and an auditorium-gymnasium, and one of two classrooms, a kitchen and two toilets. The furnace in this building has had sections added to take care of part of the extra load but engineers state that the amount of radiation in the total building is now too much for the size of the boiler.

The fire marshall, in his report, has been asking that the boiler room be separated from the rest of the building. There has been one bad fire in this building and to avert future disasters, plans have been made to provide a furnace room on the outside of the present structure with a boiler large enough to adequately heat the present rooms, plus a reserve for a future addition.

Teachers of chemistry, physics, biology and general science in both high schools of the county are handicapped because these departments have very little equipment to use in teaching. The committee set up its recommendations, that part of the money be spent for the badly needed equipment in this department.

Representatives from all one and two room schools have met and made their requests for improvements. The Board has allocated a share of the funds for their needs.

The Maysville School has requested some collapsible equipment for their multi-purpose room in order that the dining room can be more quickly converted to a room for health and physical education. This request has been approved.

Class room equipment and a stoker for the furnace will be purchased for Bayard High School.

Patrons of Forman Grade School have been assured some new furniture and landscaping while Town Hill School has been promised painting of the building, concrete walk and new furniture.

All these planned improvements are contingent on the vote for continuation of the extra levy for three years. This vote will be taken Friday, April 12.

W. Va. Develops New Formula For Railway Tax

Allocation Formerly Challenged In Court

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 31 (AP)—The State Board of Public Works approved today a new formula to determine what part of a railroad's system may be alloted to West Virginia for tax purposes.

The allocation formula replaces a method used for several years but which twice was successfully challenged in court by the Western Maryland railroad—one of the five major rail carriers in the state.

State Tax Commissioner Milton J. Ferguson said the new formula generally has two benefits: it is fair to both the state and the railroads, and "We think it will stand up in court."

The approved formula generally reduces from eight to four the number of factors used in determining the state's allocation of inter-state rail systems.

Ferguson said assessment revenues based on the new formula would vary from the previous method used, but declined to say what changes it would produce in the assessment of various railroads.

Other major rail carriers in the state are Baltimore and Ohio, Chesapeake and Ohio, Norfolk and Western and the Virginian.

The four major factors of the new formula, compared with the eight previously used, are:

1. Reproduction costs of tracks and equipment, replacing two factors — road miles operated and track miles operated. This factor is to be based upon 1946 costs.
2. Gross operating revenue, replacing both gross and net operating revenues.
3. Car and locomotive miles, replacing train miles and car miles.
4. Traffic units, a combination of the previously separated ton miles and passenger miles.

Westernport Council Approves More Street Plans

WESTERNPORT—The drawings for the elevations and establishing of curb lines were discussed Wednesday evening at the meeting of Mayor Okey E. Michael and Town Commissioners with property owners on Railroad and Gay Streets.

The drawings, prepared by Philip Hartig Jr., a surveyor of Frostburg, were explained by William LaFon, street commissioner.

Mayor Michael stated no plans for the near future included the paving of these streets but hoped within two years to start some street paving on some of the unpaved streets.

Ten of the taxpayers of the streets who attended were in agreement with the plan of the city officials. They included Joseph Cataur, L. Simonelli, J. O. Bartlett, Frank Bartlett, John Smallwood, Leonard Lease, Alex Joseph, Harry Hackett, Benjamen Mamolen and Mrs. Margaret Kight.

The town will provide pipe necessary to be extended to the playground in the vicinity of Maryland Avenue run for a drinking fountain. The work will be done by the persons interested in the playground.

The town will rent forms to property owners desiring them to construct their curbs with a charge of $3 a day for the first three days and $1 a day for each additional day. The town employes will deliver and pick up the forms for that fee.

Mayor Michael stated that Mrs. Clara Sigler, Church Street, complained about water coming from the hillside running on her property.

Harry Richards, water commissioner reported after investigation of a complaint of Mrs. Ida Skidmore about water running onto her place from the property of Kenneth Clary, Spruce Street, that it was not caused from running from Clary's Place but was surface water coming from the hillside above. It was not from the town's streets, he reported.

A contract from the Keller Heating and Plumbing to install new gas heating equipment to replace the present coal furnace for $969.33 was discussed and tabled.

At the conclusion of the council meeting Mayor Michael announced that it was Commissioner Harry Richards birthday and refreshments were served in his honor.

Students Hear Health Talks

FROSTBURG — Three area doctors addressed the eighth and ninth grades of Beall High School recently on health problems of youths.

Dr. Ralph Frantz, county health doctor, spoke on general medical practices; Dr. Albert C. Cook, spoke on dental hygiene, and Dr. Walter E. Jeffries talked on the care of the eyes.

The program was sponsored by the health committee of the school, consisting of Edward Finzel, chairman, Mrs. Mildred Fritz, Miss Gertrude Williams, Thomas Blair, Joseph Martirano and John Armstrong.

The eighth and ninth grades were chosen in order to emphasize at the early adolescent age of the need for proper medical care.

Screening tests of 1,455 boys and girls which have been carried on at Beall since 1946 show that the seriousness of the prevalence of defective teeth, eyes and hearing, as well as general health problems, need to be brought to the attention of both the children and parents.

Fort Hill High Trackmen To Participate In Seven Meets

7-Time Champs Launch Season In Winchester

Handley Meet Apr. 17; Locals Win 40 Of 53 Meets In Seven Years

Fort Hill High School, the champions of track and field in Allegany County for seven consecutive years, will participate in seven meets during the 1954 season, Coach William P. Hahn announced last night.

The schedule:

April 17—Handley Invitational, at Winchester, Va.

April 23—Dual meet with Beall High. Site to be announced.

May 14—Eighth annual Fort Hill Invitational at night, Fort Hill Stadium.

May 22—Maryland State Meet at College Park.

Among the outstanding athletes lost from last year's team were John McVicker and Jimmy Farris, co-captains; William Allen, Jimmy Long and Robert Schade.

One hundred reported to Coach Hahn for the 1954 campaign and among the experienced boys on the squad are Richard Bittner, Richard Gilpin, William Kerns, Donald McCullough, Ronald Rice, William Shinholt, William Steppe, Stanley Teets, Gene Weber, Max Smith, Donald Anderson, Robert Andrews, Jerry Landis, Kenneth Poling, Richard Brant, John Kesler and Edward Cookerly. A number of other promising thin-clads are up from the junior varsity squad.

Since the revival of the sport in 1947, Fort Hill has participated in 53 meets under the direction of Coach Hahn and the Hilltoppers have won 40 times. In 1952 Fort Hill enjoyed a perfect season, winning seven consecutive meets.

Won Five State Titles

Over the seven-year span, thin-clads from the Greenway Avenue school won state honors five times—1947, 1949, 1950, 1951 and 1952, finished second in 1948 and came in fourth in 1953. Hagerstown was the 1948 winner and Towson finished in front last year.

Fort Hill has participated in the University of Maryland meets six times and has emerged the winner thrice—1947, 1951 and 1952. The Sentinels have figured in the Handley Invitational Meet seven times and they won twice, 1948 and 1952, and finished second five other times. Hahn's teams copped the Fort Hill Invitational six years in a row before losing out to Handley in 1953.

Sandy Saddler Stops Salazar

BOSTON, April 1 (AP) — Featherweight boxing champion Sandy Saddler—due for discharge from the Army April 20—scored his third straight victory of a "warmup" campaign tonight with a seventh-round technical knockout over Augie Salazar of Oakland, Calif.

Saddler weighed 133, Salazar 139½, for the non-televised bout in Boston Arena.

The lanky champion from New York, a corporal stationed at Ft. Jay, Governors' Island, New York Harbor, had stopped Bill Bossio in nine rounds and Charley Slaughter in six earlier this year.

The bout — scheduled for 10 rounds—attracted only 1,149 fans who paid a gross gate of $2,710.

Ursuline And Red Trotters To Play For Women's Title

Finale Set Tonight At AHS; Judy Minke Racks Up 29 Points

Ursuline Academy and the Red Trotters will battle it out tonight at 8 o'clock on the Allegany High School court for the championship in the Second Annual Women's Recreation Basketball Tournament.

The Trotters won their way into the finals last night by tripping the Wrecks, 42-33, while in the second game of the semi-finals Ursuline, 1953 champion, trounced the Ridgeley Police Girls, 58-20.

Co-Rec Game Listed

Tonight's championship contest will be preceded by a Co-Rec basketball game at 7 o'clock, featuring the Ridgeley Spots and Allegany Ballistics. Each team will be composed of three men and three women, the men playing men's rules on one end and the women playing women's rules on the other. The Ridgeley team will be practically a Comer family reunion. "Ace" Comer, his wife, Mary Lou, his two sisters, Joyce and Betty, and their husbands, Dick Dorsey and Charley Bujac, will form the Spots. Paul Fisher and Joyce Poling, not related to the Comer clan, will round out the squad.

The Ballistics team will be composed of ABL employes and their wives, Rita and George Schoenadel, Walter Woodson, John and Marie Sherman, Peggy Sheehe and Ray Stoutamyer.

In the opener of last night's twin bill, the Wrecks jumped off to an early lead as Elsie McKee astonished the crowd with five straight set shots and they led at the quarter, 12-7. Jean True and Jo Ann Cavanaugh put the Red Trotters in front at halftime, 19-18. True continued her deadly assault and ended up with 19 points. Eileen Twigg chipped in with 14 while Sally Stewart excelled as a playmaker. Donna Harris was a tower of strength on defense for the Trotters. For the Wrecks, Elsie McKee carried the offensive load by dumping in 21 counters. Myrtle Manges was a ball of fire on defense for the losers.

Judy Minke Scores 29

Ursuline's superior height was too much for the Ridgeley Police Girls in the nightcap affair. Judy Minke poured 29 points through the hoop in only 12 minutes of playing time in leading the defending champions to victory. Ridgeley attempted to stop Judy by pressing her two feeders, Mary Lou Dressman and Sheila Kitzmiller, but Ursuline had too much all-around class for Ridgeley.

J. Martin led the scrappy Police Girls in scoring with nine points but Lee Saeli, Peggy Spioch and Jean Soethe put up a tight defense that wouldn't give. Coach Jeannette Leasure cleaned the bench and all 12 players joined in the assault over the outclassed but never out-fought Ridgeley team.

Rec Golf Classes To Begin Monday

The first Recreation Department Golf Class will hold its initial meeting Monday evening at 5:30 at the Fort Cumberland Golf Club on Oldtown Road.

The class will be conducted by Buddy Rice, local golf pro, and will consist of the fundamentals of grip, swing, use of woods, use of irons, and putting. Recreation Director Pence reports that the Department had many requests and that as classes of ten each can be filled, new classes will begin.

Many people who would like to learn could not take part in the present class because their time did not suit the Monday evening, Saturday morning schedule. These hours are the only time that Rice is available, but there is a possibility of holding other classes on any weekday morning if enough persons are interested. It is expected that these classes would be made up of women and shift workers.

Topping Chides Team For Poor Showing

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., April 1 (INS)—President Dan Topping chided the New York Yankees today for the poorest spring exhibition season in years as the club began trimming its roster.

Topping said he suspected the Yankees of complacency and that "maybe their winning of five straight championships has given them an idea that they can't be beaten."

The veep's criticism of the club which wound up the Florida phase of its training with a record of 8 wins, 16 losses, came after the management announced a cut of eight players, including Catcher Elston Howard and Lefthander Steve Kraly.

But rookie First Baseman Bill Skowron and Pitcher Bob Grimm will entrain north tomorrow night with the team.

Although citing Mickey Mantle's game leg, Yogi Berra's infrequent action and Manager Casey Stengel's experimentation with material as factors for the Yanks' .333 mark, Topping declared:

"It looks as if the boys are getting a little too used to success and if so, they'd soon better get that out of their heads. Although I'm not too worried, I don't like to see 'em lose exhibitions, either."

John Catlett Named Kiwanian Of The Month

Gives Talk To Club On Social Problems

KEYSER—John Catlett, Mozelle Street, a member of Keyser Kiwanis Club, was the Kiwanian of the month at the Wednesday dinner-meeting of the club in the First Methodist Church dining hall. Catlett, presently employed by the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, Cumberland, spoke to the members through long experience as a professionally trained social worker, and gave several examples of the work of the social worker in the line of duty.

He spoke of the advantages and the values to the city of Keyser and Mineral County that could be obtained through a broader social service program conducted here and suggested ideas that could bring into actual operation a working plan here.

He suggested such things as:

Reduce the case load size of workers of the Department of Public Assistance to permit them to have an opportunity to help their clients with the emotional problems which often cause them to need financial assistance, thereby reducing relief rolls.

School social workers should be qualified persons capable of dealing with emotional problems presented by students in the public school system which are beyond the capacity of the ordinary guidance teacher.

Then there is the matter of juvenile court activities. In the larger communities the juvenile court worker is on the staff of the judge, yet the worker is not necessarily interested in the legal problems as much as in social and emotional problems that cause a child to be brought before the court.

Catlett was educated in the matters that pertain to social service and was associated in the active work of facing and meeting the problems in several communities in Pennsylvania and in Virginia. In Norfolk he had to handle a number of cases where there is a broad range of activities, where it is a full time job. He referred to a number of the cases, showing how they are handled in larger communities.

Jerry Essex, Bemis, Randolph County, W. Va., member of Circle K Club, at Potomac State College, was a visitor at the club meeting and Earl Snyder, member of the Beckley, W. Va., Club, here visiting his sister, who is a patient in Potomac Valley Hospital, was also a guest.

PARSONS — The Petty Geophysical Engineers of San Antonio, Texas are in Tucker County making a seismograph survey. They are drilling holes, setting off charges of dynamite and recording the vibration of the explosion. From the recordings, the structural features of the sub-surface is determined.

The crew composed of 17 men with K. H. Amdall of Princeton, Minn., as seismologist party chief is working from U. S. Route 219 below Parsons into the Horseshoe Run and Leadmine areas extending into Red House, Md., or approximately an area of 50 square miles.

The survey is not to determine the presence of gas or oil but the presence of the structure that could be favorable for gas or oil.

The crew is composed of several men who have arrived here with their families. The present plans call for two to three months to be spent in this area. The crew will drill approximately 25 to 30 holes per week in that time.

Olson Is 7½ To 5 Choice Over Kid Gavilan Tonight

Experts Figure Bout Will Last 15-Round Limit

Middleweight Champ Will Outweigh Cuban In Chicago Title Go

CHICAGO, April 1 (AP)—Busy Bobo Olson, a tireless body thumper, was favored today to retain his world middleweight title against welter champ Kid Gavilan's flashy flurries in tomorrow night's "fight of the year" at Chicago Stadium.

The odds favoring baldish Bobo were shifting constantly due to the laws of supply and demand in a big betting fight. The most reliable figure was 7½ to 5 in man-to-man language, a substantial drop from early 2 to 1 figures.

Although most of the nation will see the 15-round battle of champions on a national television network (NBC) at 10 p.m. (EST), Chicago and a 100-mile area will be blacked out. There will be a radio broadcast (ABC).

Gavilan To Give Weight

Seldom has there been such a division of opinion among boxing men on the outcome of the fight. Only Olson's expected seven-pound weight advantage seems to tip the scales toward him.

The pick here is Olson because he is the kind of fighter Gavilan doesn't relish—a three-minutes-a-round man who feints, rolls and shuffles inside to tear away at the body.

Olson, at 25 and 160 pounds will have the age and weight edge on the 28-year-old Gavilan who expects to come in at 153 pounds. Neither has a rep as a knockout puncher and neither cuts easily. Most experts expect it to go the distance to a decision.

Use Point System

The decision, under National Boxing Assn. rules, will be given on a "must 10" point system. The winner of a round must get 10 points and the loser anywhere from nine on down. An even round is scored 10-10. Two judges and a referee, to be named at ringside, will give the verdict.

As in most title fights, the automatic eight-count knockdown rule has been waived. The fighters will be examined at the noon weigh-in at the stadium and will wear six-ounce gloves.

Gavilan and his handlers emphatically denied reports that he has a sore right hand although he did not use his right much in his last boxing drill yesterday. Many spectators thought the Keed was trying to "con" any Olson scouts into the notion that something was wrong. Olson's camp also denied rumors that he had a cold.

May Draw $360,000

The fight moved back into the headlines today after being shunted aside for a few days by the firing of Phil Cavarretta as Chicago Cubs' manager. The International Boxing Club is shying away from any talk of a sellout and is reluctant to give out any exact advance sale figures. It was believed the fight would draw about $320,000 and 17,500 people. If it should sell out, the gate would be $360,000 and 19,400 paid. Another $100,000 goes into the kitty from the TV rights.

Gavilan's record, dating back to 1943 shows 115 fights with 98 victories, 13 defeats and four draws. He has knocked out 27 opponents, including Gil Turner and Chuck Davey in title defenses. Only twice in his long career has The Kid been on the floor. Ike Williams did it in 1948 and Carmen Basilio decked him at Syracuse last Sept. 18. He never has been knocked out or stopped.

Shantz Blanks Bucs For Seven Innings

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., April 1 (AP) — The homeward-bound Philadelphia Athletics beat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 5-3, today in a flurry of ninth inning activity in which seven of the game's eight runs were scored.

Little Bobby Shantz, the American League's most valuable player in 1952 but mostly ineffective last year, turned in his best performance of the spring training season, pitching seven scoreless innings for the A's and striking out six Pirates. The lefthander also drove in the A's first run in the fifth inning.

The American Leaguers took a 5-0 lead in the top of the ninth with four runs on as many hits and a walk. Frank Thomas homered for Pittsburgh in the bottom of the inning with two men on to make it 5-3, before Morris Martin, who relieved Shantz, settled down and retired the side.

Orioles Spoil Hack's Debut

Baltimore Defeats Chicago Cubs, 6-1

SHREVEPORT, La., April 1 (AP)—Stan Hack's debut as manager of the Chicago Cubs was marred today as the Baltimore Orioles combined a dozen hits with some shaky fielding by the Bruins for a 6-1 triumph.

A cluster of three unearned runs in the second inning clinched Baltimore's sixth victory in 11 games with the Cubs.

Clyde McCullough's homer was the only Cub tally as Duane Pillette and Don Larsen, who relieved him in the eighth, combined to limit Chicago to six hits.

Orioles Sell Final Tickets For Opener

BALTIMORE, April 1 (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles sold today the remaining 7,636 tickets for its home opener against the White Sox on April 15 to a cheering crowd that gathered outside the Stadium ticket booth as early as 4 a. m.

The sale of general admission tickets was slated to begin at 9:30 a. m. but was started about 20 minutes earlier because of chilly weather.

Tickets were sold on a first-come, first-served basis. If the stadium remodeling is completed in time for the first home game, only two weeks away, the seating capacity would be 47,524. The other tickets have already been sold on a reserved basis.

Early Wynn went the first seven innings, allowing four hits, while Chakales, finishing up, gave none.

Snead Seeks Fifth Title

Top Money Is $2,000 In Greensboro Open

GREENSBORO, N.C., April 1 (AP) — Sam Snead, of late an infrequent performer on professional golf's winter trail, returns to "his" tournament here tomorrow—the $10,000 Greater Greensboro Open.

The West Virginia veteran has won the event four times, starting with the inaugural in 1938. However, in the last three years three members of the game's younger set sneaked past Sambo and his worshipping thousands in the gallery to haul down top money of $2,000.

Three years ago Art Doering slipped in for his first major victory. Two years ago Dave Douglas was the surprise winner and last spring the boys ganged up on old Sam. Doug Ford, Earl Stewart Jr., and Art Wall Jr., tied Snead over 27 holes. In the four-man playoff Stewart and Snead were still locked after 18 holes, but Stewart finally beat off The Slammer on the 19th.

All the members of that historic playoff are back in the field which is expected to reach 125 for the three-day scramble over the 6,718-yard Starmount Forest Country Club Course, a par 71 layout.

Tigers Edge Phils In 12-11 Slugfest

CLEARWATER, Fla., April 1 (AP) — The Detroit Tigers scored five runs in the eighth and two more in the ninth innings today to edge out the Philadelphia Phillies in a slugging contest 12-11.

Duke Markell started on the mound for the Phillies but was driven out with a four run Tiger spurt. Bob Greenwood relieved and pitched creditably until the eighth when a five run Detroit rally sent him to the showers.

The Detroit attack included a home run by Jim Delsing. The Phillies also were in a hitting mood with home runs by Earl Torgeson and Johnny Wyrostek. Young Ted Kazanski led the Phillies' attack with four hits, including a triple.

Redlegs Snap Nats' Nine-Game String, 4-3

WILMINGTON, N.C., April 1 (AP) —Young Corky Valentine, rookie righthander, pitched four-hit ball for Cincinnati today as the Reds snapped the Washington Senator's nine-game winning streak with a 4-3 victory.

Valentine, 24, also drove in the first Red run with a double and helped set up the second with a sacrifice. The other two Cincinnati tallies were homered in by Gus Bell and Wally Post off rookie lefthander Bunky Stewart.

The Cincinnati pitcher, the first to go the route this spring, had a one-hit shutout going until the eighth inning. Then the Senators bunched three singles, a walk and an outfield error to push home all their runs.

FRANK C. WIMER

Wimer Quits Elkins Post

Was Coach There Ever Since 1920

ELKINS, W. Va., April 1 (AP)—Frank C. Wimer, long-time figure in West Virginia sports, is retiring as athletic coach of Elkins High School. He has held the job since 1920.

Wimer has asked to be relieved of his coaching duties but will remain on the staff as instructor of physical education and health education.

He played on the first Elkins High basketball team in 1911 and also was on the squad which defeated Wheeling for the first basketball championship in 1914.

He is a West Virginia University graduate.

Wimer is well-known here and is considered the dean of coaches in the tri-state area. His basketball and football teams have played in Cumberland many times and this past season his Elkins High quint defeated Parsons High's Class A team to advance in the West Virginia scholastic tournament.

Last November Wimer brought the Elkins High football team here, losing to Coach Roy Lester's Allegany eleven 20-0 in Fort Hill stadium. It marked the fifth straight year AHS and Elkins teams have met on the gridiron.

His coaching tenure at Elkins was interrupted only during the Second World War when he was in the service from 1941 to 1945.

Holman Gets Time To Save His Job

NEW YORK, April 1 (AP)—Basketball coach Nat Holman won more time today to save his job at the College of the City of New York.

Lewis A. Wilson, state commissioner of education, blocked an order by the New York City Board of High Education that would have forced Holman to quit by Friday or be fired.

Holman appealed the order and Wilson granted the delay pending a dec

Sandy Saddler Stops Salazar

BOSTON, April 1 (AP) — Featherweight boxing champion Sandy Saddler—due for discharge from the Army April 20—scored his third straight victory of a "warmup" campaign tonight with a seventh-round technical knockout over Augie Salazar of Oakland, Calif.

Saddler weighed 133, Salazar 139½, for the non-televised bout in Boston Arena.

The lanky champion from New York, a corporal stationed at Ft. Jay, Governors' Island, New York Harbor, had stopped Bill Bossio in nine rounds and Charley Slaughter in six earlier this year.

The bout — scheduled for 10 rounds—attracted only 1,149 fans who paid a gross gate of $2,710.

Salazar, who had won eight, lost six and drawn once in his professional career, was willing, but no match for the clever titlist.

Ursuline And Red Trotters To Play For Women's Title

Finale Set Tonight At AHS; Judy Minke Racks Up 29 Points

Ursuline Academy and the Red Trotters will battle it out tonight at 8 o'clock on the Allegany High School court for the championship in the Second Annual Women's Recreation Basketball Tournament.

The Trotters won their way into the finals last night by tripping the Wrecks, 42-33, while in the second game of the semi-finals Ursuline, 1953 champion, trounced the Ridgeley Police Girls, 58-20.

Co-Rec Game Listed

Tonight's championship contest will be preceded by a Co-Rec basketball game at 7 o'clock, featuring the Ridgeley Spots and Allegany Ballistics. Each team will be composed of three men and three women, the men playing men's rules on one end and the women playing women's rules on the other. The Ridgeley team will be practically a Comer family reunion. "Ace" Comer, his wife, Mary Lou, his two sisters, Joyce and Betty, and their husbands, Dick Dorsey and Charley Bujac, will form the Spots. Paul Fisher and Joyce Poling, not related to the Comer clan, will round out the squad.

The Ballistics team will be composed of ABL employes and their wives, Rita and George Schoenadel, Walter Woodson, John and Marie Sherman, Peggy Sheehe and Ray Stoutamyer.

In the opener of last night's twin bill, the Wrecks jumped off to an early lead as Elsie McKee astonished the crowd with five straight set shots and they led at the quarter, 12-7. Jean True and Jo Ann Cavanaugh put the Red Trotters in front at halftime, 19-18. True continued her deadly assault and ended up with 19 points. Eileen Twigg chipped in with 14 while Sally Stewart excelled as a playmaker. Donna Harris was a tower of strength on defense for the Trotters. For the Wrecks, Elsie McKee carried the offensive load by dumping in 21 counters. Myrtle Manges was a ball of fire on defense for the losers.

Judy Minke Scores 29

Ursuline's superior height was too much for the Ridgeley Police Girls in the nightcap affair. Judy Minke poured 29 points through the hoop in only 12 minutes of playing time in leading the defending champions to victory. Ridgeley attempted to stop Judy by pressing her two feeders, Mary Lou Dressman and Sheila Kitzmiller, but Ursuline had too much all-around class for Ridgeley.

J. Martin led the scrappy Police Girls in scoring with nine points but Lee Saeli, Peggy Spioch and Jean Soethe put up a tight defense that wouldn't give. Coach Jeannette Leasure cleaned the bench and all 12 players joined in the assault over the outclassed but never out-fought Ridgeley team.

Rec Golf Classes To Begin Monday

The first Recreation Department Golf Class will hold its initial meeting Monday evening at 5:30 at the Fort Cumberland Golf Club on Oldtown Road.

The class will be conducted by Buddy Rice, local golf pro, and will consist of the fundamentals of grip, swing, use of woods, use of irons, and putting. Recreation Director Pence reports that the Department had many requests and that as classes of ten each can be filled, new classes will begin.

Many people who would like to learn could not take part in the present class because their time did not suit the Monday evening, Saturday morning schedule. These hours are the only time that Rice is available, but there is a possibility of holding other classes on any weekday morning if enough persons are interested. It is expected that these classes would be made up of women and shift workers.

Bowers Praises Great Comeback Of Beall Quint

250 Attend Dinner Of Frostburg Loop

FROSTBURG, April 1 — Walter L. Bowers, coach of Allegany High School's Campers, Maryland's newly crowned Class A basketball champions, described Beall High's comeback in the only game that Allegany lost this year as one of the most amazing he has ever seen, in addressing the 250 persons who assembled tonight at Salem Reformed Church at the dinner of the Frostburg Church Basketball League honoring the First Methodist quint that won the title.

The veteran AHS mentor pointed out that Beall trailed by the score of 39-18 in the third period, rallied to tie the score at the end of the regulation game and won in overtime by the score of 64-58. Allegany won 24 games and lost one during the season. Prior to the Beall defeat, the Campers had won eight in a row and after the setback AHS reeled off 16 straight.

Dr. Albert C. Cook, toastmaster, introduced Mayor Jesse Jacobs, Councilmen Perry Myers, Paul Haberlein, Arthur Thomas and William Eberly and William H. Lemmert, president of the Board of Allegany County Commissioners.

Remarks were made by Wayne W. Hill, principal, and Coaches Edward Finzel, Ray Hull and Kenneth Smith, of Beall High, and Kenneth Babcock, director of athletics at Frostburg State Teachers College.

Charles Hill presented the league's three-year championship trophy to Dale Swecker, coach of Frostburg Methodist. This trophy has been in circulation seven years and the only team holding two legs on it is St. Michael's.

Robert W. Jones presented permanent trophies to Frostburg Methodist and St. Michael's, the runners-up. Trophies also went to 10 players of the championship team, namely, Douglas Cook, William Preston, Dale Folk, Mike McLuckie, Fred McKenzie, Jack Folk, Paul Wolford, Wayne Stoops, Thomas Jacobs and Lloyd Neilson.

St. Michael's players receiving certificates of merit were Kenny Harris, Paul Nolan, Rickey Winfield, Billy Seibert, Jack Bahen, Joe Barry, Billy Shertzer, Vince Bollino, Fred Broadwater and Jim Lavin.

Pat Fram, Congregational, was presented the foul shooting trophy for turning in the top average of .527 while a certificate for high individual scorer went to Ronnie Winebrenner of Zion Reformed. Certificates also went to 17 who made the all-star teams. Eddie Truly, of Midland Methodist, was named honorary coach of the All-Stars.

The invocation was by Rev. John Bayley Jones while benediction was pronounced by Rev. Regis Larkin.

Gomez Cops Lead From Shoemaker

For the first time in more than a year Willie Shoemaker has dropped from first place in the jockey standings. Though still the leading rider in the United States the latest tabulation by Daily Racing Form shows Mexico City's Avelino Gomez at the top of the list with 77 winners to Silent Shoe's 69. Gomez who was third on the list with 39 winners at the last tally, boasts a remarkable percentage of .35 having been out of the money only 47 times in 217 races.

Yanks Release Kraly, Howard

Topping Chides Team For Poor Showing

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., April 1 (INS)—President Dan Topping chided the New York Yankees today for the poorest spring exhibition season in years as the club began trimming its roster.

Topping said he suspected the Yankees of complacency and that "maybe their winning of five straight championships has given them an idea that they can't be beaten."

The veep's criticism of the club which wound up the Florida phase of its training with a record of 8 wins, 16 losses, came after the management announced a cut of eight players, including Catcher Elston Howard and Lefthander Steve Kraly.

But rookie First Baseman Bill Skowron and Pitcher Bob Grimm will entrain north tomorrow night with the team.

Although citing Mickey Mantle's game leg, Yogi Berra's infrequent action and Manager Casey Stengel's experimentation with material as factors for the Yanks' .333 mark, Topping declared:

"It looks as if the boys are getting a little too used to success and if so, they'd soon better get that out of their heads. Although I'm not too worried, I don't like to see 'em lose exhibitions, either."

Pilney Succeeds Wolfe As Tulane Football Coach

Latter, Under Fire From Alumni, Quits

NEW ORLEANS, April 1 (INS) — Ray "Bear" Wolf resigned as head football coach at Tulane University today and backfield coach Andy Pilney was immediately named Wolf's successor.

Wolf will go to Texas Christian University, his alma mater, as an assistant to the president of the Texas school.

He had been under heavy fire from Tulane alumni for last season's poor season — the worst in the history of the New Orleans school. Tulane won one game, tied Army in a surprising upset and lost eight.

Wolf was appointed head coach at Tulane in 1952 and succeeded Henry Frnka. Wolf previously coached at Florida and North Carolina universities.

Pilney has been backfield coach at Tulane since 1946. He coached football at Chicago's Weber High School in 1936 after graduating from Notre Dame, and is a native of Frontenac, Kas.

Radio And Television

by John Crosby

But The Songs Were Great

The Ford Motor Company, almost unwittingly, really started something with their 50th anniversary program which may have been the most successful television show ever put on. Now every one is getting into the act.

John Crosby

Sunday night General Foods, apparently unwilling to wait another 25 years, celebrated its 25th anniversary with an hour and a half show on all four networks devoted to the memorable works of that incredible team—Rodgers and Hammerstein.

You could hardly ask for a more exciting prospect than an hour and a half of excerpts from such great musicals as "South Pacific," "Carousel," "The King and I" and "Oklahoma"—or even from some of the Rodgers and Hammerstein lesser works such as "Allegro" and "Me and Juliet." Especially when we were promised the original casts whenever that was possible.

However, some genius in charge of this operation decided that Rodgers and Hammerstein musicals—which are among the great show business phenomenon of all time—were not enough. So they threw in Jack Benny, Edgar Bergen and Groucho Marx to tell some jokes. And right there the show, which had promise of greatness, dissolved into a sort of Lambs' Gambol, a testimonial dinner to two very great showmen.

Rodgers and Hammerstein's music, fine as it is, is only a small part of Rodgers and Hammerstein. They are the two most consummate artists at show business in our time. They know how to establish a mood, how to build it, when to break it. They tell a story in song and in dialogue with magnificent stage craftsmanship. And what's far more important (as some one once said of J. M. Barrie), they leave you feeling good. You leave the theater, not only humming the songs, but feeling wonderful.

All of this great skill was totally absent in staging this operation. We were shown only tantalizing excerpts from the great men's works. When they were allowed to develop at some length, like the scene from "Carousel" beautifully sung by John Raitt and Jan Clayton, or the touching "Getting To Know You" from "The King and I," they were wonderful.

Or even when Mary Martin strode out in front of a curtain and sang "It Might As Well Be Spring" (which contains the passage "I'm as restless as a willow in a windstorm" which may be the finest marriage of words and music this pair ever wrote), it was still pretty fine entertainment though hardly very imaginative.

But then, just as the show started to get off the ground, there would be a little interruption—Jack Benny trying to buy a seat at an R & H show, and making wisecracks about all their money or Edgar Bergen making similar wisecracks with Charlie McCarthy or Ed Sullivan trying to make any kind of joke. Perhaps the most shocking breach of taste came when R & H were dragged out to perform a sort of parody of "You Bet Your Life" with Groucho Marx. I yield to no one in my admiration for Benny, Bergen and Groucho—but they didn't belong on this show.

And the commercials for Swan's Down—following Mary Martin's wonderfully impudent "I'm In Love With A Wonderful Guy"—were a very jarring change in mood. General Foods is to be commended for picking up the tab on such a great venture, but the commercials really let you down.

Of course, the glory of the songs remains undimmed. Almost no producer, no matter how bad, can quite take away the magic of Rosemary Clooney (the finest freshest young voice around) singing "No Other Love" or Jan Clayton and John Raitt singing "If I Loved You" or Gordon MacRae and Florence Henderson singing "People Will Think We're In Love."

But what a waste of talent!

Daily Bridge Lesson

MAYBE WORTH A TRICK

MOST of the time we are prone to consider a low singleton trump as of no value, when we are on the defense. It may, however, be the crucial card of the deal if we use it rightly. How? By taking a trick with it? Not necessarily. It may be played, perhaps, on a trick of some other suit and maybe oblige the declarer to hurt his situation when he has to overruff on it. On rare occasions that may establish a trump trick for your partner, who has an honor that otherwise is inadequately guarded. Perhaps the high card you trump may even be your partner's ace.

	♠ A Q 7 5 4 ♥ 10 9 6 ♦ 10 9 3 2 ♣ Q
♠ 8 3 ♥ A K Q 7 5 2 ♦ J 8 7 ♣ J 9	N W E S	♠ J 10 6 2 ♥ 8 3 ♦ 6 ♣ 10 7 5 4 3 2
	♠ K 9 ♥ J 4 ♦ A K Q 5 4 ♣ A K 8 6

(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♦	1 ♥	1 ♠	Pass
2 ♣	2 ♥	2 ♠	Pass
3 ♦	Pass	4 ♦	Pass
5 ♦

East hardly paid any attention at all to the play, feeling his hand was of no consequence. He followed suit lackadaisically as his partner scored the heart K and Q, then discarded a club on the A, which South ruffed with the diamond 4. The diamond A, K and Q then cleared trumps, the spade K, A and Q were used for a discard of the club 6, the club Q was taken, the spade 5 ruffed, and the contract was completed by the club A and K.

A keenly perceptive West then told East he could have beaten the contract by proper play.

"Me!" ejaculated that individual. "Why I never had the lead and never had the ghost of a chance to take a trick."

"Right," said West. "But suppose you had trumped my ace of hearts, with your six of diamonds. That would have compelled South to use one of his honors in order to take the trick. When he did that, he would have established my jack for the setting trick.

(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

Olson Is 7½ To 5 Choice Over Kid Gavilan Tonight

Experts Figure Bout Will Last 15-Round Limit

Middleweight Champ Will Outweigh Cuban In Chicago Title Go

CHICAGO, April 1 (AP)—Busy Bobo Olson, a tireless body thumper, was favored today to retain his world middleweight title against welter champ Kid Gavilan's flashy flurries in tomorrow night's "fight of the year" at Chicago Stadium.

The odds favoring baldish Bobo were shifting constantly due to the laws of supply and demand in a big betting fight. The most reliable figure was 7½ to 5 in man-to-man language, a substantial drop from early 2 to 1 figures.

Although most of the nation will see the 15-round battle of champions on a national television network (NBC) at 10 p.m. (EST), Chicago and a 100-mile area will be blacked out. There will be a radio broadcast (ABC).

Gavilan To Give Weight

Seldom has there been such a division of opinion among boxing men on the outcome of the fight. Only Olson's expected seven-pound weight advantage seems to tip the scales toward him.

The pick here is Olson because he is the kind of fighter Gavilan doesn't relish—a three-minutes-around man who feints, rolls and shuffles inside to tear away at the body.

Olson, at 25 and 160 pounds will have the age and weight edge on the 28-year-old Gavilan who expects to come in at 153 pounds. Neither has a rep as a knockout puncher and neither cuts easily. Most experts expect it to go the distance to a decision.

Use Point System

The decision, under National Boxing Assn. rules, will be given on a "must 10" point system. The winner of a round must get 10 points and the loser anywhere from nine on down. An even round is scored 10-10. Two judges and a referee, to be named at ringside, will give the verdict.

As in most title fights, the automatic eight-count knockdown rule has been waived. The fighters will be examined at the stadium and will wear six-ounce gloves.

Gavilan and his handlers emphatically denied reports that he has a sore right hand although he did not use his right much in his last boxing drill yesterday. Many spectators thought the Keed was trying to "con" any Olson scouts into the notion that something was wrong. Olson's camp also denied rumors that he had a cold.

May Draw $360,000

The fight moved back into the headlines today after being shunted aside for a few days by the firing of Phil Cavarretta as Chicago Cubs' manager. The International Boxing Club is shying away from any talk of a sellout and is reluctant to give out any exact advance sale figures. It was believed the fight would draw about $320,000 and 17,500 people. If it should sell out, the gate would be $360,000 and 19,400 paid. Another $100,000 goes into the kitty from the TV rights.

Gavilan's record, dating back to 1943 shows 115 fights with 98 victories, 13 defeats and four draws. He has knocked out 27 opponents, including Gil Turner and Chuck Davey in title defenses. Only twice in his long career has The Kid been on the floor. Ike Williams did it in 1948 and Carmen Basilio decked him at Syracuse last Sept. 18. He never has been knocked out or stopped.

Clash For 160-Pound Title At Chicago

Athletics Beat Pittsburgh, 5-3

Shantz Blanks Bucs For Seven Innings

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., April 1 (AP) — The homeward-bound Philadelphia Athletics beat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 5-3, today in a flurry of ninth inning activity in which seven of the game's eight runs were scored.

Little Bobby Shantz, the American League's most valuable player in 1952 but mostly ineffective last year, turned in his best performance of the spring training season, pitching seven scoreless innings for the A's and striking out six Pirates. The lefthander also drove in the A's first run in the fifth inning.

The American Leaguers took a 5-0 lead in the top of the ninth with four runs on as many hits and a walk. Frank Thomas homered for Pittsburgh in the bottom of the inning with two men on to make it 5-3, before Morris Martin, who relieved Shantz, settled down and retired the side.

Orioles Spoil Hack's Debut

Baltimore Defeats Chicago Cubs, 6-1

SHREVEPORT, La., April 1 (AP)—Stan Hack's debut as manager of the Chicago Cubs was marred today as the Baltimore Orioles combined a dozen hits with some shaky fielding by the Bruins for a 6-1 triumph.

A cluster of three unearned runs in the second inning clinched Baltimore's sixth victory in 11 games with the Cubs.

Clyde McCullough's homer was the only Cub tally as Duane Pillette and Don Larsen, who relieved him in the eighth, combined to limit Chicago to six hits.

Orioles Sell Final Tickets For Opener

BALTIMORE, April 1 (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles sold today the remaining 7,636 tickets for its home opener against the White Sox on April 15 to a cheering crowd that gathered outside the Stadium ticket booth as early as 4 a. m.

The sale of general admission tickets was slated to begin at 9:30 a. m. but was started about 20 minutes earlier because of chilly weather.

Tickets were sold on a first-come, first-served basis. If the stadium remodeling is completed in time for the first home game, only two weeks away, the seating capacity would be 47,524. The other tickets have already been sold on a reserved basis.

Cleveland Shuts Out New York Giants, 3-0

BEAUMONT, Texas, April 1 (AP) — The Cleveland Indians received shutout pitching from Early Wynn and Bob Chakales and defeated the New York Giants 3-0 today.

Snead Seeks Fifth Title

Top Money Is $2,000 In Greensboro Open

GREENSBORO, N.C., April 1 (AP) — Sam Snead, of late an infrequent performer on professional golf's winter trail, returns to "his" tournament here tomorrow—the $10,000 Greater Greensboro Open.

The West Virginia veteran has won the event four times, starting with the inaugural in 1938. However, in the last three years three members of the game's younger set sneaked past Sambo and his worshipping thousands in the gallery to haul down top money of $2,000.

Three years ago Art Doering slipped in for his first major victory. Two years ago Dave Douglas was the surprise winner and last spring the boys ganged up on old Sam. Doug Ford, Earl Stewart Jr., and Art Wall Jr., tied Snead over 27 holes. In the four-man playoff Stewart and Snead were still locked after 18 holes, but Stewart finally beat off The Slammer on the 19th.

All the members of that historic playoff are back in the field which is expected to reach 125 for the three-day scramble over the 6,718-yard Starmount Forest Country Club Course, a par 71 layout.

Tigers Edge Phils In 12-11 Slugfest

CLEARWATER, Fla., April 1 (AP) — The Detroit Tigers scored five runs in the eighth and two more in the ninth innings today to edge out the Philadelphia Phillies in a slugging contest 12-11.

Duke Markell started on the mound for the Phillies but was driven out with a four run Tiger spurt. Bob Greenwood relieved and pitched creditably until the eighth when a five run Detroit rally sent him to the showers.

The Detroit attack included a home run by Jim Delsing. The Phillies also were in a hitting mood with home runs by Earl Torgeson and Johnny Wyrostek. Young Ted Kazanski led the Phillies' attack with four hits, including a triple.

Redlegs Snap Nats' Nine-Game String, 4-3

WILMINGTON, N.C., April 1 (AP) —Young Corky Valentine, rookie righthander, pitched four-hit ball for Cincinnati today as the Reds snapped the Washington Senator's nine-game winning streak with a 4-3 victory.

Valentine, 24, also drove in the first Red run with a double and helped set up the second with a sacrifice. The other two Cincinnati tallies were homered in by Gus Bell and Wally Post off rookie lefthander Bunky Stewart.

The Cincinnati pitcher, the first to go the route this spring, had a one-hit shutout going until the eighth inning. Then the Senators bunched three singles, a walk and an outfield error to push home all their runs.

FRANK C. WIMER

Wimer Quits Elkins Post

Was Coach There Ever Since 1920

ELKINS, W. Va., April 1 (AP)—Frank C. Wimer, long-time figure in West Virginia sports, is retiring as athletic coach of Elkins High School. He has held the job since 1920.

Wimer has asked to be relieved of his coaching duties but will remain on the staff as instructor of physical education and health education.

He played on the first Elkins High basketball team in 1911 and also was on the squad which defeated Wheeling for the first basketball championship in 1914.

He is a West Virginia University graduate.

Wimer is well-known here and is considered the dean of coaches in the tri-state area. His basketball and football teams have played in Cumberland many times and this past season his Elkins High quint defeated Parsons High's Class A team to advance in the West Virginia scholastic tournament.

Last November Wimer brought the Elkins High football team here, losing to Coach Roy Lester's Allegany eleven 20-0 in Fort Hill stadium. It marked the fifth straight year AHS and Elkins teams have met on the gridiron.

His coaching tenure at Elkins was interrupted only during the Second World War when he was in the service from 1941 to 1945.

Holman Gets Time To Save His Job

NEW YORK, April 1 (AP)—Basketball coach Nat Holman won more time today to save his job at the College of the City of New York.

Lewis A. Wilson, state commissioner of education, blocked an order by the New York City Board of High Education that would have forced Holman to quit by Friday or be fired.

Big Newk Scores Over Braves, 8-7

9,287 See Dodgers Triumph At Mobile

MOBILE, Ala., April 1 (AP)—Big Don Newcombe allowed only six hits in seven innings today as the Brooklyn Dodgers won their second straight game over the Milwaukee Braves 8-7 before an overflow crowd of 9,287.

Newcombe let up in the third inning when Bill Bruton connected for a home run and again in the sixth as Milwaukee scored twice on infield singles by Del Crandall and Bruton, two walks and a wild pitch.

Otherwise the big righthander was superb. It was the first time he had gone seven innings since his return from service.

Newcombe retired seven straight batters between a single by Danny O'Connell in the first and the homer. Then he set down six more in a row before encountering his only trouble in the sixth.

Milwaukee also started its GI hope, Chet Nichols, the youthful southpaw, who led the National League in earned runs in 1951.

After giving up three hits in two innings, Nichols encountered a wild spell in the third. He walked Junior Gilliam and Pee Wee Reese with one out. Duke Snider singled home the first run of the game and Jackie Robinson was intentionally passed to fill the bases. Passes to Roy Campanella and Gil Hodges forced in two more runs. Jim Wilson relieved the southpaw and a single by Don Hoak made it a 5-run inning.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, April 1 (INS)—Don't drop dead when I tell you that June Allyson will be opposite Jose Ferrer in "The Shrike," Junie playing the fiendish wife who drives her husband to the insane asylum!

I say don't be surprised (even though this is definitely off-beat casting for Junie), because the Broadway play will undergo some sweetness and light changes in its adaptation to the screen at Universal-International.

Even Ferrer, who created the husband role on Broadway and directed the play, admits it can stand toning down from the unrelieved horror of the stage theme.

Well, Mona gets her wish. With Janet Leigh, who is still limping from an accident in which she hurt her leg, she plays opposite Robert Taylor in "Rouge Cop." Roy Rowland, who was with MGM for years before he started free lancing, will direct this interesting threesome.

When Audrey Hepburn goes to England to keep her contract with the British company, Mel Ferrer will not be far behind. He has been signed by Documento Films for a picture in Italy.

I'm told the story that lures Ferrer to Rome is a Nobel Prize winner novel called "The Mother." He is to report in Italy on July 5, and that's about the time Audrey will be leaving.

I felt very sorry for Corinne Calvet when I talked with her. She has been heartbroken over her divorce from John Bromfield. She has been considered a frothy girl, who didn't care much about anything but dancing and having a good time. But underneath all that she sincerely loved Bromfield.

They separated several times and then went back to each other. Corinne once told me she would never love anybody as much as she loved John.

What happens in the privacy of a home only the two people concerned know. They were very much in love, and all of a sudden it was all over.

Jacques Ernas, the Italian actor who's playing Paris in "Helen of Troy," is one of Rome's most eligible bachelors. But his current romance is Xenia Valderi, the Italian star.

Tay Garnett writes from Spain that he and his wife, Mari Aldon, are on a honeymoon and are roughing their way across Europe in a new Jaguar. Not bad.

Clark Gable turned down $350,000 offered him to star in "The Gunman" for Mort Briskin and Jim Stacey. I don't believe Clark's in a hurry to go to work.

Mollie and Charlie Berns certainly know how to give parties. Theirs started at 7:00 and went on and on and on. Just everybody was there.

Last night Valerie and Donald Nelson entertained for the 21'ers. Both Charlie and Mollie will need a rest cure.

Max Rabinoff says he's been injured by misstatements that Sol Hurok brought Pavlova to the United States on her first tour here. Rabinoff said it was he who brought the great dancer to this country. Rabinoff says he's preparing a book on Pavlova and wants the matter set right.

Valentina Cortesa goes into "Ondine," creating in Italy the same role Audrey Hepburn is doing on Broadway.

Must be spring, because the sponsors have decided to give Marie Wilson a serious romance in her "My Friend Irma" Show, and the boy who will court Irma is Brad Dexter.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

High French military officials have appealed to Vietminh leaders to agree to the evacuation of the wounded from the Dienbienphu area. (International Radiophoto)

Plan your wardrobe by the sensible A-B-C rule given today; make every costume a complete one!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

This is a time of year when every woman's wardrobe wants refurbishing. That can be an expensive matter, if you rush out to buy the first dress or hat that strikes your fancy. If you shop sensibly, though, you can possess a wealthy wardrobe at a budget price.

The Powers Girls have an A-B-C shopping rule that makes wonderfully good sense: Appraise your wearing habits, your best colors and lines. Build from a basic color scheme, accenting with accessories. Consider your wardrobe as a whole, what will mix and what will match, before you purchase one single thing.

If you follow these suggestions, you are not likely to go astray with a bargain that's no bargain at all.

Costume Look

The total look is what counts, not just the handsome handbag or the interesting shoes. It is disappointing to find, too late, that individual items achieve only pandemonium when brought together.

Few women can afford the luxury of wardrobe mistakes like the lovely blouse that won't go with a thing, the hat that is chic with one costume only, the one-occasion dress, or the dress that requires all new accessories. No one item may be a major expenditure, but it is pure waste of money if the addition isn't right with your wardrobe.

To look well in any ensemble, you must feel right in it, too. Your favorite salesgirl or your best friend may try to talk you into buying a hat or a dress that isn't your style. If it isn't, don't let yourself be stampeded into buying it.

Remember that each costume must be a complete one. If you select a dress with princess line (a top fashion silhouette for spring) by all means buy the proper foundation garments to wear with it. Otherwise the effect, at any price, will be a debit instead of an asset in your closet.

Consider Maintenance

When you are purchasing any item of apparel, consider its upkeep. Note the manufacturer's suggestion for cleaning or laundering. Whether your public appearances are limited, or you are daily in the public eye, you can't afford wilted clothing, run-over heels, or "tired" accessories.

It is not the original cost of dress or accessory that determines how you look. More important is the balance between the dollars you spend and the clothes you buy—after careful planning.

Burlington Residents Recognize Long Service Of Town Postmistress

BURLINGTON — Mrs. Louis E. Bumphrey, postmistress at the local post office, completed 36 years in that office Wednesday. She began working as postmistress at Burlington on February 14, 1918, under Postmaster General Albert S. Burleson and since then served under nine successive postmasters general.

Mrs. Bumphrey was honored by the residents of the Burlington area Tuesday in a reception and was given a beautiful corsage, two table lamps and a set of luggage.

Stock Market Again Moves Into High Ground For Year

NEW YORK, April 1 (AP) — The Stock Market advanced in a substantial manner today and for the second straight session moved into new high ground for the year.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks gained 80 cents at $117.80, highest level for the average since May 14 of 1930.

At the close the aircrafts were off around a point at the outside, but the market as a whole was in excellent shape with gains running to between 1 and 3 points at the best.

Chemicals performed well, and also higher were the railroads, oils, steels, motors, coppers, air lines, mail order shares, and utilities.

The industrial component of the average went to a new high of $158.60, up $1.40 and the utility component also hit a new high of $58.90 up 20 cents. The railroads did fairly well with a gain of 50 cents at $84.80, but they are still under their best of the year. It was strength in the railroads yesterday that provided a major boost to the market.

The market was broader than usual with 1,194 individual issues traded of which 649 advances and 292 declined with 122 new highs and 7 new lows for the year registered.

Radio And Television

by John Crosby

But The Songs Were Great

The Ford Motor Company, almost unwittingly, really started something with their 50th anniversary program which may have been the most successful television show ever put on. Now every one is getting into the act.

John Crosby

Sunday night General Foods, apparently unwilling to wait another 25 years, celebrated its 25th anniversary with an hour and a half show on all four networks devoted to the memorable works of that incredible team—Rodgers and Hammerstein.

You could hardly ask for a more exciting prospect than an hour and a half of excerpts from such great musicals as "South Pacific," "Carousel," "The King and I" and "Oklahoma"—or even from some of the Rodgers and Hammerstein lesser works such as "Allegro' and "Me and Juliet." Especially when we were promised the original casts whenever that was possible.

However, some genius in charge of this operation decided that Rodgers and Hammerstein musicals—which are among the great show business phenomenon of all time—were not enough. So they threw in Jack Benny, Edgar Bergen and Groucho Marx to tell some jokes. And right there the show, which had promise of greatness, dissolved into a sort of Lambs' Gambol, a testimonial dinner to two very great showmen.

Rodgers and Hammerstein's music, fine as it is, is only a small part of Rodgers and Hammerstein. They are the two most consummate artists at show business in our time. They know how to establish a mood, how to build it, when to break it. They tell a story in song and in dialogue with magnificent stage craftsmanship. And what's far more important (as some one once said of J. M. Barrie), they leave you feeling good. You leave the theater, not only humming the songs, but feeling wonderful.

All of this great skill was totally absent in staging this operation. We were shown only tantalizing excerpts from the great men's works. When they were allowed to develop at some length, like the scene from "Carousel" beautifully sung by John Raitt and Jan Clayton, or the touching "Getting To Know You" from "The King and I," they were wonderful.

Or even when Mary Martin strode out in front of a curtain and sang "It Might As Well Be Spring" (which contains the passage "I'm as restless as a willow in a windstorm" which may be the finest marriage of words and music this pair ever wrote), it was still pretty fine entertainment though hardly very imaginative.

But then, just as the show started to get off the ground, there would be a little interruption—Jack Benny trying to buy a seat at an R & H show, and making wisecracks about all their money or Edgar Bergen making similar wisecracks with Charlie McCarthy or Ed Sullivan trying to make any kind of joke. Perhaps the most shocking breach of taste came when R & H were dragged out to perform a sort of parody of "You Bet Your Life" with Groucho Marx. I yield to no one in my admiration for Benny, Bergen and Groucho—but they didn't belong on this show.

And the commercials for Swan's Down — following Mary Martin's wonderfully impudent "I'm In Love With A Wonderful Guy"—were a very jarring change in mood. General Foods is to be commended for picking up the tab on such a great venture, but the commercials really let you down.

Of course, the glory of the songs remains undimmed. Almost no producer, no matter how bad, can quite take away the magic of Rosemary Clooney (the finest freshest young voice around) singing "No Other Love" or Jan Clayton and John Raitt singing "If I Loved You" or Gordon MacRae and Florence Henderson singing "People Will Think We're In Love."

But what a waste of talent!

MAYBE WORTH A TRICK

MOST of the time we are prone to consider a low singleton trump as of no value, when we are on the defense. It may, however, be the crucial card of the deal if we use it rightly. How? By taking a trick with it? Not necessarily. It may be played, perhaps, on a trick of some other suit and maybe oblige the declarer to hurt his situation when he has to overruff on it. On rare occasions that may establish a trump trick for your partner, who has an honor that otherwise is inadequately guarded. Perhaps the high card you trump may even be your partner's ace.

	♠ A Q 7 5 4 ♥ 10 9 6 ♦ 10 9 3 2 ♣ Q
♠ 8 3 ♥ A K Q 7 5 2 ♦ J 8 7 ♣ J 9	N W E S	♠ J 10 6 2 ♥ 8 3 ♦ 6 ♣ 10 7 5 4 3 2
	♠ K 9 ♥ J 4 ♦ A K Q 5 4 ♣ A K 8 6

(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	1 ♥	1 ♠	Pass
2 ♣	2 ♥	2 ♠	Pass
3 ♦	Pass	4 ♦	Pass
5 ♦

East hardly paid any attention at all to the play, feeling his hand was of no consequence. He followed suit lackadaisically as his partner scored the heart K and Q, then discarded a club on the A, which South ruffed with the diamond 4. The diamond A, K and Q then cleared trumps, the spade K, A and Q were used for a discard of the club 6, the club Q was taken, the spade 5 ruffed, and the contract was completed by the club A and K.

A keenly perceptive West then told East he could have beaten the contract by proper play.

"Me!" ejaculated that individual. "Why I never had the lead and never had the ghost of a chance to take a trick."

"Right," said West. "But suppose you had trumped my ace of hearts, with your six of diamonds. That would have compelled South to use one of his honors in order to take the trick. When he did that, he would have established my jack for the setting trick.

West of course was right. East should have trumped his partner's ace.

What is the right way for East to play at 7-Hearts after the diamond K lead?

Ridgeley Water Supply Line To Be Discussed

Larger Pipe Must Span Potomac

Plans for stringing a new water supply line across the Potomac River when the new Cumberland-Ridgeley bridge is constructed will be discussed by the Mayor and Council of Ridgeley next Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

Mayor W. D. Bidinger of Ridgeley yesterday afternoon said the problem of financing the project, which will cost up to $5,000, will be taken up at the meeting.

Mayor Bidinger, J. H. Simmons, town advisor, and W. L. Preaskorn, C. H. Fryer and Harry F. Kelso, town councilmen, yesterday conferred in City Hall with C. R. Nuzum, city engineer, and S. K. Carroll, city plumber, on the project.

City To Do Part

City officials informed the Ridgeley delegation that the Water Department will provide a new line running from Cherry Alley to the first abutment of the bridge, but that Ridgeley will have to pay the cost of extending the line the rest of the way.

There was an informal agreement that the new line should be of 10-inch diameter to provide better fire protection facilities and take care of expansion in the Ridgeley area.

There are two possibilities on the methods of laying the line, to have the Cumberland Water Department do the work and bill Ridgeley, or to have the bridge contractor do the work when the steel span is being erected.

Must Decide Soon

An early decision is necessary, the group agreed, since it will take several months to secure the needed pipe, and the steel for the bridge is to begin arriving here early in August.

Nuzum said the contractor expects to have the steel superstructure erected within six weeks after the steel is placed on the job.

At present, Ridgeley gets its water from Cumberland through an eight-inch cast iron pipe laid below the pavement of the old Blue Bridge. The Corps of Engineers plans to demolish the span as soon as the new interstate bridge is completed.

Mayor Bidinger declined to make an immediate commitment on the pipe line, saying it needed further study. The main question, he said, is:

"Where will you get the $5,000?"

Hughes Files For House Seat

George R. Hughes Jr., local attorney, yesterday filed officially as a candidate for the House of Delegates subject to the June 28 Republican primary election.

By filing with the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors his certificate and $25 fee along with his oath that he belongs to no subversive organization, Hughes became the eighth candidate officially in the GOP race for the six seats in the House of Delegates from this county.

Others who have filed include three of the incumbents, Charles M. See, Lester B. Reed and Fred B. Driscoll. See and Driscoll are Cumberlanders and Reed lives near Mt. Savage. Others in the race are Robert Lee Jeffrey, Lonaconing; Mrs. Margaret E. Spioch, this city; Harold B. Brooks, Narrows Park, and Alvin H. Rankin, Frostburg.

Two other Frostburgers, Walter J. Patterson and Noel Speir Cook, another incumbent, have announced they will run but have not filed.

Altogether there are 27 candidates in various county races and all of them are Republicans. Among them are five for the three positions as county commissioners, three incumbent Orphans Court judges, three for county treasurer, three for Republican State Central Committee, two for register of wills and the incumbent sheriff, clerk of Circuit Court and clerk to the county commissioners. Filing deadline is Monday, April 19.

THOMAS H. BURKE

Thomas H. Burke, Former Theatre Operator, Dies

Prominent Citizen Here Since 1913

Thomas H. Burke, 86, of 122 Greene Street, well-known former theatre owner, died last night at 6:45 at his residence. He had been in failing health for some time.

Mr. Burke came to Cumberland in 1913 from Clarksburg, W. Va., and was in the wholesale and retail liquor business here before starting in the theatre business in 1919.

He bought the Empire Theatre, which later became the old Capitol Theatre on Baltimore Street, in 1919, running the theatre until it burned several years later. He bought the Liberty Theatre in 1922, and with his sons, Charles J. Burke and Daniel P. Burke, ran the Liberty Street movie palace until June 1944 when the theatre was sold to its present owners, the Schine Theatres chain.

Mr. Burke also took over the operation of the old Maryland Theatre on North Mechanic Street in March of 1932, renaming the theatre the Burke Theatre.

The Burke Theatre was sold to the late Mrs. Grace M. Fisher in 1936 and Mrs. Fisher returned the amusement house's former name, Maryland Theatre, which it still retains.

Mr. Burke was a member of Clarksburg B.P.O. Elks lodge 482, a membership which he held for over 50 years. He also belonged to the Past Exalted Rulers Association of Elks of West Virginia.

He was born in Walker Station, W. Va., January 4, 1868, a son of the late Patrick and Nancy (Hamrick) Burke. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Rita V. (Gellner) Burke; two sisters, Mrs. Stella O'Leary and Mrs. Loretta Eveland, both of Chillicothe, Ohio; four children by a former wife, Mrs. Laura R. (O'Donnell) Burke, who died in 1932, Daniel P. and Charles J., both of Cumberland; Hugh E. of Hempstead, Long Island, N. Y.; and Sister M. Laurana of the Sacred Heart Mission, Camden, Miss.

He also was a member of the SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church where funeral services will be held Monday morning. Interment will be in the church cemetery.

The body is at Stein's Funeral Home.

Pence Commends Kiwanis Plan To Boost City

City Recreation Director Robert E. Pence yesterday commended the Cumberland Kiwanis Club in its move to become the "bellwether" of a program to get people to "talk up Cumberland."

Pence was the speaker at yesterday's regular Kiwanis meeting. He offered any support his department could provide to stimulate the campaign.

Next Thursday, Lewyn C. Davis, retiring president of the Cumberland Rotary Club, will address the Kiwanians. They hope to get him to promote the program through his club.

Auto Wrecked In Fatal Crash Figures In Suit

A $2,500 suit for damages to an automobile which was demolished in an accident which cost the life of a Fort Hill High School boy was filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court.

The suit was filed by James D. McGregor, 511 Louisiana Avenue, for his own use and the use of Motors Insurance Corporation, against Harris Motor Express, Inc., 804 Lafayette Avenue.

McGregor's car, driven by his son, George, was demolished in a collision with a Harris Motor Express truck July 1, 1952, along State Route 51 five miles east of Oldtown, according to the declaration, which was filed by Attorney James S. Getty.

James Turner, 801 Kentucky Avenue, who was riding in the McGregor car, was killed in the crash. The Harris truck was operated by Norman L. Western of Martinsburg, W. Va.

Also filed yesterday was a $500 suit and a $400 compromise settlement. The suit was filed for Susan I. Keyser, infant, by her parents, Eugene M. Keyser and Shirley Ann Keyser, 505½ North Centre Street. Defendants were Donald E. Smith trading as Triangle Motors, 110 Utah Avenue, and James G. VanMeter, 117 Bellevue Street.

In his declaration filed for the Keysers, Attorney Gorman E. Getty states that VanMeter, driving one of Smith's cars, struck the Keyser infant near the intersection of Centre and Valley streets. The compromise $400 settlement of the $500 suit was signed by Getty and W. Earle Cobey, attorney for the defendants.

Flood Control Data Presented To Ridgeley

A map showing properties the City of Cumberland must acquire in Ridgeley in connection with the Flood Protection project was presented to Ridgeley officials yesterday.

Mahoney Gets Campaign Under Way In County

Heller Will Head Temporary Committee

Charles F. Heller, 510 Cumberland Street, last night was named temporary chairman of the Allegany County "Mahoney for Governor" committee.

Joseph H. Griffin, South Cumberland; Joseph L. Nolan, Mt. Savage; Mrs. Margaret Smith and James H. Smith, Frostburg; Mrs. Rose Hafer, Cumberland, and Elmer E. Davis, also of Cumberland.

Campaign Opens

The committee was named at a kick-off campaign meeting held in the Fort Cumberland Hotel and attended by some 40 Democratic leaders of Allegany County.

The committee was named after Michael F. Prendergast, who has managed several Mahoney campaigns in Allegany County, reported he was physically unable to lead a strenuous campaign.

Mahoney predicted he would carry six of Baltimore City's districts, win in Baltimore, Talbot, Caroline, Dorchester, St. Mary's, Howard, Charles and Ann Arundel counties, and has a 50-50 chance in Carroll, Frederick and Montgomery counties.

In all, Mahoney predicted winning 110 of the 152 votes in the Democratic convention.

He said the verdict in Allegany County will depend upon the success of the committee's work.

Predicts Big Vote

Mahoney gave the delegation a personal invitation to visit him at the governor's mansion following the election. He said he would be a "free governor, a governor you can see without going through the politicians."

Dorsey said he felt Mahoney's vote will be the largest ever cast in Maryland.

Canal-Hiking Dog Returns Home In Station Wagon

SNYDERS LANDING, Md., Apr. 1 (AP)—A shepherd dog that accompanied the Douglas hiking party on the jaunt along the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal last week returned home in style yesterday.

Two Washington Park policemen returned the dog in a station wagon to its master, Ernest L. Mose.

Mose reported last week he had seen his dog on television, merrily hiking along with the Douglas delegation. The dog vanished at Seneca, Md., when the hikers jumped into cars and drove off to get something to eat.

Residents of this village guessed that Justice Douglas had something to do with the dog's return.

Allen To Head Local Moose

Paul W. Allen, LaVale, was elected governor of Lodge 271, Loyal Order of Moose, last night, succeeding C. Bernard Tasker, and Russell Minnicks, Greene Street, was elected junior governor. Both were unopposed.

Other officials selected at last night's election at the Moose Home on Beall Street were Raymond Smith, prelate; William Carroll, treasurer for one year; and two trustees. They are James Mulligan, elected to office for three years, and William F. Lewis, elected for a one-year term.

The alternate supreme lodge convention delegate is Tasker.

Installation of officers will be held April 15 at 8 p.m. at the Moose Home.

Sunday a class of 15 members will be initiated at the home at 2 p.m., honoring past governors of the lodge.

First Grader Registers

This scene was repeated hundreds of times yesterday as children who will enroll in the first grade of Allegany County public schools in September were registered in all 29 elementary schools. In the picture, Mrs. Emma Richards Young, first grade teacher at Virginia Avenue School, registers little Norney Willison, 19 West First Street, while the youngster's mother, Mrs. Marshall Willison, watches. Today school officials hope to get the pre-school registration completed between 3:30 and 5 p. m. Parents of children who will reach their sixth birthday on or before December 31, 1954, may be registered so they can enter school in September. Birth certificates must be submitted to verify the child's age, either today or at the time the child enters school in September.

Hancock Airman Killed In Auto Crash In Ohio

A Hancock airman was killed and another serviceman was seriously injured Wednesday night when their car rammed into the rear of a semi-tractor on U. S. Route 40 about three miles east of Jacksontown, near Newark, Ohio.

The fatally injured soldier was Walter R. Spade, 19, son of Leslie and Beatrice Truax Spade of RFD 1, Hancock.

He was traveling in a car driven by Craig A. McKay, 24, of Stroudsburg, Pa., who was taken to Newark City Hosptial, seriously hurt.

The Ohio State Highway Patrol said the two airmen were on their way to Columbus, Ohio, when the mishap occurred.

The Spade youth's family said last night the young airman had left Hancock Tuesday to travel to Columbus, where he intended to catch a plane ride to his home base, Sandia Air Force Base, Albuquerque, New Mexico. He had just completed a two-week furlough at the home of his parents, they said. He entered the service in 1951.

The driver of the car was reported to be stationed at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base near Dayton, police said.

Surviving besides the Spade boy's parents are five sisters, Mrs. Viola Weigle, Cherry Run, W. Va.; Mrs. Edna Mertz, Keedysville; Mrs. Georgia Dishong, Coatesville, Pa.; Misses Nancy and Phyllis Spade, both at home; three brothers, Bernard, of Hancock; and Arlie and Gerald, at home.

The body will be at the Grove Funeral Home in Hancock tomorrow. A funeral service will be held Sunday at Pleasant Grove Christian Church, Pleasant Grove, Pa., with Rev. A. V. Kesecker officiating. Interment will be in the church cemetery.

Graveside services also will be held by Webster Harrison Post 26, American Legion, of Hancock.

237 Applications Filed For New Liquor Licenses

Some 237 applications for various alcoholic beverage licenses which must be renewed for the new license year which starts May 1 have been filed with the Allegany County Board of License Commissioners.

Included are 115 applications for beer licenses only, 20 for beer and wine permits, 35 for club-type beer, wine and liquor licenses and 67 for other beer, wine and liquor permits.

Walter C. Capper, chairman of the Board of License Commissioners, announced some time ago that hearings on the applications will start Monday, April 26. First hearings will involve beer, wine and liquor licenses at 9:30 a. m. April 26. Beer and wine applications will be considered at 1:30 p. m. April 26. The beer license requests will be heard starting at 9:30 a. m. April 27.

200 Parents Will Attend Workshop

Sessions Planned At Mt. Savage

At least 200 Allegany County parents are expected to attend an all-day parent discussion group workshop from 10 a. m. until 3 p. m. Tuesday at Mt. Savage School, according to Homer S. Higgins, supervisor of pupil personnel in the county public schools.

Higgins said this will be by far the largest attendance at any program of this type held in the county in the past three years. This is the third year for the workshops, two of which are conducted each school year.

Dr. Ira Gordon, consultant of the Child Study Institute of the University of Maryland, will serve as consultant for the workshop here.

Virtually every school in the county is expected to be represented at Mt. Savage Tuesday. Gephart Elementary School, with an estimated 40, will be the best-represented institution.

Mrs. L. H. Shafferman of this city, state parent education chairman for the State PTA Council, has stimulated interest among parent education chairmen of all of the local PTAs in the county. The local PTA chairman in each case has worked with the principal in contacting parents interested in the workshop.

Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster will welcome the parents and commend them for their interest in discussing mutual problems.

"How Children Learn," will be the discussion topic during the morning session Tuesday from 10 o'clock until noon. Dr. Gordon will be in charge.

Between noon and 12:30 p. m. the group will see a movie entitled "Physical Aspects of the Adolescent." After lunch, Dr. Gordon will direct a discussion on the topic suggested by the film. The last session ends at 3 p. m.

203 Motorists Get New Tags Day Late

At least 203 motorists were "grounded" part of yesterday because they failed to get new Maryland automobile license tags before the midnight Wednesday deadline.

Tax Collector Ernest B. Treat reported that he sold 203 new automobile tags yesterday, the first days in which it was illegal to use the old plates. His office also sold 38 tags for use on privately-owned and operated trucks. Truck owners have until midnight Friday, April 30, in which to use their old tags.

Flow Of River Varies During Past Month

The daily flow of the North Branch of the Potomac River at Cumberland during March was 2,281 cubic feet per second or an average of 1,474,000 000 gallons per day, according to Robert M. Beall, engineer in charge of the local Geological Survey office.

This mean daily flow is 84 per cent of the 24-year average. The daily flow varied between 7,900 cubic feet per second on March 1, and 1,010 cubic feet per second on March 30. This is equivalent to 5,106,000,000 gallons on March 1 and 653,000,000 gallons on March 30.

Seasonal storage in Savage River Reservoir, Beall noted, caused an average decrease of 47,000,000 gallons per day or three per cent of the flow at Cumberland.

Average daily temperature for the month was 40.9, which is 0.2 degrees above normal.

Jaycees To Hear Talk On YMCA

James W. Bishop, president of Central YMCA, will be the principal speaker at the regular meeting of the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce at 6:30 p.m. next Wednesday at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

"Looking Forward" is the topic selected by Bishop, according to W. Earl Lowery, Jaycee program chairman. He will discuss the program of the YMCA in the community. Bishop knows the subject well because he has been affiliated with the "Y" since he was a boy and has worked his way up in the organization. This is his second term as president.

Eight new directors will be elected for two-year terms from a slate of 16 nominees.

President Raymond C. Dorn is expecting a good attendance next Wednesday, One reason is that the by-laws were amended last month so that a member who misses more than three successive meetings or is absent more than half of the meetings in the year will be suspended from membership.

Clinics Set Today

The Health Department will hold a child hygiene clinic today at 9:30 a. m. in Bowman's Addition and a chest clinic from 9 a. m. to noon in City Hall.

1954 Pre-School Screening Tests Open Next Week

Health Department Announces Schedule

Pre-school screening examinations, sponsored by the Health Department in cooperation with the Board of Education, will get under way next week in public and parochial schools of Allegany County.

Parents of children who are to enter school this fall will be asked to take their children either to their private physician or to the free screening examinations, which will be conducted by public health nurses with the help of first grade teachers.

The parents, according to Dr. Winter R. Frantz, health officer, will be asked to give a history of the child's illnesses and immunizations. Records will be kept for use during the child's school career.

Lay health workers are expected to assist in the inspections which reveal, in some cases, conditions which could seriously interfere with a child's progress in school.

To Refer Defects

Any defects found will be referred to the family physician or to a Health Department clinic for corrective measures.

Officials said it is desirable that the mother accompany the child, so she may talk with the public health nurse and teacher.

Vaccination against smallpox will be done at the sessions if the parent wishes. State law requires that all children be successfully vaccinated before entering school.

Immunization against diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus will be given in the first grade, unless children already have been immunized against the diseases.

"Shots" May Be Given

The triple immunizations are given in two injections in the fall. Booster shots are offered for those who have already been immunized.

Monday, April 5—Midland Parochial School, 9:30 a. m., and Midland Public School at 1:30 p. m., both at the Health Center.

The Weather

Cold weather, mixed with some rain and snow flurries, was the order of the day yesterday and Maryland orchardists took precautions last night against a severe drop in temperatures which might cause a freeze to budding trees. Although snow was prevalent in the western portion of the state, State Roads Commission officials said all highways were clear last night. Road crews cindered and salted the highways throughout the day. Yesterday's high was 45 degrees at Constitution Park while the low was down to 28. At 8 o'clock last evening the mercury registered 37 degrees and the humidity at 6 o'clock was 44 per cent. The Weather Bureau forecast an end to the current cold snap, however, predicting a warming trend beginning today with more spring-like temperatures continuing Sunday.

Ridgeley Citizens Offer Building For Industry

An offer of a 40-by-80 foot building, rent-free for one year, was made last night to any small industry seeking to locate in the vicinity of Ridgeley by the Ridgeley Rod and Gun Club at a meeting of the Tri-State Industrial Development Association.

The meeting last night was attended by 12 members of the organization and two new members joined the group at the Short Gap Fire Company hall. The new members are Jesse H. Valentine, contractor, and Albert Poling, store proprietor.

The group discussed the possibilities of raising funds to continue work in seeking new employment in the area and expressed the hope of later including education and entertainment fields in association's endeavors.

Unanimous approval of the plan to build the C & O Canal Parkway was voiced by the group at last night's meeting.

The next meeting of the organization will be held at Fort Ashby Volunteer Fire Company hall April 15 at 8 p. m.

Stock Market Again Moves Into High Ground For Year

NEW YORK, April 1 (AP) — The Stock Market advanced in a substantial manner today and for the second straight session moved into new high ground for the year.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks gained 80 cents at $117.80, highest level for the average since May 14 of 1930.

The market yesterday was strong with the Associated Press average up $1.20 at a new high. The rise was the biggest of the year.

At the close the aircrafts were off around a point at the outside, but the market as a whole was in excellent shape with gains running to between 1 and 3 points at the best.

Chemicals performed well, and also higher were the railroads, oils, steels, motors, coppers, air lines, mail order shares, and utilities.

The industrial component of the average went to a new high of $158.60, up $1.40 and the utility component also hit a new high of $58.90 up 20 cents. The railroads did fairly well with a gain of 50 cents at $84.80, but they are still under their best of the year. It was strength in the railroads yesterday that provided a major boost to the market.

The market was broader than usual with 1,194 individual issues traded of which 649 advances and 292 declined with 122 new highs and 7 new lows for the year registered.

Ridgeley Water Supply Line To Be Discussed

Larger Pipe Must Span Potomac

Plans for stringing a new water supply line across the Potomac River when the new Cumberland-Ridgeley bridge is constructed will be discussed by the Mayor and Council of Ridgeley next Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

Mayor W. D. Bidinger of Ridgeley yesterday afternoon said the problem of financing the project, which will cost up to $5,000, will be taken up at the meeting.

Mayor Bidinger, J. H. Simmons, town advisor, and W. L. Preaskorn, C. H. Fryer and Harry F. Kelso, town councilmen, yesterday conferred in City Hall with C. R. Nuzum, city engineer, and S. K. Carroll, city plumber, on the project.

City To Do Part

City officials informed the Ridgeley delegation that the Water Department will provide a new line running from Cherry Alley to the first abutment of the bridge, but that Ridgeley will have to pay the cost of extending the line the rest of the way.

There was an informal agreement that the new line should be of 10-inch diameter to provide better fire protection facilities and take care of expansion in the Ridgeley area.

There are two possibilities on the methods of laying the line, to have the Cumberland Water Department do the work and bill Ridgeley, or to have the bridge contractor do the work when the steel span is being erected.

Must Decide Soon

An early decision is necessary, the group agreed, since it will take several months to secure the needed pipe, and the steel for the bridge is to begin arriving here early in August.

Nuzum said the contractor expects to have the steel superstructure erected within six weeks after the steel is placed on the job.

At present, Ridgeley gets its water from Cumberland through an eight-inch cast iron pipe laid below the pavement of the old Blue Bridge. The Corps of Engineers plans to demolish the span as soon as the new interstate bridge is completed.

Mayor Bidinger declined to make an immediate commitment on the pipe line, saying it needed further study. The main question, he said, is:

"Where will you get the $5,000?"

Hughes Files For House Seat

George R. Hughes Jr., local attorney, yesterday filed officially as a candidate for the House of Delegates subject to the June 28 Republican primary election.

By filing with the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors his certificate and $25 fee along with his oath that he belongs to no subversive organization, Hughes became the eighth candidate officially in the GOP race for the six seats in the House of Delegates from this county.

Others who have filed include three of the incumbents, Charles M. See, Lester B. Reed and Fred B. Driscoll. See and Driscoll are Cumberlanders and Reed lives near Mt. Savage. Others in the race are Robert Lee Jeffrey, Lonaconing; Mrs. Margaret E. Spioch, this city; Harold B. Brooks, Narrows Park, and Alvin H. Rankin, Frostburg.

Two other Frostburgers, Walter J. Patterson and Noel Speir Cook, another incumbent, have announced they will run but have not filed.

Altogether there are 27 candidates in various county races and all of them are Republicans. Among them are five for the three positions as county commissioners, three incumbent Orphans Court judges, three for county treasurer, three for Republican State Central Committee, two for register of wills and the incumbent sheriff, clerk of Circuit Court and clerk to the county commissioners. Filing deadline is Monday, April 19.

Dental School Dean Will Speak Here

The Allegany-Garrett Dental Society will hold a dinner meeting Wednesday, April 7, at 6:30 p. m. in Ali Ghan County Club.

Dr. Myron Aisenberg, recently appointed dean of the Dental School of the University of Maryland, will be the principal speaker. He succeeded Dr. J. Ben Robinson, who retired.

Religious Sound Movies To Be Shown

Three 15-minute sound movies from the "Life of Christ" series will be shown in Living Stone Church of the Brethren Sunday at the 7:30 p. m. service.

Rev. Arthur Scrogum, pastor, said the public showing will include "Thirty Pieces of Silver," "The Upper Room," and "Betrayal in Gethsemane."

Soldier Returns

Pfc. Thomas R. Warnick, son of William T. Warnick, Shallmar, has returned to the United States from Europe where he served with the 18th Infantry Regiment.

James Turner, 801 Kentucky Avenue, who was riding in the McGregor car, was killed in the crash. The Harris truck was operated by Norman L. Western of Martinsburg, W. Va.

Mahoney Gets Campaign Under Way In County

Heller Will Head Temporary Committee

Charles F. Heller, 510 Cumberland Street, last night was named temporary chairman of the Allegany County "Mahoney for Governor" committee.

Joseph H. Griffin, South Cumberland; Joseph L. Nolan, Mt. Savage; Mrs. Margaret Smith and James H. Smith, Frostburg; Mrs. Rose Hafer, Cumberland, and Elmer E. Davis, also of Cumberland.

Campaign Opens

The committee was named at a kick-off campaign meeting held in the Fort Cumberland Hotel and attended by some 40 Democratic leaders of Allegany County.

The committee was named after Michael F. Prendergast, who has managed several Mahoney campaigns in Allegany County, reported he was physically unable to lead a strenuous campaign.

Mahoney predicted he would carry six of Baltimore City's districts, win in Baltimore, Talbot, Caroline, Dorchester, St. Mary's, Howard, Charles and Ann Arundel counties, and has a 50-50 chance in Carroll, Frederick and Montgomery counties.

In all, Mahoney predicted winning 110 of the 152 votes in the Democratic convention.

He said the verdict in Allegany County will depend upon the success of the committee's work.

Predicts Big Vote

Mahoney gave the delegation a personal invitation to visit him at the governor's mansion following the election. He said he would be a "free governor, a governor you can see without going through the politicians."

Dorsey said he felt Mahoney's vote will be the largest ever cast in Maryland.

Mahoney paid tribute to past efforts of his Allegany County supporters, saying, "This year you will be paid off."

The candidate expressed deep gratitude for the turnout at the meeting, which had less than 24 hours advance notice.

Canal-Hiking Dog Returns Home In Station Wagon

Flow Of River Varies During Past Month

The daily flow of the North Branch of the Potomac River at Cumberland during March was 2,281 cubic feet per second or an average of 1,474,000 000 gallons per day, according to Robert M. Beall, engineer in charge of the local Geological Survey office.

This mean daily flow is 84 per cent of the 24-year average. The daily flow varied between 7,900 cubic feet per second on March 1, and 1,010 cubic feet per second on March 30. This is equivalent to 5,106,000,000 gallons on March 1 and 653,000,000 gallons on March 30.

Seasonal storage in Savage River Reservoir, Beall noted, caused an average decrease of 47,000,000 gallons per day or three per cent of the flow at Cumberland.

Jaycees To Hear Talk On YMCA

James W. Bishop, president of Central YMCA, will be the principal speaker at the regular meeting of the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce at 6:30 p.m. next Wednesday at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

"Looking Forward" is the topic selected by Bishop, according to W. Earl Lowery, Jaycee program chairman. He will discuss the program of the YMCA in the community. Eight new directors will be elected for two-year terms from a slate of 16 nominees.

President Raymond C. Dorn is expecting a good attendance next Wednesday, One reason is that the by-laws were amended last month so that a member who misses more than three successive meetings or is absent more than half of the meetings in the year will be suspended from membership.

1954 Pre-School Screening Tests Open Next Week

Health Department Announces Schedule

Pre-school screening examinations, sponsored by the Health Department in cooperation with the Board of Education, will get under way next week in public and parochial schools of Allegany County.

Parents of children who are to enter school this fall will be asked to take their children either to their private physician or to the free screening examinations, which will be conducted by public health nurses with the help of first grade teachers.

The parents, according to Dr. Winter R. Frantz, health officer, will be asked to give a history of the child's illnesses and immunizations. Records will be kept for use during the child's school career.

Lay health workers are expected to assist in the inspections which reveal, in some cases, conditions which could seriously interfere with a child's progress in school.

To Refer Defects

Any defects found will be referred to the family physician or to a Health Department clinic for corrective measures.

Officials said it is desirable that the mother accompany the child, so she may talk with the public health nurse and teacher.

Vaccination against smallpox will be done at the sessions if the parent wishes. State law requires that all children be successfully vaccinated before entering school.

Immunization against diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus will be given in the first grade, unless children already have been immunized against the diseases.
